NEWBURGH AND NEW WINDSOR

State sues firefighting foam makers

BY SHANTAL RILEY
sriley@tcnewspapers.com

New York State is suing the manufacturers of PFOA and PFOS-containing firefighting foam responsible for the contamination of public drinking-water supplies, including the City of Newburgh's. The lawsuit, filed in Albany Supreme Court on June 19, alleges firefighting foam caused widespread contamination resulting in unsafe drinking water for thousands of people across the state.

The lawsuit points to contamination at military bases and civilian airports in Southampton, Plattsburgh, Rome, New Windsor and Newburgh, where the Stewart Air National Guard Base was declared a state Superfund site in 2016.

"The conduct of these manufacturers caused widespread contamination of our drinking water and our environment – and jeopardized the health of tens of thousands of New Yorkers," Attorney General Barbara Underwood said in a statement last Wednesday. "My office will hold these companies accountable for endangering the health of New Yorkers, including forcing them to fully repay the state for cleaning up the toxic mess they created."

Named in the lawsuit are firefighting foam manufacturers 3M Company, Tyco Fire Products, Chemguard, Buckeye Fire Equipment, National Foam and Kidde-Fenwal, Inc. The state alleges the companies "designed, manufactured, marketed, and sold aqueous film-forming foam and related products (AFFF) that were discharged into the environment at or from sites throughout New York."

The state seeks to recover at least $38 million in costs associated with cleaning up environmental contamination caused by the foam. The state has carried out extensive cleanups in and around contaminated sites, including Stewart International Airport and Stewart ANGB, which state testing proved to be the source of drinking-water contamination within the City of Newburgh drinking

Another hat in the ring

Ralph Coates joins race for 104th Assembly seat

sriley@tcnewspapers.com

Director of the Liberty Partnerships Program at SUNY Orange, Ralph Coates has thrown his hat in the race for the seat in the 104th District of the New York State Assembly. Coates faces at least two opponents in the Democratic primary election in September. "I have a passion for working in the heart of communities," said Coates when asked why he decided to run.

If elected to the job, Coates said he would work to enact education reform, protect women's rights and expand voting opportunities. "It should not be difficult to vote in New York State," said Coates, who supports early voting, same-day voter registration and online voter registration. "I believe in protecting women's rights," he said, including a woman's right to an abortion.

Coates also supports criminal-justice reform. "We have way too many non-violent offenders in prison," he said. Coates said he supports drug -treatment

Healing mission

Newburgh Free Academy group visits Cambodia

By WAYNE A. HALL

Determined to heal Newburgh's long history of violence and neglect, ten chaperoned Newburgh Free Academy students left June 15 on a fact-finding trip to Cambodia to absorb how that country is recovering from a genocide that killed an estimated two and a half million Cambodians from 1975 to 1979, according to Yale University's Cambodia Genocide study.

"Our project involves studying recovery and healing from trauma in Newburgh and Cambodia," says NFA trip participant Christina Martinez, 17 just before she and her classmates left Newark Liberty International Airport June 23 for a 18-hour 10-minute flight of 8,734 miles to Phnom Penh, Cambodia.

One of the first steps in Cambodia's past for these students who speak of changing their world, is the infamous Cambodian prison where torture was daily, food scarce, and almost no medical attention was given to prisoners.

Before they died many were tortured beyond human endurance.

In Cambodia the Newburgh students are also visiting killing fields such as Choeung Ek an orchard now memorialized near the country's capital as a mass grave site for thousands of Cambodians.

"This is such an amazing opportunity for each of us," she added, "and we can't wait to meet everyone over there."

Before they left Newburgh, the NFA excelsior Academy students were already learning about the horrors they would find in Cambodia's genocide.

"We watched a movie called, 'First They killed my father,'" a chilling torture story said Martinez.

Back in Newburgh plans are being made for a public memorial to the systemic violence that racked Newburgh for decades, creating an urban horror.

"We want to create in Newburgh some kind of memorial to the city's past and for all the people trying to change that past,"

A delegation of Newburgh Free Academy students and staff recently returned from Cambodia.

"Our goal for going to Cambodia is to learn how community spaces can serve as a place for healing. As they have in Cambodia," says senior Iggy Salim."

"And traveling will give us opportunity to not only explore a different culture but we get to see exactly how these places of healing work and how we can replicate a similar idea in our hometown of Newburgh" says Salim.

Newburgh is struggling to heal "the effects of much generational trauma from cycles of poverty, systemic oppression and acts of violent crime," says the flier for the Cambodia trip.

Raising money for the trip depended partly on parents of trip goers like the Martinez family and also donations from Newburgh Kiwanis and others.

"My father helped me sell raffle tickets and took part in Newburgh Illuminated festival where we sold handmade jewelry" says Martinez. "My parents have been very supportive." The cost to students was $2,500 each.

Plans are already being made by these young people for a Newburgh memorial to Newburgh's long history of violence, drugs, poverty and crime.

Students chosen for this trip were winners in a writing contest about why they were interested in going and what they expected to find.

Global to Local is an award winning global service learning program in the Newburgh Enlarged City School District and provides students with the opportunity to travel to foreign countries to "expand their world views and learn how particular communities deal with needs and then use the knowledge and skills gained during travel to act as project managers for community impact projects" such as the memorial being planned for Newburgh to mark its history of high crime rates, poverty, neglect and infrastructure decay and stop and go public funding.

Says Martinez, "I hope to come back home and use everything I learned to make people, especially the youths know that even though they are living many miles from other countries what they do here in Newburgh affects the world. I am so lucky to be part of this."

After seeing the memorials in Cambodia and the healing being done there, NFA students returned to Newburgh to get behind a planned memorial that is to stand for Newburgh's losses to crime and poverty. They've already got a memorial designer in mind.

Habitat Newburgh receives Rockefeller Christmas Tree

sriley@tcnewspapers.com

The Rockefeller Christmas Tree found its way, once again, to the City of Newburgh and into a home dedicated to a Habitat for Humanity family. "I feel extremely blessed," said Lakisha Atkins, who will be moving into a new home with her family around Christmas time.

Two years ago, Atkins lost her husband to a violent crime. Now raising Lakisha Atkins and her daughters Mia Johnson, 14, and La'Maya Atkins, 9, stand in front of their soon-to-be home, now being rehabilitated on Johnston Street by Habitat for Humanity of Greater Newburgh.

her children on her own, she described the house being rehabilitated at 25 Johnston Street as a gift from God. When completed, the home will own parts of the Rockefeller Center Christmas Tree, milled and delivered to Habitat for Humanity of Greater Newburgh earlier this month.

It was Habitat's Volunteer Build Day last week, and volunteers were busily working inside the building, soon to become a two-and-a-half-bathroom, six-bedroom home. A pile of the Norway Spruce was being cut to size on the front lawn.

According to the Habitat Newburgh website, the 75-foot tree came from State College, Pennsylvania. "This gift is not only extremely meaningful to the homebuyer family, but the honor of receiving this lumber for the third consecutive year shines a spotlight on Habitat Newburgh's work in this community," said Habitat Newburgh Executive Director Cathy Collins in a June press release. "The joy and hope that the Rockefeller Center Christmas tree represents is definitely present in the neighborhood where the lumber has been built into five Habitat homes."

This is the 11th year that the Rockefeller Center Christmas tree has been donated to a Habitat for Humanity organization by Rockefeller Center owners Tishman Speyer.

Habitat Newburgh is dedicated to eliminating substandard housing locally and worldwide through constructing, rehabilitating, preserving homes, and providing training and access to resources to help families improve their shelter conditions. The local non-profit was founded in 1999, with a vision to revitalize Newburgh's neighborhoods and make affordable, quality housing available to low-income families, who help to build the homes alongside volunteers.

New Windsor receives $330,420 grant for cemetery

The Town of New Windsor has received a $330,420 grant from the New York State Department of State Division of Cemeteries for headstone repair at the town owned Woodlawn Cemetery. This substantial grant will fully fund the repair of over 450 monuments that are dilapidated or in a state of disrepair.

Last April the town took over ownership of Woodlawn Cemetery, which is located in the heart of the town, from a private cemetery association that had failed financially. Since that time the town has invested in bringing the cemetery standards back up and working to make substantial improvements. This $330,420 grant is the first in what is hoped to be several grant funded projects.

The work on the headstone project is slated to begin this summer and will be completed within 90 days.

"New Windsor is proud to be restoring Woodlawn Cemetery to pay proper respects to those who are buried in these hallowed grounds," Town Supervisor George Green said. "This is a major grant for us to receive and will ensure each and every headstone in need of repair will receive it. I would like to thank Chief-of-Staff Colin Schmitt for spearheading this entire effort and working to make sure New Windsor Woodlawn Cemetery is a place of dignity and respect for all."

