A Literary Tour of Catskills' Bookstores

Imagine stepping into a bookstore where the air smells of aged paper, the shelves sag with untold stories, and each corner feels like a cozy secret waiting to be uncovered. Welcome to the Catskills, where some of the most charming, quirky, and downright magical bookstores are hiding in plain sight. From cozy cottages packed with rare finds to rustic shops filled with local literature and hidden gems, the bookshops of the region offer more than just pages—they offer a sense of place, a connection to history, and the thrill of discovery. One thing is certain: these bookstores aren't just about selling books — they're about creating an experience. So, grab your reading glasses and join us as we explore some of the best literary havens in the Catskills — where the only thing better than the books is the journey to get there.

The Village That Reads Together

In Hobart, bookstores are a way of life. On the edge of Delaware County farmland, there's a Main Street that smells of old paper and strong tea. It doesn't bustle. It beckons. This is Hobart, a postage-stamp-sized village with fewer than 500 residents — and six independent bookstores. In 2025, the Hobart Book Village is not just still standing in the age of digital everything. It's thriving.

Welcome to New York's most literary hamlet, where books are currency, conversation, and community.

A Reading Room in the Mountains

There are no stoplights in Hobart. There is no chain café, no sleek coworking hub. What there is: floor-to-ceiling bookshelves, creaky wood floors, and the sense that time moves at a slower, more deliberate pace here.

It all started in 2005, when a handful of booksellers envisioned something unusual — a town of shops centered around the printed page. Today, that idea has matured into a cultural ecosystem. Throughout the year, bibliophiles from across the Northeast make the pilgrimage for browsing weekends, author talks, and hands-on events like cookbook tastings and embroidery workshops.

A Landmark of Literary Lore

On the corner of Main Street and history stands William H. Adams' Antiquarian Books, a multi-story trove of tomes printed before 1850 — along with rarities and local-interest finds that stretch the imagination.

Here you'll find a first edition of Milton or a treatise on Roman aqueducts. One floor up, a tea tray rests beside a stack of hand-stitched poetry chapbooks. The shop specializes in Greece, Rome, Renaissance art, Judaica, and regional nature guides — but also, simply, in the joy of discovering something you didn't know you were looking for. (Tip: Ask for the handwritten inventory.)

Down the Street, a Slow Browse

Just a short walk away, Blenheim Hill Books welcomes browsers. This cozy shop offers shelves upon shelves of biographies, women's studies, LGBT literature, gardening guides, and photography monographs. Think of it as a slow browse with a side of tea and transatlantic wit. The store's back room occasionally hosts intimate readings and poetry circles. You'll often leave not just with a book, but with a conversation still echoing in your head.

Cooking, Crafting, and Community

If Hobart had a kitchen table, it would be Creative Corner Books. This specialty shop combines culinary history with craft culture, offering everything from antique rolling pins to Japanese cookbooks to knitting kits for kids.

It's also the most hands-on of the village's offerings: Creative Corner regularly hosts sewing classes, bookbinding demos, and tastings tied to new cookbooks. During the summer's Hobart Farmers Market, they hand out home-made samples and family-friendly recipes.

Early Bird Gets the Book

Early risers are rewarded at Liberty Rock Books, which opens its doors at 10 a.m. for eager browsers. Housed in a sprawling 5,000-square-foot building, the shop is divided into a main retail space, an art gallery, and a lively consignment room where multiple vendors offer books and curiosities for all ages. Known as broad generalists with deep specialty collections, Liberty Rock's shelves are packed with used and rare titles gathered over more than 45 years. Highlights include an impressive selection of 19th- and 20th-century children's books, art volumes, science fiction, and religious works.

Frequent new acquisitions ensure that even regular visitors always have something new to discover.

Eclectic Ephemera

Open Friday through Monday, NY Books & Ephemera specializes in all things New York. The shop offers a rich variety of new, used, and vintage books focused on the Empire State, alongside an eclectic collection of vintage ephemera.

