For the Holidays

With over 30 shops and 20 eateries, Woodstock in Ulster County is a great option for a day of shopping, especially during the holiday season. Some popular stops include:

The Tea Shop

7 Maple Lane, Woodstock,
Wednesday–Sunday 11 a.m.–5 p.m.

Stop by The Tea Shop to grab something for the tea-lover on your list. The shop carries every type of tea you can think of along with mugs, infusers, sweeteners and more.

Candlestock

16 Mill Hill Road, Woodstock,
every day 10 a.m.–7 p.m.

Candlestock offers a wide variety of candles from classic tealights to novelty shapes and detailed designs. Candlestock is also known for the infamous “Candle Mountain” that is prominently displayed in the center of the store.

Crafts People

262 Spillway Road, West Hurley,
Saturday, Sunday 10:30 a.m.–6 p.m.

Crafts People would have been the perfect one-stop shop for everyone on your list, but with over 500 artists contributing to its stock it had to be spread across two buildings. Because everything is handmade, each piece is different from the next, making it a great place to shop for that person who has everything.

Tinker Toys

5 Mill Hill Road, Woodstock,
Friday, Monday 11 a.m.–5 p.m.,
Saturday 11 a.m.–6 p.m.

This eccentric toy store is packed with unique gifts for children young and old. Browse classic games, new toys and unusual finds in an ever-changing collection.

Bread Alone Bakery

Café and bakery at 22 Mill Hill Road,
Woodstock, open 7 a.m.–5 p.m. daily.

For the Bookworm

If you are looking for a book-lover's paradise, look no further than Hobart in Delaware County — aptly nicknamed the "book village."

Creative Corner Books

607 Main Street, Hobart,
11 a.m.–5 p.m. weekends; daily from
Memorial Day to Columbus Day

This shop specializes in cooking, crafting and DIY books, but you can also find handmade gifts by local artisans.

Adam's Antiquarian Books

608 Main Street, Hobart,
11 a.m.–5 p.m. weekends; daily from
Memorial Day to Columbus Day

With three floors of bookshelves, this is the ultimate one-stop bookshop. The owners are always happy to offer you a cup of tea while you shop the wide array of genres.

(Left) Photo from Blenheim Hill Books Facebook

New York Books & Ephemera

615 Main Street, Hobart,
11 a.m.–5 p.m. weekends; daily from
Memorial Day to Columbus Day

Staying true to its name, you can find a variety of books relating to New York including history, geography, biographies, local authors and more at this stop. Along with local books you can find local farm products and handmade goods.

Liberty Rock Books

678 Main Street, Hobart, 10 a.m.–
5 p.m. weekends; daily from
Memorial Day to Columbus Day

Along with the collection of used and new books, this shop also doubles as an art and collectors gallery. Here you can find rare book finds as well as a collection of jazz records and CDs and 40,000 vintage New York postcards.

Blenheim Hill Books

698 Main St., Hobart,
11 a.m.–5 p.m. weekends; daily from
Memorial Day to Columbus Day
The collection found in this shop has been curated by the owners to reflect their individual interests including poetry and history, women's studies, children's and young adult books, and gardening and cooking guides.

Lion Eyes Books

722 Main St., Hobart,
11 a.m.–5 p.m. weekends; daily from
Memorial Day to Columbus Day

Find collections of art, philosophy, psychology and spiritual books at Lion Eyes Books. Discover new lesser-known writers or rediscover some classics.

More Good Books

645 Main Street, Hobart,
11 a.m.–5 p.m. weekends; daily from
Memorial Day to Columbus Day.

One of the newer shops in the book village, this store specializes in books on railroads, ships and boats, automobiles, games and sports, hobbies and pets.

Once you stock your bookshelf in the village, explore some shops and eateries in the area:

The Sheep's Nest

Shop at 45 Main Street, Hobart, open
Thursday–Saturday 10 a.m.–5 p.m.

The Coffee Pot

Lodging - WITH A TWIST! To Airbnb or not to Airbnb?

Renovated rentals - former firehouse, church, caboose transformed to getaways

By Alyshia Korba

---

Following a rise in tourism during the COVID-19 pandemic, short term rental properties have sprung up throughout the Catskills. Rural towns, abundant in the area, rarely have hotels, and short term rental properties found on sites like Airbnb or Vrbo have filled the niche.