Chief-of-Staff Colin Schmitt stated, "We would like to thank the Division of Cemeteries for authorizing us for such a substantial grant award. New Windsor Woodlawn Cemetery is an active 74 acre cemetery. Our cemetery is a place of dignity and respect for those who have passed on.

New York State sues firefighting foam makers

"By taking necessary legal action against these companies, we are sending a clear message that we will do everything in our power to protect New Yorkers," Governor Andrew Cuomo said in the joint statement last week.

Health effects cited

Perfluorooctane sulfonate (PFOS), perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA) and other perfluorinated chemicals are prized for their resistance to heat, stains, oil and water. The chemicals were phased out of production in the U.S. in the early 2000s. They were used to make carpets, detergents, clothing, non-stick coatings and cookware, in addition to firefighting foam (AFFF).

"AFFF is a product that has been used to extinguish fires involving fuel or other flammable liquids, including aviation fires and fires in aircraft hangars extinguished with automatic fire suppression systems; to train firefighters; and to test firefighting equipment," the complaint states.

The complaint goes on to detail the health risks associated with exposure to PFOS and PFOA. "Human exposure to PFOA is associated with an increased risk of kidney and testicular cancer, ulcerative colitis, and other conditions," it reads. "Human exposure to PFOA and PFOS is associated with an increased risk of immune system effects, changes in liver enzymes and thyroid hormones, low birthweight and other adverse health conditions."

The complaint describes the chemicals as "significant threats to public health and the environment," due to being "persistent" and slow to break down in the environment, "bioaccumulative and biomagnifying, meaning that they tend to accumulate in organisms and up the food chain; and toxic, meaning that they pose serious health risks to humans and animals."

According to a study by the federal Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry released earlier this month, these chemicals – also referred to as "perfluoroalkyls" – are slow to leave the human body. In the study, ATSDR estimates the human half-life for PFOA to be 8 years and 5.4 years for PFOS.

The report stated that, in 2017, the International Agency for Research on Cancer "concluded that PFOA is possibly carcinogenic to humans" and, in 2016, the EPA found "suggestive evidence of the carcinogenic potential of PFOA and PFOS in humans. Increases in testicular and kidney cancer have been observed in highly exposed humans," the report reads on page six.

When they knew

Another troubling aspect of the case involves the state's claim that companies "knew or should have known that in its intended and/or common use, AFFF containing PFOA/S would very likely injure and/or threaten public health and the environment."

Indeed, the state points out that, in 2006, 3M agreed to pay a penalty of more than $1.5 million to the EPA for "failure to disclose studies regarding PFOA/S and other per fluoroalkyl substances dating back decades" to the 1970s. "Neither 3M nor... the other defendants, complied with their obligations to notify EPA about the 'substantial risk of injury to health or the environment' posed by their AFFF products containing PFOA/S," the complaint alleges.

"Only through our own diligence do we now know that the very products used decades ago to promote public safety, contained chemicals that pose a threat to public health," Department of Health Commissioner Dr. Howard Zucker commented last week.

Riverkeeper President Paul Gallay applauded the legal action, citing the City of Newburgh as an example of where the contamination has taken a serious toll. "This city of nearly 30,000 people has been exposed through polluted drinking water, and people are advised to eat no fish from several creeks," he said, shortly after the announcement. "Fundamentally, polluters will keep polluting unless they are forced to bear the consequences."

The lawsuit follows a class-action lawsuit filed on behalf of dozens of area residents which also names 3M Company and Tyco Fire Products as responsible parties causing exposure, possible adverse health effects and damage to property.

Editor's Note: Mid Hudson Times Publisher Carl Aiello is among the plaintiffs in a class-action suit filed on behalf of residents exposed to the chemical PFOS.

programs and other "proactive measures" to help people addicted to opioids and other drugs to keep out of prison.

He spoke at length about education. "As a former school board president, I have a lot of knowledge in this area," said Coates, who was president of the Poughkeepsie Board of Education from 2012 to 2017.

"We need equity in school funding," he said. "The way the system is set up in terms of percentages and what districts receive in funding isn't fair. I don't believe that Scarsdale and Chappaqua should be receiving the same funding as Newburgh and Poughkeepsie. They have a larger tax base."

"Poughkeepsie and Newburgh are urban cities," he added, grappling with problems such as crime and poverty, with a smaller tax base than many communities.

"Approximately 75 percent of the Poughkeepsie school district funding comes from the state," said Coates, who testified on behalf of the school district in the "Small Cities" lawsuit, in which students and parents in eight school districts, including Newburgh, claimed the state violated students' rights by not providing adequate funding for a sound, basic education. "There needs to be equity across the board," he said.

Coates promised to "fight for the district," the same as Frank Skartados, who passed away in April, leaving the seat open after serving more than four terms in office.

In a press release put out this month, Coates pledged to continue Skartados' work, fighting for jobs, criminal justice reform, and opioid addiction treatment and prevention, among other initiatives, and to advocate for increased services and funding in the communities he served.

"I will make sure every community in this district is given the attention it deserves, whether it's as large as Newburgh or small as the Town of Lloyd," he said. "It will be my responsibility to make sure those needs are met and services are being provided."

Coates served on the City of Poughkeepsie Common Council from 2010 to 2011 and currently serves as a trustee for Dutchess County BOCES. Previous to working for SUNY Orange, he worked for 17 years as coordinator for Marist College's Upward Bound program.

Pine Bush School Board approves security, technology upgrade

By LAURA FITZGERALD
lfitz@tcnewspapers.com

The Pine Bush school board approved phase three of the Smart Schools Bond Act, approving funding for security and technology equipment in the school district.

The Smart Schools act, passed in Nov 2014, authorized the issuance of $2 billion in bonds to finance projects that bolster public schools' technology and security systems. Pine Bush school district was allocated $5.05 million, which it's currently rolling out in five $1 million phases over five years.

"Overall, it adds to the strengthening of our bandwidth for our wireless network in-house and it allows us to bring about a number of safety and security enhancements," Superintendent Tim O. Mains said.

Phase Three will complete work that was eliminated in Phase One due to being over budget. This includes wiring closet work at Circleville Middle School (CVMS), new exterior cameras at the high school and CVMS, new Public Address (PA) systems in all schools except the high school, and replacement of analog phones in the high school.

John Hicks, director of educational technology, said the wiring in several closets at CVMS are in a very inconvenient place, and several of the systems, including the PA systems and analog phones, can be 20-30 years old. There are a few pockets where the PA system in some buildings are difficult to hear, which could be dangerous in an emergency.

Needs for technology systems change over time, so some of the needs for a system today is different than it was 30 years ago. There are also new features newer systems have that the old systems don't.

The total cost for phase three will be about $1.04 million, all of which will be covered by the bond act. Phase three will then be posted on the district website for a minimum of 30 days, after which the board will host a public hearing. After the school board approves the smart schools investment plan it will be sent to the New York State Smart Schools review board.

While the school board has approved a phase of the project every year, the state board has not been so diligent.

"Even though we've been pretty regular in doing our due diligence in getting projects approved by the board and submitted to the state, the state is not as prompt in reviewing and approving those projects," Mains said in a planning board meeting on June 12.

Hicks said the district was hoping to start construction on phase one last summer, but because of the delay in approval from the state the district is completing it this August.

There is also little way to gauge when the plan will be approved, which causes more headaches because it's difficult to plan and estimate the cost of a project when you don't know when you'll be starting it, Hicks said. Prices of equipment and the equipment itself changes over time, which affects the budget.

"Anything you're doing to modify your building has to go to facilities planning and it will tell you what project number there're working on currently and you can gauge an estimated time for your project to be approved," Hicks said, "but with smart schools, it's like you're blind and it's frustrating."

Other projects from other funding sources also depend on the smart schools project being completed first, so it's difficult to plan those projects. For example, phase two includes the replacement of a fiber optic cable between closets.

"The fiber optic cable we have between our closets, we have maxed how fast that can run," Hicks said. "The next upgrade that I do won't work without that fiber optic cable; I can't go any faster. So I can't upgrade the equipment in the closets until I have this fiber optic cable."

Since phase one was also being done during the school year and not during the summer as originally planned, the project must be completed with second shift while school is not in session, which is more expensive.

Phase One, which is currently being implemented, featured a lockdown/lockout notification system that included blue strobe lights, a panic button connected to the PA system and a dialer that automatically dials emergency personnel. The phase also introduced new security cameras for several schools, installation of ground wiring in closet racks, and wiring and cable work in five buildings.

