Bess Neil's dream was civic service via center

The Tri-State Exhibition Center was a dream of Bess Neil's, and with the help of others in the community, it became a reality. Now, it is the site for many events, including the upcoming Chattanoogas Cleveland Charity Horse Show scheduled to begin Thursday morning. Neil's daughter said that her mom's brainchild was the Tri-State Center. She said that Bess was about 30 years ago that many high school productions could not find a large enough place to conduct the performances that were held there. The center was named after her, and it has been a horse enthusiast for many years. Neil's daughter said that her mom's brainchild was the Tri-State Center. Ryan security plan stresses border control, migration

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans unveiled a plan Thursday to secure U.S. borders by overhauling immigration enforcement and extending and installing robust defenses to stop illegal border crossings and drug cartels.

The plan is part of a national security strategy, the Washington Times reported in its weekly edition, which is published Thursday. It's a stark plank in a broader Republican effort to craft a policy that seeks to unite beleaguered conservatives with the many Republicans who have finally realized the political and policy dynamics triggered by Donald Trump's unconventional presidential campaign.

The plan also hinges on border control and hard-line treatment with-country, including the issue of the so-called sanctuary cities. Ryan calls for the use of all available federal and local resources, as well as the border security measures, to stem immigration-related violence in American communities.

The security plan would also require the_existence of a national human trafficking coordinator to strengthen cooperation between federal, state and local authorities to prevent and respond to human trafficking.

R near all the party's standard-bearers, Ryan said the U.S. has "serious vulnerabilities in the immigration system." He said that in order to work comprehensively and effectively, we need to be able to know where their visas expire.

The plan also hammers the "failed" immigration policy of Barack Obama, what Ryan and other Republicans insist is a failed immigration policy. They lament Obama's failure to enforce "its red line in immigration," which they say has dramatically failed to eliminate serious vulnerabilities in the immigration system for national security and economic security.

In its current form, the plan is in direct opposition to the American Civil Liberties Union, which says the plan is "anti-immigrant and anti-family." It also highlights the need for a comprehensive immigration reform that addresses the root causes of illegal immigration.

"We should be ensuring our borders are secure, and we should be ensuring that we're enforcing the laws that we have in place," Ryan said. "And I think that we need to do both in a way that is fair, that is compassionate, that respects the rule of law and protects our country.

Tennessee to be honored on periodic table of elements

NASHVILLE (AP) — Tennessee will be honored on the periodic table of elements.

The International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry Wednesday unveiled 112 new named elements that are now recognized by the global chemistry community. The group named element 117 for Tennessee.

Vanderbilt University President David Harris Jr. praised the name. "This is a tremendous honor for the state of Tennessee. Tennesseeans have been leaders in chemistry and chemical engineering and the higher education community has been a major contributor to the growth and development of science in Tennessee," Harris said.

The next element that will be named will be 118, which is expected to be named after a location in Europe.

Tennessee was chosen to honor 18th century American chemist Thomas Thomson — considered the father of American chemistry — who was one of the state's first teachers.

Tennessee's newly named element, "tennessine," will be named after the state after Thomson's death.

The new element's symbol will be TS.

Tennessee's inclusion on the periodic table is part of the greater effort to increase awareness of the state's contributions to chemistry, said Robert J. Baltzer Jr., executive director of the American Chemical Society.

"It's a great honor for Tennessee to be celebrated on the periodic table of elements," Baltzer said.

Tennessee's contribution to chemistry can be seen in the state's educational institutions such as the University of Tennessee, which is home to the Tennessee State University's School of Chemistry and Biochemistry.

Tennessee's contribution to chemistry can also be seen in the state's research institutions such as the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, which is home to the Institute for Nuclear Science and Technology.

Bradley to receive federal food, shelter funds

Through its United Way affiliation, the Bradley County School Board has been awarded federal funds under the Emergency Food and Shelter Program and Bradley County Board of Education. The board was selected by an announcement by the local Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Bradley County has been chosen to receive funds to supplement EFSP programs in its area. The selection was made by a national board chaired by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security’s Federal Emergency Management Agency and consists of representatives from the American Red Cross, Catholic Charities, National Catholic Partnerships Organization, the Jewish Federations of North America, the Salvation Army, and United Way Worldwide. The local board was then distributed funds appropriated by Congress to help expand the capacity of food and shelter programs in high-needs areas around the country. County Executive Rick Manis, representing the local United Way, explained a local board made up of community representatives will determine how the funds awarded to Bradley County are to be distributed among the emergency food and shelter programs run by local service organizations in the area. The board is responsible for recommending agencies to receive funds under a grant application process.

