The Mansions at Alpharetta Hosts Grand Opening and Military Ball

(November 29, 2017, Alpharetta, GA) Officials from the city of Alpharetta, local business owners, current and future residents and honored military veterans celebrated the grand opening of The Mansions at Alpharetta Assisted Living and Memory Support communities November 15th at their new building at 3675 Old Milton Parkway.

More than 200 people took part in the festivities, which included a ribbon cutting by the Chamber of Commerce, military ball, a live music and 1930's radio show by the performance group Random Acts, an opportunity to send a personal note to an armed services member, tours, food, beverages and remarks from the management team at The Mansions.

"We are a family-owned company and the staff and I are looking forward to welcoming our residents to their new home," said Amy Davis, for The Mansions.

Leasing continues on the 50 assisted living and 40 memory support apartments in the community, which features large, easy to navigate floor plans, luxurious social areas, spacious storage, granite countertops and cozy dining areas. Additional offerings at the community include an optimal wellness program provided free of charge to residents by FOX Rehabilitation, ability-level activities, secure green areas, chef-prepared meals, transportation and more.

Mansions Senior Living owns six senior living communities in Oklahoma and Georgia and The Mansions at Alpharetta is the company's fifth community.