Phase Two will replace intrusion detection systems in all schools, replace fiber optic cables between wiring closets throughout the district, replace fiber optic cables between the high school and Pine Bush Elementary, high school and district office and high school and warehouse, run new fiber optic cables between CVMS/PAK campus and Circleville Elementary School, add doors to card access control system, replace the PA system in the high school, and replace analog phones in all schools except the high school. Phase two is still under expenditure review by the state.

Expenditure review is the last phase of the review process, and it has been in that phase for 13 of the 14 months it has been in review by the state. Facilities planning, which Hicks said reviews the plan in much more detail than the state review board, approved phase two in six months.

"I don't want to sound like we're ungrateful, we're just frustrated," Hicks said. "The way this was sold to the voters when the voters approved it in November of 2014, is a lot different than the way it's been implemented."

The public hearing for phase three is scheduled for July 31 during the Pine Bush school board meeting.

Guilty plea in homicide case

Orange County District Attorney David M. Hoovler announced that on Monday, June 25, Christopher Smith, 44, of the Town of Newburgh, pled guilty before Orange County Court Judge William DeProspo to Manslaughter in the First Degree, in connection with the April 2017 fatal stabbing of a man who had been staying in Smith's home. At the time that Smith pled guilty, prosecutors stated that they would be recommending that he be sentenced to 20 years in state prison when he is sentenced on August 13, 2018.

At the time that he pled guilty, Smith admitted that, while he was in his home in the Town of Newburgh in April 2017, he stabbed the man in the neck with a knife. Smith admitted that he had intended to cause serious physical injury to the man, and that the man died as a result of the knife wounds.

The New York State Police had received a report from the deceased man's family on June 30, 2017, that he was missing. As a result of an investigation into the man's disappearance, on October 24, 2017, members of the State Police discovered the man's remains buried in a large planter outside of Smith's residence.

Hoovler thanked the New York State Police for their investigation of the case and for the defendant's arrest.

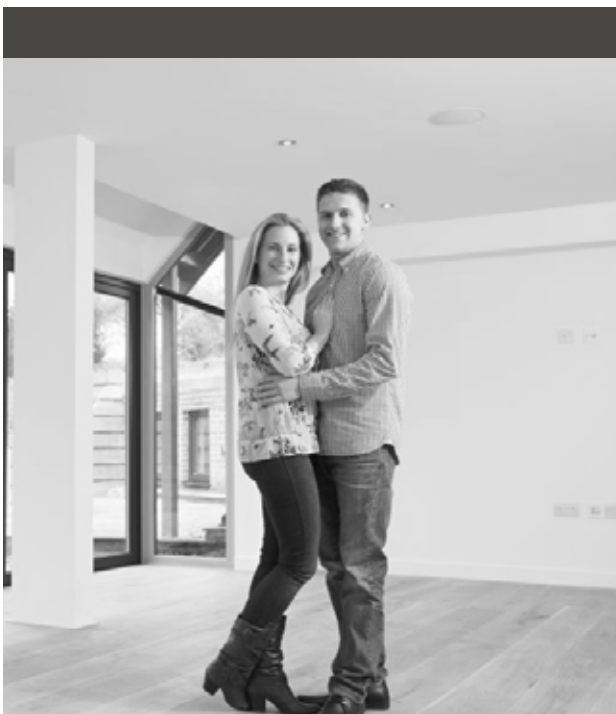

"The unlawful taking of another human life is among the worst crimes that one can commit," said Hoovler, "and the likelihood of killing increases dramatically when a person chooses to use a weapon. My office will seek lengthy prison sentences for those who resort to violence and weapons to settle disputes. I only hope that the recovery of the victim's body and this guilty plea will bring some measure of closure to the victim's family."

This case is being prosecuted by Assistant District Attorneys Steven Goldberg and Eliza Filipowski.

Maloney tries a balancing act

Constituents often wonder if an elected official can truly perform the duties of his or her office while engaging in a political campaign. What's the priority, tending to the needs of the taxpayers who elected you or hitting the campaign trail? And if it's the campaign trail, then whose dime is paying for all these appearances, the campaign or the taxpayers?

And if any of this gives you cause to wonder, then what do you think of Congressman Sean Patrick Maloney who is simultaneously campaigning for re-election to his seat in the 18th Congressional District, and running for New York State Attorney General at the same time?

Maloney says he will abandon plans for re-election to Congress if he wins the Democratic Primary for AG in September, but that means his two-pronged campaign will last throughout the summer. And that's raised at least one other concern: can he spend all or some of the $3.1 million raised in congressional campaign funds in his race for state office?

To win the primary against Public Advocate Tish James and Zephyr Teachout, (a relative newcomer to Ulster County who has unsuccessfully challenged Governor Andrew Cuomo and later John Faso for his Congressional seat) Maloney will have to travel far beyond the bounds of Orange, Dutchess and Putnam Counties to get to know the voters. Who holds down the fort while he's busy introducing himself to the folks in Rochester? How is that serving the people of his Congressional District.

A victory in that AG primary also does his own party no favors, since Democrats would now have the task of finding another to mount a two-month campaign. Orange County Legislator Jim O'Donnell, a Republican seeking to unseat Maloney, has already made political hay of the issue, calling the decision to seek two elected offices at the same time unethical, blatantly corrupt and illegal.

"Sean Maloney is a duly sworn elected official

What's your solution?

Your article on "Who would separate children from parents?" is not completely factual. It is current law that if an adult illegally enters our country, he/she is held and prosecuted. Any children traveling with such adult obviously cannot be incarcerated or prosecuted so it stands to reason that they be held somewhere separate from these criminals. The president signed an Executive Order today keeping families together during the court proceedings. Due to a court ruling, these children cannot be held more than 20 days so now the ACLU is contesting the Executive Order. Nobody wants to separate children from their families but keep in mind that:

1. Some of these illegal immigrants are traveling with children that are not theirs.

2. Some of these children will be headed to forced labor and sex slave situations.

3. A tremendous amount of lethal, illegal drugs enter our country via these illegal immigrants.

So I'd like to hear your solution to the problem you so easily are willing to point out in your anti-Trump article. What is it?

our enemies are really our friends and are trusted. For example in the latest North Korean agreement our President said he “trusts Kim” to denuclearize without any verification plans. A similar action with Iran has definite verification steps but “is the worst agreement ever” in the President’s words. Who said, “Trust, but verify.” Ah yes, President Ronald Reagan.

On the domestic level, the most worthwhile people are the very rich and large corporations and so must be rewarded with yet more money. Thus the huge tax cuts for the wealthy and corporations with much more modest cuts for the poor and struggling, decreasing, middle class. And in order to reward the wealthy, cuts must be made to help the poor, sick, elderly, and young. “What a wonderful world.”

Our senator?

Tom Basile, candidate for State Senate, is proving himself to be more of a fraud each and every day. He can’t even print campaign signs without lying: plastered all over the district are his billboards that read, “Tom Basile: Our Senator.”

Our Senator? Did I fall asleep while the election passed by? Make no mistake, Basile is no one’s Senator. He is simply trying to fool people into thinking he’s already representing us.

Tom Basile is desperately trying to distance himself from reality, but the facts remain up until recently he was a co-worker of Steve Bannon; his campaign is funded by the Mercer Family; and he contributed to the hate-filled Breitbart website. Now, he can’t even put up a yard sign without lying to voters.

I’m voting for James Skoufis who has proven himself as a decent, honorable man. Mike Anagnostakis, too, is a respectable legislator. They have more integrity in their fingertips than Tom Basile does in his entire body.

Uncle Tom’s Cabin

Because Lincoln thought of Stowe’s book, “Uncle Tom’s Cabin,” as one of the turning points that led to the Civil War, I have made a couple attempts to read the book. In both cases I was forced to stop reading shortly after I started because I couldn’t get through a five year-old boy being sold and separated from his mother.

I am now finding it impossible to get through the news about thousands of children separated from their parents by the leader of Lincoln’s Party. Even though the policy has been put on hold, there may be no way to reunite the separated children with their parents, because the separation was done so thoughtlessly that no good records were kept.

According to Governor Cuomo there might be as many as 700 babies and children that were secretly shipped to facilities in New York by a federal government that didn’t inform the state government. Governor Cuomo is trying his best to locate all of the children who were shipped to New York so he can get them help to ease their suffering and aid in the reunification of families.

I wish Governor Cuomo could do something to ease the suffering of the parents who have lost children to the President’s cruel policy. It is my hope that every child separated from his parent at our southern border can be reunited.