A section of the store, "Made in New York," showcases the region's creative spirit with locally produced food products — including jams, honey, and maple treats — and handmade gifts such as jewelry, knitwear, kitchen linens, and tote bags crafted by area artisans.

Beyond the Shelves

The village's literary life spills outdoors with spring sales and events, a women writers festival in June and book clubs that gather at various locations. And when the sun sets over the western Catskills, lighting the storefronts in a warm hush, it's clear: Hobart isn't a tourist trap or a marketing gimmick. It's a love letter to literature, written slowly, in longhand.

How to Visit: Hobart is located off Route 10 in Delaware County, just over three hours from New York City. Most shops are open Friday through Sunday, with extended hours during festival weekends. Lodging options range from restored inns to quiet farmstays.

Pro tip: Bring an extra bag. You'll need it. hobartbookvillage.com

WINGS OF PEACE:

Following the Sullivan Catskills Dove Trail

In Sullivan County, peace and art have taken permanent flight. Fifty vibrant, larger-than-life dove sculptures dot the landscape, creating a colorful trail that commemorated the 50th anniversary of the legendary 1969 Woodstock Festival.

The Sullivan Catskills Dove Trail is more than a tribute — it's a living, breathing celebration of a moment that reshaped American culture. Spread across the villages, towns, and landmark tourism sites of the Catskills, each dove sculpture is hand-painted by a professional local artist, uniquely interpreting the spirit of peace, music, and freedom that defined that unforgettable August weekend.

Visitors who embark on the Dove Trail find themselves winding through the hamlets of Bethel, Narrowsburg, Livingston Manor, and Monticello — among others — each dove acting as both a waypoint and a work of public art. Some designs evoke the psychedelic swirl of a festival poster; others pay homage to the musicians, activists, and dreamers who once gathered here.

The trail mirrors the eclectic soul of the Catskills themselves: a region where creativity flourishes against a backdrop of rivers, forests, and wide-open skies. And while the famous festival grounds at Bethel Woods remain a major draw — now home to a museum and a thriving performance center — the Dove Trail encourages exploration beyond the expected.

One of the many doves located along Sullivan County's Dove Trail.

Sullivan County's Dove Trail isn't just a nod to the past. It's an invitation to slow down, take a breath, and savor the artistry, small-town charm, and enduring spirit that still pulse through these hills. Whether you're a seasoned festival veteran or a first-time visitor discovering Woodstock's legacy anew, following the doves offers a colorful, unforgettable way to experience the Catskills' creative heart.

HAMDEN'S 2025 BICENTENNIAL

A Living History, Celebrating Community and Heritage

In the summer of 2025, the town of Hamden will step back in time to celebrate a milestone like no other: its Bicentennial. This Delaware County-centric town will mark 200 years since its founding, and the festivities promise to be a lively, heartfelt tribute to both its past and present. Whether you're a history lover, a nature enthusiast, or simply in search of a quintessential small-town experience, Hamden's Bicentennial celebration offers something for everyone. From vintage baseball games to historical tours, this is a weekend you won't want to miss.

A Town of Rich History and Enduring Charm

Hamden's story began in 1825, when it was officially formed from parts of the towns of Delhi and Walton. The town's name was adopted a year later, and since then, it has grown from a rural settlement to a beloved Catskills destination. Known for its strong ties to early American baseball — the first-ever mention of a baseball game in a U.S. newspaper appeared in the Delhi Gazette in 1825 — Hamden offers more than just stunning views of the Catskill Mountains. It's a place where history is still alive and thriving.

Hamden Covered Bridge

This summer, Hamden will celebrate its Bicentennial on July 12-13, 2025, and the events will reflect the town's storied past, from its founding to its baseball legacy.

CELEBRATE HAMDEN'S BICENTENNIAL: Events You Can't Miss

Vintage Baseball: A Nod to the Past

Baseball fans and history buffs alike will appreciate the return of vintage baseball. Games on July 12 and 13, hosted at multiple locations including Crawford Field, Launt Hollow Road, and Edward B. Chance Field, will showcase the timeless sport with a historical twist. Admission is free, so bring your family and enjoy this unique piece of Hamden's legacy.