Many people visit the Catskills to immerse themselves in the serenity of the mountains, and one of the best ways to do that is to book a stay at a working farm, a secluded cabin or maybe a “glamping” tent in the woods.

While short term rentals are a great option for visitors, their rise in popularity has caused concerns among residents in those destinations. A major concern has been the effect on the housing market. The availability of affordable housing may suffer as a result of people buying up properties to rent on short term rental platforms or from former long term rental landlords shifting to a short term rental business. One study from researchers at Carnegie Mellon University showed that communities with Airbnb properties experience a slight decrease in the number of long-term rental properties available.

One of the benefits of living in the Catskills is the peaceful atmosphere - something residents value. An influx of visitors has some residents and municipalities worried about noisy parties, littering, overcrowding and crime.

There are also many benefits to these properties, especially for the local economy. Short term rentals open up new towns and villages for visitors that previously did not have lodging available. Along with financially benefiting the property owners, guests help support local businesses. Also, landlords are not the only ones who profit from their property — cleaning services, property managers and real estate photographers have also begun to take advantage of this growing industry by marketing their services to lodging owners.

Some localities have implemented local laws regarding short term rental properties to regulate the industry and ensure safety for both renters and residents. Shandaken in Ulster County has created a local law requiring lodging facilities to acquire an operating license which involves an inspection and consultation with neighbors. The law prohibits lodging facilities from hosting gatherings of more than 20 people, sets a two-person limit on each bedroom and limits the number of rentals owned by non-residents to 150. Other municipalities like the village of Stamford, town of Kingston, town of Jewett, the town of Athens, and others, have proposed similar laws or are in the process of doing so.

One of the major draws for people to stay in a short term rental property as opposed to a traditional hotel is the unique experiences available. Lucas Hoeffel, owner of Rise Again Glamping, started his glamp site to allow others to experience camping in the Catskills without sacrificing modern conveniences.

“We help bridge that gap — we give people this ease into the forest without having to be too far from creature comforts.”

Rise Again Glamping is a lakefront campsite for two people in Woodridge, Sullivan County. The site features a 16-foot canvas bell tent with heat and a queen-size bed. With these amenities, the property offers guests a luxury camping experience all year long.

Another option for people who are not quite ready to brave a New York winter from a tent but still want to feel close to nature is a farmhouse or cabin. Home-grown Farmstead in Delhi, Delaware County, has a shared farmhouse and private studio apartment available for rent near the top of Bramley Mountain. Its 25 acres are filled with trails and creeks to explore, and in the warmer months you can take advantage of the berry patches and fruit tree orchards on the property.

In Accord, Ulster County, you can find Mr. Ed's Cabin which allows three guests to stay on a 27-acre horse farm. The farm houses horses, chickens, rabbits, dogs, cats and other animals, and invites visitors to bring their dogs, cats or horses as well. The trails throughout the property are ideal for snowshoeing or cross country skiing in the winter.

The Catskills also offer plenty of opportunities to stay in renovated historic buildings, like a former firehouse in Co-leskill, Schoharie County. The four-person apartment is located in the upstairs portion of a 1930 building that was once a firehouse, a police department and a jail. These days, the lower part of the building is home to Bells & Whistles Nutrition, a health food store.

For an especially unique experience, you can stay in a restored 1922 train caboose in Windham, Greene County. The Cozy Caboose is a two-person rental located in the heart of Windham within walking distance of several businesses and shares the property with a movie theater.

Another historic option is Mc-Bride's Heavenly Getaway in Arkville, Delaware County. This 4-bedroom rental is located in a restored Methodist church built in 1892. Along with the beautiful stained-glass windows, the site contains antiques like an old chair-lift from Belleayre Mountain.

The Dharma Dome in Rochester, Ulster County, offers another kind of spiritual stay for two people. The home is located next to a pond and features an outdoor shower, firepit and hammocks. The real highlight, however, is the geodesic dome with its 20-foot ceiling and natural lighting.

People who are considering renting a property in the Catskills can take several measures to ensure a quality experience for all parties and to help mitigate the potential effects on local economies: Be considerate of neighbors and the land; support local businesses during your stay; educate yourself on local laws especially regarding parking, gatherings and noise limits; and respect the rules put in place by the property owner.

In and around Phoenicia

By Mary A. Crisafulli

Many people travel to the Catskills and land in well-known areas - near top-rated resorts, ski lodges, or lakefront inns. A bit off the beaten path is Phoenicia, a small hamlet built for the outdoor enthusiast or dog lover.