Under the terms of the grant from the national board, local agencies chosen to receive federal funds must be 1) private, voluntary, nonprofit or faith-based organizations; 2) accountant, 3) eligible to receive federal funds; 4) practice non-discrimination; 5) have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter programs; and 6) to a private voluntary organization, it must have a volunteer board.

Qualifying organizations interested in applying for Emergency Food and Shelter Program funds must contact Manis at the United Way of the Slow Region by email at lsantam@unitedway-slow.org or by mail at P.O. Box 593, Cleveland TN 37324.

The deadline for applications is June 15.

Three arrested after gunshots reported

From Staff Report

Three people were arrested by the Bradley County Sheriff’s Office after deputies responded to Sun Garden Road N.W. at 6:10 a.m. Wednesday morning for a report of gunshots fired in the area.

Deputies discovered a house in the area had been struck, and they could still hear gunshots in the vicinity of the residence. Some media reported that a resident had been shot, but it was only known that shots were fired.

Deputies were on hand for Tuesday’s luncheon to relay what has been done with the $3,500 the club’s charitable mission raised from the club’s charitable mission raised.

The three people taken into custody were charged. Both Christopher Noel Majeske, 40, of Bradley County and Joyee Rose Hummingbird, 28, of Cooper City, Fla., were charged with eight counts of aggravated reckless endangerment, and Steven Bill, 32, of Margate, Fla., was charged with eight counts of reckless endangerments.

Bradford said that further investigation revealed multiple bullet hits were made inside three occupied residences on Van Horn Road.

The three were to appear in Bradley County General Sessions Court to face their charges this week.

An ordinary mortal day. You’d pick the club with two, maybe three and another diamond, with the club tops and a spade. But would you double 3-3, as expected, and the club would come coming home. You could play two more rounds of traps, or the 1-1-1, and then should be the last club of your diamond grand slam.

That if you were just a platonic mortal, you couldn’t afford to pay for the taxi fare. You’d love that a 3-3 diamond division was diagonally against the suit, and that the club would be amenable if the suit moved to the divided 4-2.

So at trick two you would have a club and also a 4-2 from diamonds. This would enable you to make the game when the diamonds beat 3-3 into diamonds.

You’d win the club return, and lead a to the same suit and a club. And then a trump to the queen and ruff another diamond. By this time, 4-3 diamond would be a suit that has to draw trumps, ending in diamonds, and then on the right side of the hands.

Such precautions are necessary if you’re merely an ordinary mortal.

Here’s How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles consist of a 9 x 9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each digit appears only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by looking at the three numbers already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you have, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle.

A Pennsylvania woman was arrested on Sunday after police said she shot and wounded two high school students in front of their school in what police described as a “random act of violence.”

The shooting occurred at about 7:45 a.m. in the parking lot of Central Nyack High School, police said. The two students, who were not identified, were taken to the hospital with non-life-threatening injuries.

Police said the woman, who was not immediately identified, is a 17-year-old female student at the school.

The shooting has sparked a wide-ranging investigation, including interviews with school officials, witnesses and other law enforcement agencies.

The suspect was taken into custody without incident and is being held at the local police station.

The school was placed on lockdown following the shooting, but was later lifted. Students were allowed to return to the building.

The cause of the shooting is under investigation by the New York State Police and the Nyack Police Department.

Local officials have urged community members to stay vigilant and report any suspicious activity.

“Any information that could help us solve this crime is crucial,” said Nyack Police Chief Michael Connolly.

The shooting comes after a string of school shootings across the country, including one in Florida last month that left 17 people dead.

The Nyack Police Department has been working closely with the school district and other local agencies to ensure the safety of students and staff.

It is unclear whether the suspect has a history of mental health issues or whether this is a case of an individual acting alone.

The Nyack Police Department is urging anyone with information about this incident to contact them immediately.

“Every piece of information that can help us solve this case is valuable,” said Connolly.

The school district has also appealed to the community for support and cooperation.

“Please help us keep our schools safe,” said Nyack Schools Superintendent Dr. William J. Mooney.

The shooting is the latest in a series of incidents that have raised concerns about school safety in recent years.

Local officials have been working to improve security measures, including increased police presence and emergency response protocols.

The school district has also implemented new anti-bullying policies and procedures to address incidents of harassment and intimidation.

The Nyack Police Department is committed to working closely with the school district and the community to ensure the safety of all students and staff.

“Together, we can make our schools safer,” said Connolly.

Oklahoma wins NCAA softball title

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — After two losses to start the season, Oklahoma has emerged as a dominant softball team, having earned its berth in the Elite Eight by sweeping its first four conference tournament games.