O’Donnell’s campaign is circulating a petition calling for Maloney to resign from Congress if he intends to remain in the AG race. It has 130 signatures as of Tuesday. According to that petition, “Sean Maloney has no interest in serving the people of the Hudson Valley in Congress.”

NEWBURGH HERITAGE

When vineyards dotted our city

The old city courthouse where I work was a very different place in the 19th century. Since 1841, it was outfitted with a courtroom, offices and a jail too. Yet that big upstairs courtroom was used for many purposes. In the center of the village and surrounded by a pretty park, it hosted other events when court was not in session.

Among them were the meetings and competitions of the Newburgh Horticultural Society and the larger Orange County Agricultural Society. Lots of local citizens belonged to both in a time when gardening was a most popular activity.

The central Newburgh community was ringed by small farms as close by as Broad Street and West Street and Benkard Avenue. Even inside the heart of the city, many residents cultivated a half-acre of carefully partitioned rows of vegetables and fruit surrounding their homes. As I enter 123 Grand Street today, I like to imagine summertime tables set up on the lawn holding bowls and platters of berries and especially of fragrant grapes that were to be judged in a horticultural fair.

The Hudson Valley has been dotted with vineyards for over two centuries as residents brought their love of grape farming with them from “the old country.” Even in my childhood of the 1940’s and 1950’s, many backyards around Newburgh contained an arbor covered in grape vines. It was a place to retreat from the sun and also a source of fresh fruit and homemade wine. My grandmother made tiny batches of wine that I remember as being so colorful and pretty, just like her jellies. While Nana’s jelly might be red currant or purple grape or blueberry, her wine was deep elderberry or even golden dandelion. She was not special in that homemade talent. Gardens were planted all along her Johnston Street block and neighbors shared and traded produce. Farmers offered other fruits that were not grown at home and those could be purchased freshly delivered to the corner groceries or specially ordered to be delivered to one’s home when a canning day was planned.

These memories drew me to a recent book: “Grapes of the Hudson Valley” written by J. Stephen Casscles in 2015. It is thorough and historical but fun to read and highly illustrated. The photographs of the many varieties of local grapes drew my imagination back to those backyard arbors of my childhood. They made me wonder how many Newburgh arbors might have been far older than I realized. Mr. Casscles’ book revealed that in downtown Newburgh there were innovative grape growers creating hybrid varieties in the 19th century – varieties that are still cataloged and prized today. The burned-out “City Club” at Grand and Second Streets was the home of Dr. William Culbert. He was a homeopath, a practitioner of natural medicine using plants to help the body heal itself. It is no wonder that Dr. Culbert would have a large garden behind his home (across the land where the entry to the public library is today). He particularly grew grapes and varieties are still named after him such as “Culbert’s #3” or “Newburgh Muscat.” James H. Ricketts came to Newburgh in 1857 to establish his bookbinding business. That shop was on Water Street but Mr. Ricketts lived up near the Smith farm that was to become Downing Park. In the 1870’s his home was located where North Miller and Farrington Streets come together near the church today known as The Soul Saving Station. James Ricketts grew hundreds of grape vines in his garden and greenhouse in that neighborhood where he cultivated slightly less than an acre but hybridized scores of new grape varieties. He won many awards from the American Pomological Society for his “beautiful” hybrids with local names such as “Clinton,” “Downing,” “Quassaic,” and “Newburgh.” Charles Downing, the older brother of Andrew Jackson Downing and the owner of the historic Downing Nurseries in Newburgh, was Ricketts’ friend and advisor.

Steve Casscles, whose book opened the door to local grape history for me, cultivates a 4-acre vineyard in Athens,

New York that he and his family tend when he is not at work in the state capitol. From a long-time fruit growing family, he enjoys sharing his knowledge and will be leading a wine-tasting of local varieties during the Newburgh Historical Society’s July 7th Fireworks Cruise to West Point. His book can be found at the library and at local bookstores.

Wallkill HS graduates 229 students

By LAURA FITZGERALD
lfitz@tcnewspapers.com

Wallkill High School honored 229 graduates last Friday as they strutted onto the football field in blue and white robes.

Graduates smiled and waved to a packed crowd. Parents, relatives and friends spilled onto the lawn beside the stands to watch their graduates.

The class of 2018 received $2,212,800 in awards and scholarships, and 102 students graduated as a distinguished achievement honor graduate with a cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 85 percent or higher or as a presidential academic award recipient with a GPA of 90 percent or higher. Ten students received Scholastic Awards for Outstanding Seniors, honoring excellence in academics, music and art.

Salutatorian and president of the Student Government Association Sawyer Huang received the National Merit Scholarship Letter of Commendation. 54 students graduated as members of the Shawangunk chapter of the National Honor Society, 35 students graduated as members of Spanish Honor Society, and seven students graduated as members of National Technical Honor Society.

Huang urged the class to follow their passions and grow in character as they begin a new chapter of their life.

"There will always be next year," Huang said. "A year that promises new adventures and new goals. A year that we continue to work towards our dreams. A year that we accomplish our dreams."

Valedictorian Bryce Heller honored Christopher Peleaz, the Wallkill High School junior who passed away recently. His brother, Melvin Peleaz, graduated on Friday.

"He truly was an amazing individual, beyond kind, sweet, nice to everyone he met and an overall great person," Heller said. "Although Chris was a year younger than me, I met him in eighth grade when we had study hall together and I played soccer with him in tenth grade. He really was one of the nicest and sweetest kids you could have possible met, always happy and always smiling."

Heller said he and his classmates couldn't have made it to their graduation without the love and support of their families, friends, teachers and mentors. He encouraged the class of 2018 to take risks as they changed the world.

"Between our athletes, our artists, our performers, singers, musicians, entrepreneurs, great thinkers, hard workers and brainiacs, we have the power, the dedication, the talent and the ability to leave our mark on the world," Heller said.

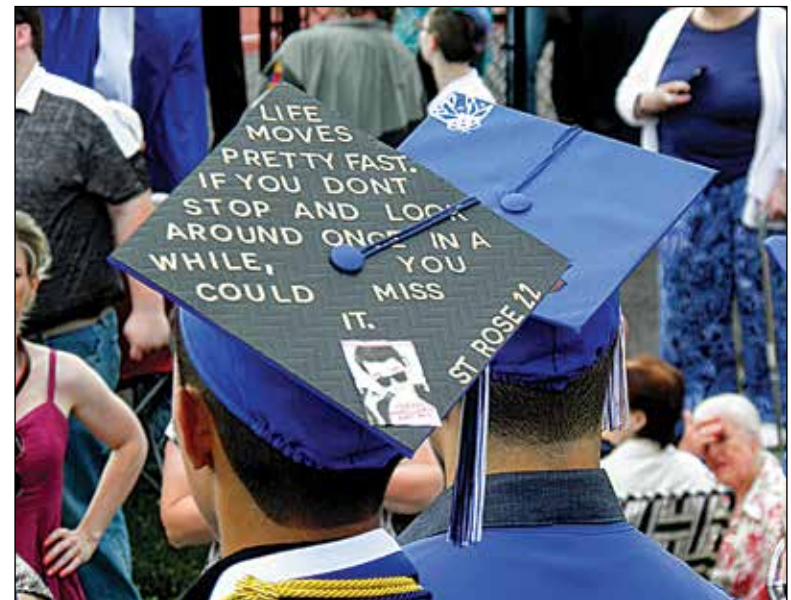

Principal Joseph Salamone said success is built from hard work and dedication, rather than purely raw talent.

"There are no naturals and because there are no naturals we all have the power to build new skills and strengthen our current weaknesses," Salamone said.

President of the Board of Education Joseph LoCicero, Superintendent of Schools Kevin Castle and Salamone presented the diplomas.

Wallkill graduates commemorate the event by decorating their caps.

Rituals & Identity at Ann Street Gallery

Safe Harbors and Ann Street Gallery present Rituals & Identity, a group exhibition during the month of July.

Rituals & Identity brings together a diverse collection of works by twenty-two artists, who explore the theme of rituals through imagery and provide a fascinating glimpse into rites of passage, communal rites and the rites of personal devotion.

Every society has rituals that mark daily routines and significant events during the life cycle: birth, marriage, and death. Most commonly defined as a series of established, habitual actions carried out for spiritual, social, political and personal significance; rituals are also the very processes by which identity is established and maintained.

Based on ritualistic constructs, values are communicated, which assist in reaffirming individual and collective identities through a shared sensory, psychological and emotional experience. In turn, these identities influence how societies perceive and express themselves, adopt social customs and align themselves with certain religious or political beliefs.