The neighborhood, in the town of Shandaken, is tucked along Esopus Creek - which flows south into the Ashokan Reservoir - and borders over 47,000 acres of wilderness.

Just 20 minutes up the road from Woodstock, Phoenicia has little cell service and lots of trees. For an adventurous group, it's the perfect weekend expedition.

Nestled beside the Slide Mountain Wilderness area with 35 miles of trails there are several beautiful sights that fall foliage and open winter views will enhance. Hiking and camping are available year-round and most trails are dog friendly.

The wilderness area is named for its most popular hiking trails on Slide Mountain. There are two trails to its 4,180 foot summit, making it the tallest mountain in the Catskills. The 9.75-mile loop, Burroughs Range Trail, is considered challenging, with 3,620 feet of elevation gain, the trail traverses three peaks: Wittenberg, Cornell, and Slide mountains. A more direct route to Slide starts at Oliverea Road South parking area for a total of 5.4 miles round trip. Hikers will follow the Phoenicia East Branch Trail to its juncture with Burroughs Range. Slide Mountain is a popular hike and is a required hike for membership in the Catskill 3500 Club.

For those looking for seclusion, Giant Ledge is a must. The ledges have two ascending trails, both moderately difficult.

Fox Hollow Trail, accessed from Woodland Valley campground, is approximately 6.8 miles round trip. Another trail, that starts at Oliverea Road South parking area, is 3.2 miles in and out. Both routes meet the Giant Ledge-Panther Mountain trail. The trail is rock-lined, some strategically placed as stepping stones in steep areas. Those rocks can make the hike difficult in spots and scaling is called for. However, the path is considered great for snowshoeing, along certain portions, as it is open year-round.

Dogs are welcome off-leash making it a fun experience for four-legged friends. Fresh water is available from a spring just off the trail about halfway up - marked by signs.

At the top of Giant Ledge, narrow paths weave around the summit leading to several secluded views. On a crisp winter's day, hikers may find themselves in a snow globe featuring a rock cliff that lines the edge of the mountain and a view of the rolling Catskill Mountains. Its complete seclusion with hidden overlooks makes it one of the most unique hikes in New York.

A local hiker - while at the summit - said the views are some of the best in the area. "This hike is better than Slide," he said. Social media has put this gem on the map for weekend travelers, the hiker explained, which is why weekdays are the best time to use the trail.

In the winter, he added, the leafless views are spectacular.

While vistas are expanded in the winter, the feeling of seclusion remains with trail-adjacent evergreens.

A challenging portion of the Giant Ledge trail where use of hands might be required.

Camping is permitted at the summit of Giant Ledge. There are 24 primitive campsites and three lean-tos in Slide Mountain Wilderness area. Campers are permitted to pitch a tent in any location as long as it's 150 feet away from the nearest road, trail, or body of water.

If looking for a place to stay with more accommodations the Phoenicia Black Bear Campground has RV and tent sites along Esopus Creek. The campground is pet friendly.

Those searching for a more restful environment after the day's happenings can visit the Phoenician Belle Bed & Breakfast. The establishment features breakfast following a stay in one of their restored Victorian-style rooms. Another local hotel is The Graham & Co. at the foot of Hunter Mountain with some trail heads nearby. The lodging is resort-like offering a swimming pool, hammocks, a badminton court, a fire pit, picnic areas, and bikes to explore with.

Phoenicia makes for a great day trip. The Phoenicia Diner is a local favorite serving breakfast all day from Thursday to Tuesday. If doing some shopping on Main Street, Sweet Sue's Phoenicia is another breakfast spot right in the heart of Phoenicia. For dog lovers, Brio's and Sportsman's Alamo Cantina are the places to go. Their outdoor areas welcome dogs. Visitors should not be fooled; the two eateries are actually one. Food and drinks can be ordered at Brio's, a number is given, and the food delivered to the table. Dining is very casual and family-friendly.

Phoenicia's lack of traditional hotels and commercial attractions make it a fantastic place to escape and explore nature.

