Views from the Watershed bus tour: Explore the landscape, history, and politics of the New York City water supply in the Catskills! NYC's water supply has shaped the Catskills' landscape and economy for more than a century. These two places, 100+ miles apart, are connected by water and by a very complicated relationship. If you drink NYC water, live or spend time in the Catskills, these watershed stories are worth knowing. Half-day bus tours on August 7th and 21st visit scenic places around the Ashokan Reservoir. A full-day tour on August 20th visits the Ashokan and Pepacton reservoirs and resonant places in between. Bus tours are led by educator and artist Lize Mogel with special guests including Catskills historians, water managers, naturalists, and others. Participants on past tours called the experience "mind-blowing," "wonderful and informative" and "riveting"! Views from the Watershed bus tours provide a fascinating, intimate, and Catskills-centric perspective on the physical and social infrastructure that makes NYC's water system possible. 5 Ways to Be More Sustainable This Summer

(StatePoint) You don't have to be a sustainability expert to incorporate elements of eco-friendly living into your everyday routine. This summer, think about the small changes you can make that can add up to make a bigger difference.

- Store Sustainably: Single-use plastics are difficult to avoid when protecting fragile household items or delicate holiday décor. Cut down on plastic cushioning and packing foam usage by incorporating Flourish Brand Honeycomb Cushion Wrap to cover and safely store your breakable and fragile items. The interlocking structure is easy to stretch and secures to itself without any tape needed.
- Give Green: It's often difficult to find the perfect presents for housewarming gatherings, family holidays and hostess gifts. Spread some sustainable love by gifting a plant to that hard-to-buy-for friend or neighbor, or even give something green as a surprise for someone special.
- Environmentally Friendly Connection: Sending a package to a distant loved one is a delightful way to brighten someone's day, but unfortunately many mailers feature excess plastic wrapping or aren't made of earth-friendly materials. Ship sustainably by choosing an eco-friendly option like Flourish Honeycomb Recyclable Mailers. These mailers feature 100% recyclable material packaging and include a die-cut honeycomb layer to create space and cushioning that helps protect items during shipment, without using unnecessary plastic. Additionally, they can easily be tossed into the recycling bin after use.
- Make Small Changes: Living sustainably can sound intimidating at first. Like any shift in habit though, changing behavior may take a while to stick, but small, consistent adjustments will mean the most over time, especially when it comes to everyday things like reducing your use of single-use plastics, and switching to reusable shopping bags and food containers. Take things one small step at a time. For example, commit to recycling one additional item each day.
- Enjoy the Outside: Being active is always easier on warm, sunny days. Take advantage of summer weather to reduce your personal carbon footprint and get some healthy exercise! Find ways to do this by walking or biking instead of taking a car to the store. If you need to travel a longer distance, opt for public transport or carpool instead.