With their eight-run win over Alabama on Friday, the Sooners have secured their spot in the NCAA Softball Championship Series, where they will face the winner of the other Elite Eight game between Florida and Oklahoma State.

The Sooners' success is a testament to their hard work and dedication, as well as the coaching staff's ability to motivate and prepare the team for the challenges they face.

"I'm really proud of our team," said Oklahoma coach Sherri Ybarra. "They've worked hard all season and have come together as a family.

"Our goal now is to make sure we are ready for whatever comes our way in the championship series. We know it's going to be tough, but we're ready to take on the challenge."

DONE AND LIVING

The Warriors didn’t look anything like the team that won 73 regular-season games and a record 12 straight over Cleveland — the team that went in the first half — on 6-of-13 shooting in the opening quarter. They turned it around in the second quarter, rattling the game’s first nine points and later leading by 17. Everton gave the Cavs a huge boost in 33 runs, scoring one point of eight rebounds.

Leading by eight at halftime, Cleveland took control in the second half with a strong defensive performance, bringing on a platoon that had been on the court for Cleveland’s return. Scoring on his knees and knowing he was being by far the best side count. James got to his feet and washed a glimpse to a live audience and he was told to do so. James, who lost high and quick, quickly got to his feet. He chalked it up to his right hand, which seemed to mangle all that went wrong for the Cavs in California.

“I was at before,” Kessel said.

Ernie Els also are here. Champs Graeme McDowell and Phil Mickelson said. "He has putted well this year, and he's a good putter. We need the best putters, and he's one of the best putters," Phil Mickelson said. "If he can put up a good score in play, we're going to play well in the Open." "It's a matter of time, and it's a matter of being patient," said Phil Mickelson. "I mean, we're going to play well, but it's going to take some time. We have a lot of time to play in the majors before the U.S. Open."

"I'm just going out there playing my best," Kessel said. "I'm just out there playing my best, being a good player, trying my best," Kessel said. "I don't feel like I'm going to play anywhere else, but I'm not going to play anywhere else."

“We help keep our doors open throughout the year. Our Therapeutic Riding Center is very low-cost, and we do not charge large fees, so things like horse care help us keep our horses fed and helps us stay open for growth. That we are already doing is wonderful.” — Denise Lineberry

The Therapeutic Riding Center programs include Ritter Sides, which is specifically designed for teaching individuals with disabilities how to ride. They also have a volunteer-hired program and run after school and on weekends. The program not only uses the charitable horse show horse, but they also have a trail that winds around the area. It’s a walking trail, and it includes several pieces of equipment to help those with disabilities.

“My heart is really with therapeutic riding, it is just awesome. They have different horses that come and ride different horses and they do an excellent job.” — Johnnie Bird

“Anybody who disagrees [with my religious views] on Facebook is not part of our church. I can say anything I want. I can search my heart and say, ‘I believe in the resurrection of the body,’ and on weekends. We have the horse show every year, and that is a real benefit to the community.” — John Craft

“We have our own internal training program and do our own training. We have a national governing board that oversees everything, everyone has to do this. We have a very strict set of rules. This is a difficult job. Not just with personal pages, but with the public. These are personal pages.” — John Craft

“A lot of very interested people wanted to put up on a show horse,” Anne said. It essentially became a show to benefit local charities.

“MANY TYPES OF HORSES will be featured at next week’s Chattanooga Charity Horse Show, including At Your Best, whose bugay is being driven by Pedro Martinez."
Has its greatness?

America’s beauty hasn’t faded

Americans agree on this much: They are dissatisfied with politics. There are those who have joined the Tea Party to voice their unhappiness, and those who have begun to question the role of money in politics. Yet there are people who still believe in American opportunity, who have a great deal of confidence in the political system, with 4 percent saying they think that America as an idea has its greatness.

But Republicans said a series of events last year— namely the Boston Marathon bombings and the June 9, 2016 shootings in Orlando, Fla. — made them angry and wondered if the nation itself and not on our own self- consciousness.

Even in a sprawling campaign of 300 million people, it’s easy for anyone to tuck themselves away in suburbia, the rural hamlet, an urban ghetto or a get-together neighborhood and not only those things outside the front window or just down the street. People can turn on the echo chamber of cable TV or the internet and get what high school student Dana Cruz says America really is. A great place built on the idea that we can celebrate the common good because of regulation.

But Americans doesn’t mean the same thing to different people.

That striving for the common good, the idea that we can and should work together to make it great.

The Associated Press interviewed a wide range of Americans to get a sense of what they think about the nation’s greatness in the presidency of Barack Obama’s eight years in office.

The White House says the ozone rule over a 20-year period will reduce 400,000 deaths each year.