Bicentennial Parade: A March Through Time

On July 12 at 11 a.m., the streets of Hamden will come alive with color and sound. The Bicentennial parade will feature marching bands, vintage cars, floats, and local groups, all coming together to celebrate 200 years of community spirit. Whether you're waving a flag from the sidelines or marching along, it's a lively way to experience the heart of Hamden.

5K Covered Bridge Walk/Run: A Scenic Route Through History

On July 13, lace up your sneakers for the 5K Covered Bridge Walk/Run, which starts at the iconic Hamden Covered Bridge. The route will guide you through historic Hamden and nearby DeLancey, offering breathtaking views of the Delaware River and the surrounding countryside. It's the perfect way to combine fitness and history while soaking in the town's natural beauty.

Experience the Community Spirit

At the heart of Hamden's Bicentennial celebration lies the town's deep sense of community. Local traditions will take center stage, with opportunities to engage with artisans, farmers, and chefs who call Hamden home. The town will host a market on July 12 from 1 to 6 p.m. at the Hamden Town Hall, where visitors can sample local produce, purchase handmade goods, and immerse themselves in the region's rich agricultural history.

For a truly local experience, sit down for a meal at one of Hamden's rustic eateries, where farm-to-table meals showcase the freshest seasonal ingredients. Food trucks will also be on-hand.

Explore Hamden's Natural Beauty

While the Bicentennial celebrations will undoubtedly draw crowds, Hamden is also a serene destination for those seeking peace and natural beauty. Situated at the foot of the Catskills, Hamden offers easy access to hiking trails, scenic views, and the tranquil West Branch of the Delaware River. Whether you're hiking, fishing, kayaking or simply relaxing by the river, the surrounding landscapes offer the perfect backdrop for reflection and rejuvenation.

With its blend of historical events, community spirit, and breathtaking natural beauty, Hamden offers visitors a rare opportunity to step into the past while connecting with the present.

Whether you're visiting for a weekend getaway or planning to participate in the Bicentennial festivities, Hamden is a town that invites you to explore, celebrate, and create memories that will last a lifetime.

Founded by "two gents restoring a 217-year-old farmhouse in Upstate New York," Black Walnut Mercantile is one part artisan homewares showroom and shop, and one part hip, but relaxed cocktail lounge. The space is housed in what was once the grand lobby of the Delaware House Hotel. It's clear the gents have put incredible thought and care in to every detail in the space, peeling back the decades to reveal tin ceilings, original woodwork and beautiful oak floors, recreating a gorgeous new space full of historic charm. Stop by to say 'hi' to get a taste of their special brand of hospitality (plus tasty cocktails and snacks) and browse the beautiful collection of artisan made homewares.

Hosted by Kris and Shawn, the gentlemen at the heart of The Farmhouse Project, this is an opportunity to pair community and cuisine in a very special way. Tailored to passionate food lovers, Terrain & Table is a feast for the senses and the spirit. # History in Full Bloom

A Daytrip Through Schoharie's Living Past

Tucked in a quiet valley between the northern Catskills and the Mohawk River, the village of Schoharie offers a rare invitation: walk its streets and you walk through time.

In this upstate hamlet, the past is not merely remembered — it's performed, preserved, and proudly shared. A weekend in Schoharie offers travelers a chance to explore pre-Revolutionary forts, restored railroad cars, and heirloom gardens, all within a few square miles.

Begin your journey at the 1743 Palatine House, the oldest building in Schoharie County. This former minister's residence is now a living history museum run by the Schoharie Colonial Heritage Association. Visitors are invited to picnic beside a natural spring that still bubbles from a stone ledge, stroll through a certified nature garden, and visit the nearby cemetery, where some of the region's earliest settlers lie at rest. The museum opens weekends from Memorial Day through Columbus Day, noon to 5 p.m.

