

Summer 2026 – Public Events

Celebrate Attleboro this summer by joining our fun outdoor events. For a happier hike, bring a water bottle and wear comfortable walking shoes, hat, and insect repellent.

All events are FREE — no registration required.

Beholding the Beauty of Trees with horticulturist Phil Boucher

Saturday, July 25, 2026
9:00 to 10:30 AM
(rain date July 26 at 1:30 PM)

Richardson Preserve
577B Wilmarth Street, Attleboro

Have you ever wondered about the trees in your neighborhood—their names, how fast they grow, and whether they are native to New England? Join horticulturalist Phil Boucher on a walk through the 63-acre Richardson Preserve as he points out native trees, some invasive species, and unique specimens planted years ago by former resident Deborah Richardson.

Nature Walk through the Lawrence Wildlife Preserve with local naturalist Gary Krofta

Saturday, August 15, 2026
9:00 to 10:30 AM
(rain date August 16 at 1:30 PM)

Lawrence Preserve
45 Hope Avenue, Attleboro

Tucked away off Newport Avenue (Route 123) in South Attleboro is this 48-acre property, which features pristine open marsh along the Seven Mile River. Join naturalist Gary Krofta to explore this preserve, home to red-winged blackbirds, cattails, and a variety of colorful late summer wildflowers.

Note: Street parking is available along Hope Avenue, but please do not block driveways or mailboxes.

Introduction to Birdwatching

with JR Johnson-Roehr

Saturday, September 19, 2026

7:30 to 9:00 AM

(rain date September 20, same time)

Richardson Preserve

577B Wilmarth Street, Attleboro

Have you ever wondered what kinds of birds make the sounds you hear in your backyard, or what species you see at your birdfeeder? ALT Board member and birder JR Johnson-Roehr will show you how to spot native birds and migratory species on their autumn travels as a step toward birdwatching on your own.

Note: For the best viewing, bring binoculars if you have them.