Through the works on display, this exhibit offers an opportunity to reevaluate the power of rituals in our modern day and take a fresh look at how they form our perceptions of who we are collectively and privately. In addition, we see the ability they have Juneberries and Hike to Millbrook Mountain at Minnewaska. 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. Meet at the Minnewaska Nature Center. Have you ever heard of a Juneberry? How about a Shadbush? There is at least one species native to every Canadian province and continental state within the United States. Come celebrate the Juneberries with Park Educator, Nick Martin, on our way to Millbrook Mountain via a combination of carriage roads and one moderately challenging footpath. On this approximately five-mile hike we will discuss the cultural and nutritious significance of this tree and learn how to identify it, too. If we are lucky, we will find some ripe Juneberries along the trail to sample. Participants must come prepared with appropriate footwear and enough food and water for this hike. 255-0752.

Beekeeper Tours. 1 & 2 p.m. Storm King Art Center, 1 Museum Road, New Windsor. A local beekeeper leads tours of Peter Coffin's Untitled (Bees Making Honey) (2012) at the apiary at the far edge of Storm King's property. Tours educate visitors about honeybees and their dependence on the sun for communication and survival. Participants receive a gift of local honey: a proposed answer to the artist's whimsical question, "What does light taste like?" 534-3115.

Moonlit Walk with Gary Keeton. 9 p.m. Basha Kill, Haven Road, Wurtsboro. Amble along Haven Road and the Railroad Trail. Enjoy moonrise over the ridge as you discuss the area's natural history. Celebrate International Mud Day

On Saturday, June, 30 from 11 a.m. - 3 p.m., join the Hudson Highlands Nature Museum at the Outdoor Discovery Center, on Muser Drive, across from 174 Angola Road, Cornwall to celebrate International Mud Day!

Welcome Summer with a mud-riffic day of play in Grasshopper Grove! Thousands of children in dozens of countries worldwide celebrate Mud Day as a chance to appreciate nature and the great outdoors by getting muddy. According to Museum Educator Melissa Spears, "Mud Day allows children and parents to break loose from usual everyday restrictions, encouraging them to get dirty and messy in the mud. This can help foster a deeper physical connection to the natural world in a fun and creative way."

"And remember, Mud Day is not just for the kids!" Bring a towel and/or change of clothes for the ride home, your imagination, and a sense of adventure to enjoy this afternoon of

Cooperative Extension announces Bountiful Harvest celebration

On Saturday, September 15, from 5 p.m. until 8 p.m., Cornell Cooperative Extension Orange County (CCEOC) will be holding its fourth annual Bountiful Harvest Celebration. The celebration will feature an evening of good old-fashioned fun at CCEOC's Education Center and 4-H Park in Otisville. Festivities include carriage rides, a sumptuous dinner made from locally-sourced favorites by Catherine's of Goshen, and the highlight event - a celebrity cow milking contest. All proceeds from the event will support the continued development at this new site.

As part of Cornell Cooperative Extension Orange County's Bountiful Harvest Celebration, local celebrity cow milkers representing service clubs in Orange County will compete against one another in a friendly cow milking challenge. The celebrities have three minutes to show their talent in hand milking a cow. All six celebrities are also collecting donations for CCEOC in a friendly "wagering" of pledges that accompany the contest. Celebrity milkers include: Wanda Cruz of the Middletown Lions, Peter Ewanciw of Minisink Kiwanis, Ed Fairweather of Otisville Lions, Scott Hamel of Walkill East Rotary, Peter Lazier of Middletown Rotary, and Ronald Leal of Middletown Kiwanis.

"Bountiful Harvest 2018 is special this year because we are partnering with local service clubs," said Lucy Joyce, Executive Director of CCEOC. "Our celebrity cow milkers are taking time out of their busy schedules to join us for cow milking training, drumming up donations on our behalf, and are getting up close and personal with a cow, all to help us raise much-needed funds as we work toward the completion of our Education Center and 4-H Park. The Education Center and 4-H Park will serve as a great resource for Orange County residents of all ages. We truly appreciate their efforts and look forward to another great event," Joyce added.

This year, the planning committee for the Bountiful Harvest Celebration is chaired by Maggie Smith President & CEO of First Federal Savings of Middletown and Terry Saturno, Former President of Orange Bank & Trust. In addition, Walden Savings Bank serves as a Blue Ribbon sponsor of the Bountiful Harvest Celebration for 2018.

The new Cornell Cooperative Extension Orange County Education Center and 4-H Park is located at 300 Finchville Turnpike, Otisville. Please note that tickets are required for this event. To learn more about this event and purchase your tickets, schedule a tour, or to pledge financial support for one of the celebrity cow milkers, visit www.cceorangecounty.org, by phone at 845-344-1234 or contact Kerry Dowling at kd372@cornell.edu or Kathi Webber at kw389@cornell.edu.

Bonacic supports resolution to invest in fighting Lyme Disease

State Senator John J. Bonacic (R/C/I-Mt. Hope) supported a Senate Resolution that was passed this week that would provide a record $1 million to help fight the scourge of Lyme and other tick-borne diseases (TBDs) throughout the state. The new funding will help support a wide variety of local investments identified by the Senate's Task Force on Lyme and Tick-Borne Diseases, which Senator Bonacic serves on, to increase education, research, prevention, and treatment options, and combat the ongoing increase in TBDs throughout New York.

The Senate Majority – and specifically the Task Force – led the charge in securing this historic level of funding in the 2018-19 state budget. Based on the Task Force's recommendations, the final budget restores $400,000 in Executive Budget cuts and includes $600,000 in new funding for a total of $1 million.

"For years, New Yorkers have dealt with the devastating impacts of Lyme and tick-borne diseases, and this funding will continue the fight against the devastating impacts," said Senator Bonacic.

Highlights of the resolution passed today include:

- Cary Institute of Ecosystem Studies, Inc. – $192,000 to research community-based prevention methods;
- Stony Brook University – $175,000 to open a state-of-the-art infectious disease laboratory;
- Cornell University – $130,000 to study the distribution of ticks and the diseases they carry in various parts of the state;
- New York State Association of County Health Officials (NYSACHO) – $112,000 to increase public awareness throughout New York;
- SUNY Adirondack – $100,000 for laboratory research on lesser-known TBDs;
- Southampton Hospital – $75,000 to fund the Tick-Borne Disease Resource Center;
- New York State Department of Health – $60,000 to increase the number of tick collection sites in New York;
- Cornell Cooperative Extension – $26,000 for a series of regional Lyme and TBD forums; and
- New York State Department of Health – $25,000 to continue database mining.

Dr. Jason N. Adsit takes the reins at Mount Saint Mary College

Dr. Jason N. Adsit, Mount Saint Mary College's seventh full-time president, began his tenure on June 1 – and he hit the ground running.

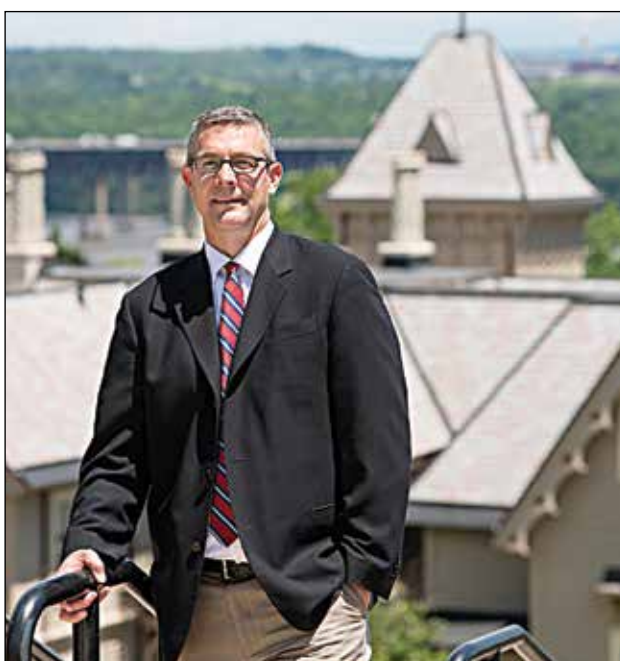

In his first weeks in office, Dr. Adsit kicked off the eighth annual Thomas Aquinas Philosophy Workshop, "Aquinas on Divine Attributes," with a keynote speech, met with members of the Greater Newburgh Rotary Club, and participated in the college's 40th Annual Invitational Golf and 7th Annual Invitational Tennis Tournament, which grossed $131,000 for the college and recognized community leaders William and Mary Murphy, and Manny and Rosemary Dizon.

Among many other initiatives, he also began to meet with members of the college's faculty and staff and set in motion his plans for the college's future.