Just a short walk away on Depot Street, the Schoharie Railroad Museum tells the story of a different era. Housed at the site of the old Middleburgh and Schoharie Railroad, it displays two original 1890s boxcars and a lovingly restored 1917 wooden caboose. A detailed scale model recreates the bustling line as it once connected villages and towns in the early 20th century. The museum is open Saturdays and Sundays from noon to 4 p.m.

For a deeper dive into the region's Revolutionary War roots, the Old Stone Fort Museum Complex on Fort Road is essential. Originally built as a Dutch Reformed Church in 1772, the stone building was fortified in 1777 and attacked three years later by loyalist forces led by Sir John Johnson and Mohawk Captain Joseph Brant. A cannonball hole still mars the building's cornice — a quiet but powerful testament to the violence of that day.

Today, the museum complex includes 19th-century homes, barns, a one-room schoolhouse

Ward Oliver schoolhouse, moved to the Old Stone Fort Museum from its original location between Summit and Charlotteville where it served as a common school for about 80 years.

High Dutch (German) Reformed Church, Old Stone Fort.

from 1863, and the longstanding Schoharie County Historical Society, which celebrates 130 years of operation this year. The fort and surrounding museum are open May through October, Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sundays noon to 5 p.m.

Schoharie's agricultural roots also run deep. The Guernsey Nursery, founded in 1889 and still family-owned, was once a pioneer in propagating Cortland apples in partnership with Cornell University. The nursery today offers thousands of varieties of trees and shrubs, along with landscaping services, maintaining its legacy as one of the region's horticultural cornerstones.

Cap your visit with a meal at The Apple Barrel Country Store, a perennial favorite voted best restaurant in the county five years running. Open daily for lunch and weekend dinners, the café serves hearty salads, sandwiches, soups, and house-made desserts in a setting as warm and inviting as its menu.

Whether you're a history buff, a rail enthusiast, or simply in search of a peaceful place to picnic, Schoharie offers a small-town escape steeped in stories — where the past is never far from the present.

Chasing Waterfalls

YOUR ULTIMATE GUIDE TO HIDDEN CASCADES IN THE WESTERN CATSKILLS

This summer, skip the crowded beaches and head north to the Catskills, where a network of waterfalls — from Insta-famous cascades to secret local favorites — is ready for your next adventure. Whether you're solo, partnered, or traveling with the whole crew, there's a trail (and a swimming hole) waiting for you.

Here's your waterfall-hopping road-map through Sullivan, Ulster, Greene, and Delaware counties — plus insider tips, directions, and where to grab a bite nearby.

Sullivan County: Splash and Chill

1. High Falls, Mullett Falls and Denton Falls, Neversink Gorge, Location: Near Rock Hill

Why Go: It's not just a waterfall, it's an experience. High Falls is part of the 5,000-acre Neversink Unique Area — and getting there involves a moderate, shady hike perfect for kids and dogs.

Trail Info: About 4 miles, moderate difficulty.

Directions: Park at the Katrina Falls Road trailhead. Discover this 8.6-mile loop trail near Rock Hill. Generally considered a moderately challenging route. This is a popular trail for birding, hiking, and running, but you can still enjoy some solitude during quieter times of day. The best times to visit this trail are April through October. Dogs are welcome, but must be on a leash. Park in the lot and head in on the wide dirt path at the far end of the lot with a car gate. Follow the blue blazes the whole way, taking the yellow foot trails down to the river along the way. Once you hit the end of the blue blazes, turn around and come the same way back until you hit the red blazes off to the right to finish the loop.

2. Buttermilk Falls, Location: Town of Lumberland

Why Go: Easy access (literally steps from the parking lot) and a dramatic 46-foot plunge make this a favorite for families. Pack a picnic and plan a chill afternoon.

Directions: From Route 97, turn onto Buttermilk Falls Road and follow signs.

More Info: Visit Sullivan Catskills.

Ulster County: Big Views, Bigger Vibes

3. Awosting Falls (Minnewaska State Park Preserve), Location: Kerhonkson

Why Go: One of the most iconic waterfalls in New York — and the entire park is drop-dead gorgeous. A paved, easy 1-mile walk leads you to a 60-foot waterfall framed by dramatic cliffs.