Sullivan County

Bashakill Vineyards: As Sullivan County's first farm winery, opened in 2005, Bashakill Vineyards quickly became a must-stop in Sullivan County. All estate grapes are grown organically, using fertilizer made from grape pressings. All wine is crafted on-site, including rosé, Chardonnay, semi-sweet whites, and rich Cabernet Franc reds, with local craft beers on tap as well. If neither wine nor beer piques interest, Bashakill Vineyards also offers cocktails made from locally distilled spirits, fresh fruits and herbs, and craft mixers. The vineyard is located in Wurstboro, along the Bashakill Wetlands. Hours: Friday, 2-7 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, 12-6 p.m., with live music starting at 2 p.m. Dog, hiker, and gluten-free friendly. 845-888-5858, 1131 S Road, Wurtsboro.

Callicoon Brewing Company: Located in the sleepy hamlet of Callicoon in the newly renovated Olympia Hotel, the brewpub overlooks the Delaware River where visitors can pop in, sip on the many local craft beer and ciders available on tap, and enjoy the view. Callicoon Brewery is known for their incredible Rueben sandwiches; visitors are encouraged to pair their drink of choice with something from the kitchen. Hours: 12-11 p.m., seven days a week. 845-887-5500, 15 Upper Main Street, Callicoon.

Roscoe Beer Company: Located in what was once a firehouse, Roscoe Beer Co. quickly put themselves on the map as a top Sullivan County brewery. A group of Roscoe locals took their passion for craft beer, combined with their deep-rooted passion for their hometown, and created the well-known brewing company it is today. Trout Town American Amber Ale was the first brew produced, in April 2013. Since then, the company produced 11 additional brews available at their main location, 145 Rockland Rd, Roscoe. Open for service Thursdays 12-6 p.m., Fridays 12-9 p.m., Saturdays 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., Sundays 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Mondays 12-6 p.m.

Catskill Brewery: Since 2014, the owners of Catskill Brewery have served "honest, hardworking beer" made using pure Catskill Mountain water, brewed in a 5,000 square foot, single-story steel structure dedicated to brewing beer the clean way. The stunning taproom and beer garden are open Sunday noon to 7 p.m., Monday, Wednesday and Thursday 3 to 7 p.m., Friday 1 to 8 p.m., and Saturday noon to 8 p.m., giving visitors plenty of opportunities to taste their 10 on-tap beers, including IPAs, farmhouse ales and lagers, updated often so there is always something new to try. Visit the beautiful Catskill Brewery, 62 Old Route 17, Livingston Manor.

Otsego County

Brewery Ommegang: Brewery Ommegang opened in 1997 with Ommegang Abbey Dubbel, an 8.5% traditional Trappist-style dark ale. Since their soft introduction to the Catskills, the ambitious brewery has opened a visitor center, kicked off an annual series of summer concerts held at a natural amphitheater, and expanded to accommodate a 20-tap bar, 10-tap tasting room, enlarged café and kitchen, covered patio and expanded store. From brews to ciders, there is something delicious for everyone's taste buds at Ommegang Brewery. The brewery is open Sunday, 10:15 a.m. to 5 p.m., Thursday 12 to 6 p.m., Friday and Saturday 12 to 9 p.m. Visit the dedicated staff at 656 County Hwy 33, Cooperstown.

Delaware County

Awestruck Ciders: As a team of young, passionate cider-crafters, Awestruck Ciders is one of Delaware County's favorite success stories. The co-founding pair, Patti Wilcox and Casey Vitti, now operate a two-location brewery, with their main location at 8 Winkler Road, Sidney, and their Awestruck Mill at 34 Howell Street, Walton. The brewery offers a variety of fruity ciders on tap, ready to free-flow and tickle your taste buds, including a dry apple and oak cider, and a community favorite, a refreshing hibiscus ginger rosé cider. Visit the lively team at either location Thursday-Saturday, 3 p.m. to 10 p.m., and Sunday 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Greene County

The Vineyard at Windham: As one of the few operating wineries in the Catskill region, The Vineyard at Windham opened their taproom to bridge the gap between local wine connoisseurs and the best rated wines, including their own and from the most well-known regions in New York state; Hudson Valley, the Finger Lakes and the North and South Forks of Long Island. The Vineyard's menu features a collection of wines from Rieslings and rosés, to Merlots and Cabernets, to be enjoyed while taking in the natural, lush beauty of the Catskill Mountains. The Vineyard is open Friday-Sunday, 12 p.m. to 7 p.m.; make a reservation and treat your taste buds at 11 Mt. View Estates Road, Windham.