"I see steady growth" for the Mount, explained Dr. Adsit. "I see a continued tradition of academic excellence. I see the highest levels of community engagement. Our institution is a coiled spring, and we're poised for great growth and development. Our future is very bright and I'm very excited to be here."

Following a national search and valuable input from the Mount community, the college's Board of Trustees selected Dr. Adsit as the new president, succeeding interim president Dr. David A. Kennett.

Dr. Adsit joins the Mount family from D'Youville College in Buffalo, NY, where he served as Dean of the School of Arts, Sciences, and Education, as well as Director of the Educational Leadership Doctoral Program. As chief academic officer, Dr. Adsit oversaw all undergraduate and graduate programs in the School, including the departments of Biology and Mathematics,

Lee Ferris

Dr. Jason N. Adsit, the seventh full-time president of Mount Saint Mary College, began his service to the college on June 1.

Business, Chemistry, Education, and Liberal Arts.

An accomplished author and speaker, Dr. Adsit earned a doctoral degree in Philosophy from the State University of New York at Buffalo and a bachelor's degree in Philosophy from American University in Washington, DC.

A great work ethic and a wonderful family life are close to Dr. Adsit's heart. He and his wife, Heather, have five children – three boys and two girls – ranging in age from 4 to 10 years old. Dr. Adsit was grateful to have his family's support throughout the Mount's presidential search process, and when they received word that he had been selected for the position, they were "overjoyed," he said.

"They saw how energized I was going through this process," explained Dr. Adsit. "They saw how I started talking about the Mount with passion. They told me how excited they were to become part of this community, part of Newburgh, part of the Hudson Valley."

Dr. Adsit and his family have already become a welcome addition to the Mount's rich history. The college was founded in 1959 by the Dominican Sisters, using as a guideline the four pillars of Dominican life: study, prayer, service, and community. Currently, about 2,700 men and women are enrolled in more than 50 undergraduate programs and three graduate degree programs. Prized for its robust academic programs in Nursing, Education, Business, and more, the college is excited to celebrate its 60th anniversary in 2019, explained Dr. Adsit.

For now, the Mount's new president is looking forward to the start of the Fall 2018 semester. Dr. Adsit and his family will roll up their sleeves and help new and returning students to move into their dorms on Opening Day in August, embracing the Mount's culture of service right from the start.

"The Mount educates the whole person," he explained. "We hope to instill in our students and our alumni that there's something bigger than yourself. What can you do with the talents you have to help others?"

Free Emergency Preparedness Training at Mt. Carmel Church in Newburgh on June 30

New York National Guard troops, in conjunction with the New York State Division of Homeland Security and Emergency Services, will be presenting a free disaster preparedness class Mt. Carmel Church of Christ in Newburgh on June 30.

The two-hour program begins at 10 a.m. The Mt. Carmel Church is located at 1524 Route 300, Newburgh.

The event is opened to any interested citizen and no sign-up in advance is required.

The event is part of Gov. Andrew Cuomo's continuing Citizen Preparedness Corps Training Program, which provides citizens with the knowledge and tools to prepare for emergencies and disasters, respond accordingly, and recover as quickly as possible to pre-disaster conditions.

Working with the New York State Division of Homeland Security and Emergency Services (DHSES) and local emergency management personnel, troops are conducting these training events across the state.

Since the program's launch in early February 2014, troops have held more than 2,428 events statewide, and taught over 141,877 citizens how to be better prepared for emergencies and disasters.

The program, designed by DHSES, covers a broad range of emergency-preparedness topics, like developing a family emergency plan, stocking up on emergency supplies, and registering for NY-Alert, the free statewide emergency alert system.

The Citizen Preparedness Corps has equipped thousands of New Yorkers to respond better to emergencies and disasters, he stressed.

Emergency preparedness is part and parcel of the New York National Guard's mission and experience, according to New York State Adjutant General, Maj. Gen. Anthony German.

"The men and women of the New York Army and Air National Guard, who have responded to help their fellow New Yorkers during floods, hurricanes, and snow storms, know first-hand the value of being prepared for emergencies," German said.

"Our Soldiers and Airmen are proud to be part of Governor Cuomo's effort to help our fellow citizens prepare to cope with disasters and emergencies," German added.

NFA holds 153rd commencement ceremony

By SHANTAL RILEY
sriley@tcnewspapers.com

Hundreds of high school seniors filled Academy Field to hear advice on living a happy life and to finally hold their high school diplomas. "You got this," Newburgh Free Academy Co-Principal Raul Rodriguez told the students, expressing his confidence in them.

"Never stop believing in the power of your ideas, your imagination, your hard work to change the world," Rodriguez said, quoting former President Barack Obama.

The school's 153rd commencement ceremony was held last Thursday. More than 700 students were awarded high school diplomas, amid cries of encouragement from friends and family in bleachers lining the field.

"My advice to you is take advantage of whatever life throws at you," Valedictorian Allison Vela said, telling fellow classmates to expect at least some adversity on the road ahead. "Success varies from person to person," she said, whether it is personal or professional. "We define our own personal success."

"The path ahead of you will undoubtedly have twists and turns," Superintendent of Schools Roberto Padilla followed. "But, in the end, when time fades away, it is the small moments that create the greatest memories. Most people think it is the big moments that define you. But, in reality, life is filled with many small hours."

"It is easy to get caught up in looking for the next big achievement, the next celebration or the next conquer. The minor achievements are victories as well. And, eventually, all of these small moments will lead up to the greatest memories of your life."

Padilla recalled some of the highlights of the school year: NFA health-science teacher Linda Romano was named Teacher of the Year by the Association of Career and Technical Education; NFA was made proud by nationally-ranked teams such as the NFA Concept Vehicle Racing Team, which placed seventh in an international competition in April, and the NFA Boys Track Team, which won national and international honors, including an opportunity to represent New York State at the Junior Olympics. Seventeen scholars also earned associate's degrees alongside their high school diplomas, he said. "These accomplishments reflect those small hours," Padilla said.

The superintendent then counted down "Dr. P's Five Pieces of Advice for Graduates," starting with number five. "You have the same number of hours in the day as Beyoncé: Don't make excuses. Go make it happen," he said.

"There is a lot of madness in the world today. Children and parents are suing each other," Padilla said, reading number four. "Graduates start making a five-year plan to move out of your parents' basement. You don't want to start the next chapter of your life with a lawsuit."

"Number three. Many people lost a bet because you graduated," he said. "Oh well, that's their loss. Always bet on yourself." For his number-two point of advice, Padilla said, "We have gone from selfies with duck lips to everyone now 'flossing,'" he said, referring to the new dance craze. "Please stop both. We're not laughing with you, we're laughing at you."

"Number One. Under special talents on your resume, do not list, 'really good at Fortnite,'" Padilla said, referring to the popular video game. "Just because you think you're good, doesn't actually mean you should pursue a degree in architecture."

A few minutes later, Padilla declared the students to be high school graduates. "As superintendent of schools and in accordance with the authority granted to me by the New York State Board of Regents, I hereby certify that these candidates have qualified for New York State high school diplomas," he said. Thunderous applause followed.

After the ceremony, NFA graduate Joseph Post shared his plans for the fall. "I'm going to the University of Kentucky to major in marketing and communications," he said, as his mother beamed with pride beside him. "This is the first male in the family to graduate from high school," said Andre Forester, giving his son Michael a bear hug.

"Thank you for your unconditional love," Padilla said to parents and caregivers in the audience that night. "The kind of love that had to be tough sometimes, while soft at other times. You have made sacrifices so your children can excel."

Newburgh Prep holds final graduation ceremony

sriley@tcnewspapers.com

Friends and family cheered loudly at the Newburgh Preparatory Charter High School commencement ceremony, held at SUNY Orange Kaplan Hall last Thursday. "We hope you are as proud of yourselves today as we are of you," Newburgh Prep Board of Trustees President Lisa Silverstone told the graduates.

Athletics instructor Eric Meyer delivered an amusing keynote address, triggering laughter and tears. "It's a day of remembering, reflection and celebration," said Meyer, also a career and college readiness coach. "Students, when it's time to celebrate, what do most of you guys do?"

"Don't tell me that," he said, among shouts of unquotable comments. "The word we use in our school is, let's get lit, 'L-I-T,'" he said. "I want to use that acronym - LIT - for my little talk."

L stands for "making a difference in Newburgh and beyond," he said. "How can we do that? The word that came to my mind is 'love,' when you love people and you do unto others what you would have them do to you,"

Meyer said, and loving despite unloving or uncertain circumstances.

Gratitude is an aspect of love, he said. "Express some gratitude to somebody who has been there for you and has supported you," he said, urging students to thank those who helped them to graduate.