Trail Info: Kid- and stroller-friendly. Entry Fee: $10 per car.

Directions: Minnewaska's main entrance off Route 44/55.

Plan Your Visit: parks.ny.gov

4. Stony Kill Falls (Hidden Gem), Location: Near Minnewaska, but way less crowded.

Insider Tips for Waterfall-Hopping the Catskills

- Pack sneakers or trail shoes — even the “easy” ones can get slippery.
- Bring a swimsuit — some spots (like High Falls) have natural pools.
- Hit the trails early — parking fills fast, especially on weekends.
- Check websites for seasonal closures — heavy rains and icy conditions sometimes limit access.
- Leave no trace — take only photos, leave only footprints.

Ready to hit the trail? The Catskills' waterfalls are calling — and they're even better in person. Just don't forget your waterproof phone case.

Margaretville Turns 150

Small-Town Spirit and Mountain Majesty Endure

MARGARETVILLE — Tucked into a green bowl of mountains along the East Branch of the Delaware River, the village of Margaretville turns 150 years old in 2025 — and if you listen closely, you can almost hear the echoes of horse hooves and the clang of the old railroad mingling with today's relaxed hum of visitors.

Founded in 1875 after the arrival of the Ulster and Delaware Railroad, Margaretville quickly blossomed from farmland to a bustling hub for travelers, dairy farmers, and local merchants. It grew up alongside America's great railroad age — and though trains no longer run here, the spirit of exploration remains.

This summer, the village will celebrate its sesquicentennial with a calendar of events: parades, live mu-

Parade on Main Street, Margaretville

The Cauliflower Festival is a favorite traditions in Margaretville, held annually in September sic, exhibits and other special events illuminating the soft outlines of the Catskills. But the real magic of Margaretville lies in how little it has changed — still quietly offering mountain air, slow afternoons, and a warm welcome.

A Walk Through Time

Begin your visit along Main Street, where the past and present weave together easily. Stroll past handsome brick storefronts dating to the late 1800s, many lovingly restored after the floods of Hurricane Irene in 2011.

The Historical Society of Middletown, Cemetery Road, is a must-stop for anyone curious about the town's railroad past, its agricultural roots, or the hotels that once made the Catskills the "playground of New York."

Where to Eat and Drink

Margaretville's dining scene is unpretentious but thoughtfully curated. At Binnekill Tavern, housed in a century-old building, the menu nods to Catskills' heritage with dishes like trout almonidine and braised short ribs. Sit by the stone fireplace in cooler

Margaretville Fire Department also hosts their annual Field Days over the Fourth of July weekend, a fun filled carnival complete with giant firework shows months or on the porch overlooking the river in summer.

Exploring Middletown's Surroundings

No trip to Margaretville is complete without getting into the hills.

- Hike the short but steep climb up Dry Brook Ridge for sweeping views.
- Paddle the placid waters of the Pepacton Reservoir (permit required).
- Bike the flat, scenic Catskill Scenic Trail, built atop a former railbed stretching through farmland and forest.
- In Arkville, the Delaware & Ulster Railroad — newly revitalized — now offers scenic train rides east toward Fleischmanns, retracing part of the original rail route that put Margaretville on the map 150 years ago.

Why 150 Years Matters

In an era when many mountain towns have been reshaped by short-term rentals and fast tourism, Margaretville stands out for something quieter: a sense of permanence. It's not just the architecture or the anniversary bunting on the lampposts. It's the familiar way shopkeepers greet visitors, the patience in the pace of a summer afternoon, the still-wild backdrop of the Catskill peaks.

Margaretville's 150 years have left it polished not by progress, but by enduring character. This summer, that's worth celebrating — and savoring.

The main celebration will be on Saturday, July 26th, with a block dance, vintage cars, food vendors, and a community portrait. There will also be a history presentation on Sunday, July 13th at the Middletown History Center.