"I stands for investment," he said. "An investment is where you use your time, your energy or money in the expectation of some benefit for the future," Meyer stated, whether it is investing in your physical well-being, your mental well-being, your education or being socially responsible.

"Take the time to invest, not only in yourselves, but in others."

Finally, the coach said, T stands for "try." To demonstrate, he cited the story of "The Little Engine That Could," in which a small train engine used positive self-talk to drum up the courage to carry a heavy load of toys up a steep hill.

"The Little Engine That Could said, 'Well, I think I'll try,'" Meyer recounted. "As he hooked himself up to the large cargo and pulled himself up the hill, he said to himself, 'I think I can, I think I can, I think I can.' And slowly but surely, the train and all the cargo made it up the mountain."

"You guys are about trying," Meyer said to the graduates. "If I've learned anything in my life, I've learned that when you fail - and you will - be quick to get up. Don't wallow in the failure.... keep trying."

Principal Wendy Wright explained the Newburgh Prep Class of 2018 would be the last class to graduate from the school. "We're so proud of our school and the many students who have attended for the past five years. Our school has impacted many, many lives," she said, speaking of the 73 graduates to receive their diplomas through the school since it opened five years ago.

Silverstone described the day as bittersweet. "Bitter because unfortunately, it is the last one for Newburgh Prep," she said. "But, sweet because with the dedicated supporters, staff, families, board members, teachers and students, past and present, we created something truly special in our community. Though the school is closing, the impact we have made will surely endure."

Newburgh Prep students were "recognized and respected as unique individuals," Silverstone said, in a learning setting "where they were truly cared for and about, where people believed in their ability to achieve and succeed."

Families and friends greeted the graduates with hugs and flowers after the ceremony. "I'm so excited for him and so proud of him," said Yolanda Smith, whose son Eh'Dafi Hughes was accepted at SUNY Orange and Marist College.

Newburgh Prep graduate Janese Free said she plans to attend the Capri Cosmetology Learning Center and then attend SUNY Orange to earn a business degree. "It's called 'Simply Trinity,'" the entrepreneurial young woman said, describing a line of all-natural beauty products she created. "They're made of all-natural ingredients. I plan to sell it at my own store and salon."

Opened in 2013, Newburgh Prep offered small classes and individualized education programs allowing students to earn high school diplomas in an alternative-learning setting. The school accepted students until age 21, many who dropped out of high school.

However, the charter school struggled to build enrollment, particularly in lieu of the 2016 opening of NFA West, which, much like Newburgh Prep, serves students seeking an alternative learning environment within the Newburgh Enlarged City School District.

Silverstone thanked the teachers and staff for "staying dedicated, positive and supportive while grappling with a school closure, facing your own uncertain futures, while focusing like a laser on the future of your students."

Silverstone thanked Tom Fitzgerald - who, she said, "had the vision to start the school five years ago" - and the board's Secretary Mindy Ross, who "relentlessly pursued the success of Newburgh Prep from its inception," said Wright.

"It our hope that... we have inspired our scholars to stick to it, stay in school and believe in themselves, as we believe in all of them," Silverstone said. "It is our hope that we have encouraged the Newburgh Enlarged City School District to better meet the needs of its beautifully diverse, sometimes challenging and always worth it students."

Bishop Dunn Memorial School hosts graduation mass

sriley@tcnewspapers.com

“You graduates are beginning an incredible and wonderful journey,” he said. “It really starts here.”

Mount Saint Mary College Chaplain and Director of Campus Ministry Father Greg Fluet addressed the Bishop Dunn Memorial School Class of 2018 at the college’s Chapel of the Holy Rosary in the Dominican Center, where a graduation mass was held last Tuesday.

Twenty-nine middle schoolers were handed their diplomas, along with advice to use their God-given talents for good. “The Gospel tells us to be generous with your gifts,” said Fluet. “You were called to use those gifts for good.”

Principal Nancy Benfer announced a collection of awards, including lifetime achievements awards, given to students that have been with the school since kindergarten and pre-kindergarten.

“He was very serious in kindergarten,” said Benfer, speaking about Bishop Dunn graduate and award recipient Dave Sanchez. “This young man looks exactly the same,” said Benfer, recalling Mauro Mazzariello as a student in pre-kindergarten.

The principal spoke tenderly of Jenna Cassalina, a Bishop Dunn student who passed away in 2008. “Those Bishop Dunn children said to me, ‘We have to remember her,’” said Benfer, recalling the reaction of classmates.

The school created the Jenna Cassalina awards for courage, individuality and perseverance – all traits that Jenna bore and admired in others, Benfer said. The award for courage was given to Sophia Aulogia, the award for perseverance went to Madeline Bobnick and the award for individuality was shared by Molly McMurtie and Cal Rolon.

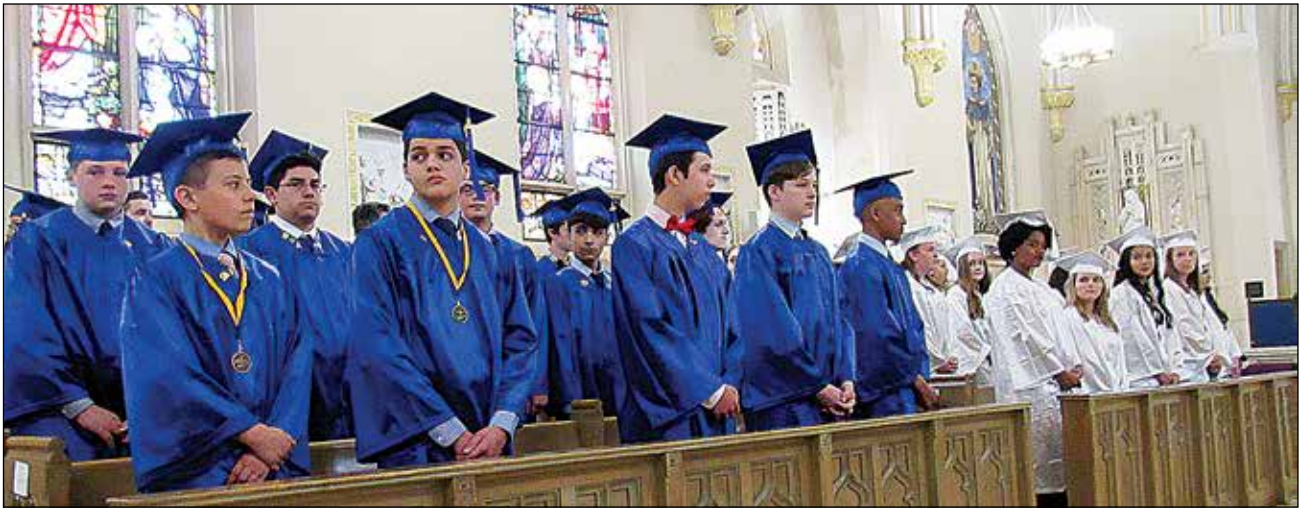

Parents were busy shooting video and snapping photos during the graduation mass. Dianne Dessanti looked on with pride as her son Joey Urbanowicz received his diploma. “Bishop Dunn was very supportive,” Dessanti said after the ceremony. “They’ve been a Godsend.”

“I hope in four years I see you again in your freshman year at Mount Saint Mary College,” Fluet told the graduates, in closing. “May God be with you and congratulations.”

Madeline Bobnick offers a prayer.

Founded in 1883, Bishop Dunn Memorial School is a Catholic school located on Mount Saint Mary College campus, serving children in pre-kindergarten through grade 8. To learn more about Bishop Dunn Memorial School, visit Bdms.org or call (845) 569-3494.

Ulster BOCES School of Practical Nursing graduates 27

After 1,200 hours of rigorous classroom and clinical instruction, 27 graduates of the Ulster BOCES Adult Career Education Center's School of Practical Nursing took the Florence Nightingale Pledge, committing to fulfill the requirements of being a practical nurse.

Graduates received their certificates and pins during a candle lighting ceremony in the gymnasium at the Ulster BOCES campus in Port Ewen on June 19.

With their families, friends, and instructors in attendance, the students, who came from areas throughout the Hudson Valley, celebrated their hard work and sacrifice with all attending, including the Ulster BOCES Board of Education.

Ashley Brady of Poughkeepsie said the program was challenging and demanding, but the efforts required to reach her goal were more than worth it. "I have learned and continue to learn so much everyday. I am beyond excited about graduation and the completion of this journey. I feel I have and continue to grow in areas of education, knowledge, and personal strength, all thanks to the Ulster BOCES Practical Nurse program, as well as the efforts, dedication, guidance, and shared knowledge from my instructors and mentors, Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Kennedy."