ROLLING BACK TIME

Scenic Train Journeys in the Catskills

In the quiet hamlet of Arkville, the whistle of a locomotive signals more than a departure — it marks the return of a Catskills classic. After a pandemic pause and years of behind-the-scenes restoration, the Delaware & Ulster Railroad (DURR) is back on track, inviting travelers to rediscover the mountains by rail.

This spring, the heritage line resumes passenger excursions with a reopening mid-May, unveiling a new chapter in a storied legacy. For the first time in a generation, the train will head east from Arkville toward Fleischmanns, along a route not ridden by passengers in over 25 years. The 45-minute round trip winds past woodlands, creeks, and the craggy rise of the Catskill escarpment — a slow ride through a landscape where history and nature converge.

“This stretch is one of the most beautiful and least traveled,” said Todd Pascarella, executive director of the Catskill Revitalization Corporation, which operates the train. “We’re bringing it back to life.”

With $2 million in infrastructure upgrades and a new operations partner at the helm, the DURR is positioned to expand offerings year-round, eventually including holiday trains and themed excursions. For now, visitors can expect the nostalgic charm of vintage locomotives and open-air viewing cars — and a front-row seat to a region reborn through rail.

As the DURR returns to service, it offers more than just a ride — it offers a rare passage through time. In these Catskills counties, the tracks still echo with stories: of boomtowns and boarding houses, of milk trains and moonlit journeys.

“Railroads were the veins of the Catskills,” Pascarella said. “This isn’t just about nostalgia. It’s about reconnecting to the soul of the place.”

For tickets and schedules, visit www.durr.org

Delaware County: Rails and Rivers

Home to the DURR’s headquarters and most of its 45-mile corridor, Delaware County is the beating heart of Catskills rail travel. In addition to boarding in Arkville, visitors can explore the nearby hamlet of Roxbury, once a favorite Catskills stop for the Gilded Age elite. Hike the Catskill Scenic Trail — a rail trail converted from the old right-of-way — or visit the John Burroughs Woodchuck Lodge for a literary detour.

Ulster County:

The View from Highmount

Just over the county line, the line’s eastern terminus lies at Highmount, a historic rail lunion once used by guests heading to the famed Grand Hotel. Today, nearby Belleayre Mountain draws hikers in summer and skiers in winter. Future DURR expansions may revive this segment, connecting once more to Ulster’s rail-rich heritage.

The Catskill Thunder Gondola at Belleayre Mountain is open for scenic rides during the summer months. The gondola provides a fun and accessible way to reach the mountain summit and enjoy breathtaking views of the Catskill Forest Preserve.

Greene County: Steam Dreams and Mountain Scenes

Though not on the DURR line, Greene County’s Mountain Top Historical Society (mths.org) and the Kaaterskill Rail Trail (catskillsvisitor-center.org/trail/kaaterskill-rail-trail) preserve the spirit of the Catskills’ rail heyday. The former Ulster & Delaware corridor once carried passengers to grand resorts like the Catskill Mountain House. In nearby Hunter, chairlift rides and mountaintop views await, offering a lofty counterpoint to the valley’s rail excursions.

Otsego County:

Rails, Tales, and Americana

In Cooperstown, rail meets baseball, with the Cooperstown & Charlotte Valley Railroad (www.lrhs.com) offering seasonal rides through pastoral landscapes. Families can board a vintage train and visit the Railroad Museum, part of the Leatherstocking Railway Historical Society. It’s a fitting complement to a visit to the National Baseball Hall of Fame (baseballhall.org) — where legends of the diamond meet the rhythm of the rails.

Schoharie County: Past Meets Present on the Platform

Schoharie’s Railroad Museum, in the village of the same name, features original 19th-century rolling stock and a detailed scale model of the old Middleburgh and Schoharie Railroad (143 Depot Lane, Schoharie). Visitors can explore a preserved depot and imagine the age when locomotives stitched together rural towns. Pair the visit with a tour of the Old Stone Fort Museum for a full immersion in Revolutionary and industrial history.