Alissa Blough says she was inspired to become a nurse after seeing how one positive, compassionate nurse can change a patient's health care experience. "I wanted to be that nurse. I feel that this profession, like not many others, provides opportunities to care for and respect individuals no matter who they are and may otherwise be treated. I view nursing as a calling, not just a job," says the Ulster Park resident.

Ulster BOCES Practical Nurse students go to a variety of clinical sites and learn to insert IV lines and catheters, help with activities of daily living, administer medication, and give injections, as well as other necessary skills. The program is designed to prepare graduates for the NCLEX-PN Examination for licensure as a Licensed Practical Nurse.

For anyone interested in pursuing a career in practical nursing, contact the Ulster BOCES Adult Career Education Center at (845) 331-5050.

CITY OF NEWBURGH

Downing Park gala is July 14

Greetings from River City. In an article I read the other day, a person said that if you want to make your point, civility gets in the way; you have to get in someone's face. It is rather sad, if you have to do that, it seems you must not be sure of your convictions.

On July 21, in the passing of Charles Krauthammer, civility took a blow. A man, highly intelligent, endowed with clever wit and charm, and kindness found civility to be no impediment to making his point. He is mourned and missed.

His opinions, expressed with quiet self-assurance, rationality, intellect, and keen understanding of a subject, were enhanced by the civility of his expression; he had no problem if you disagreed with him. Trying to advance an argument by screaming and "getting in someone's face" is as sounding brass and tinkling symbols.

In these days, it would be well for all of us to remember this from John Dickinson, a delegate to the Continental Congress, "Then join hand in hand, brave Americans all! By uniting we stand, by dividing we fall." Happy 4th of July, United States of America!

Karen Eberle-McCarthy, President, Downing Park Planning Committee, announced a Summer Preview of Downing Park. On Saturday, July 7 from 9 a.m. - 2 p.m., the public is invited to free yoga at 9 a.m. by the amphitheater and Tai Chi at 10 a.m. up the hill by the Peace Pole. At 11 a.m., there will be a ribbon cutting ceremony for the Grand Opening of the Shelter House Café.

There will also be farm produce for sale and the Downing Park Urban Farm will offer various free workshops. Inside the café, there will be information about the Downing Park Planning Committee. Tickets will be available for their July 14 fundraiser.

The Downing Park Fundraiser Gala on Saturday, July 14 from 6 - 10 p.m. includes appetizers and dinner catered by the Shelter House Café, and free wine, soda and beer.

The Gala Honorees are Dr. Hannah Brooks and Michelle Baush and Dan Brown of the Wherehouse. The Gala's theme, The Roaring Twenties, will add to the evening's enjoyment. Tickets: Prepaid/$70. At the door/$85. Downing Park Planning Committee, P.O. Box 306, Newburgh, NY 12551.

NYS Historic Preservation Office & Preservation League of NYS presents Tax Credit Workshops on Thursday, June 28 from 3 - 5 p.m. (Commercial Workshop); and from 6:30 - 8:30 p.m. (Homeowner Workshop) at Washington's Headquarters, 84 Liberty St. New York's Historic Tax Credits can help people provide safer and healthier homes for their families, and protect business investments for generations to come.

In addition, the tax credit is an effective economic development tool - providing an incentive to invest in older structures, stabilizing neighborhoods and creating local jobs for skilled workers. Attend to learn more! Attendance is free however, reservations are required. Contact (518) 462-5658 ext. 10, fgubler@preservenys.org or atpreservenys.org.

A Grand Celebration at Washington's Headquarters (Hasbrouck House) holds the honor of being the first publicly preserved historic site in the Nation when it was established on July 4, 1850. Celebrate both our Nation's birthday and Washington's Headquarters anniversary on Wednesday, July 4, from 2 - 4 p.m.

The Empire Drumline will be performing, and there will be a variety of outdoor activities and crafts for children of all ages! Play and take part in a variety of outdoor activities and crafts for children of all ages, and other surprises!

Take a guided tour of the historic Headquarters and explore the Museum, which houses the multi award-winning exhibit, Unpacked & Rediscovered: Selections from Washington's Headquarters' Collection.

The exhibit features over 1,300 objects highlighting Washington's Headquarters' diverse collections and is navigated by an electronic catalog system. Admission is free on July 4, compliments of Regina Angelo. The site hours are 11 a.m. - 5 p.m. For further details, call 562-1195.

Bring your blanket, picnic basket and binoculars and make some additional memories as you take in our glorious scenery - the majestic Hudson River with the breathtaking Hudson Highlands as a backdrop.

Regina Angelo was disappointed that the 4th of July Celebration rain date had to be changed from Saturday, July 7 to Thursday, July 5. She said, Everyone's working on Thursday." She is praying for no rain on the 4th. Let us hope her prayers are answered. So much goes into the celebration and it is one to which we look forward.

Regina has been working hard on our 4th of July celebration, "It's going to be a fantastic family day for our community. This year we are again looking at an amazing display by Fireworks Extravaganza," said Regina, City Of Newburgh Special Events Coordinator.

Fireworks on July 4, launched at approximately 9 p.m., at the People's waterfront Park the former Consolidated Iron site, adjacent to the former Gully's restaurant.

Leptondale Church to host VBS

In the world of Cheryl, you just can't make this stuff up. Boarded a plane to Colorado, George and I get settled in our row with us being the only 2 in a row of 3 seats. You then start hoping no one else shows up and you start to watch the people boarding to see if they point to the open seat and try not to make eye contact because that will draw them to the empty seat for sure.

As the boarding is unfolded, a family comes with an infant and sits in the row across from us. Then a mother comes with an infant and sits two rows in front of us, another mother comes with an infant and a 4-year-old and sits in the row right in front of us.

I'm sure you are thinking the same thing I was, this is going to be a very long four hours and what medicine do I have to put me to sleep. You realized Tylenol and Motrin won't help so you settle in and accept. The airplane door is shut, and George and I have a row to ourselves Bonus!

The 4-year-old sitting playing with a stuffed animal and I start to hear a cat meowing. Oh, his stuffed animal talks, how cute. He holds the animal up in the air and it's a dog. I am totally confused but still hear a cat. Finally realizing there is an actual cat on board the plane and it is across the aisle and one row back. Well I have seen dogs on airplanes, but this was my first cat. The three infants and young boy made less noise than the cat. Who would have figured. You can't control things and you never know how things are going to end.

This trip lets me cross something off my bucket list. I became a member of the mile-high club when we touched down in Denver, Colorado.

Sometimes you hear of things and cannot believe they turned out so well. One of those being in the right place at the right time. Sisters, Niame and Nadia Slaughter were leaving their house, looked across the street and seen the toddler push out the screen and fall two feet onto the front porch. They quickly ran across the street and picked up the baby (who had no injuries), rang the doorbell and gave the baby back to his mother. Thank you to these young ladies who have always been wonderful young neighbors. Kenny and Venus Slaughter, your children are amazing.

At our most recent meeting, the Newburgh Rotary elected new officers for the coming year. Deborah Sager is our new President, Friz Kass Vice President, John Fracasse Treasurer, and Cathy McCarty, Secretary.

The Rotary club usually changes officers yearly, which is intended to bring renewed perspectives to the club. The dates for their two major fund raisers have also been changed for this coming fiscal year; The Taste of Newburgh will be held September 30 at Mount Saint Mary College, and the Basketball Fun-Raiser will be held at NFA in March. The funds raised from these events support many worthy need base organizations in the greater Newburgh area.

Celebrating birthdays this week are: Vincent Santacroce on June 27, Paul Harrington on June 28, Mike Ferrara Sr. and Katie Gross on June 30, and Rich Volpe on July 2. Wishing you all the best for the coming year.

Newburgh Free Library Town Branch in the Newburgh Mall will have an Adult Coloring class on Sat., June 30, 12 to 2 p.m.

Join other adults in this increasingly popular and relaxing hobby. From choosing colors to the gentle, repetitive motion of your hands as you bring color to paper, coloring can be seen as a form of "active meditation." Repetitive motions such as coloring (or running, walking, dancing, or even drawing) can help strengthen your focus and shift your attention back to a relaxed state. Coloring sheets, pencils, and markers are provided. For adults and teens 16+.

For more information, please call 563-3625.

Congratulations to the happy little graduates in Miss Liz's class at Tots-N-Us Nursery School and Day Care Center. I'm sure they are looking forward to a summer of fun, reading and participating in the wonderful summer programs offered at our libraries, studying nature, playing favorite sports, and enjoying play dates with best friends.

your reading. Registration is required: 566-0460.

Sprouts & Shoots Rocks! Monday, July 9, from 10:30 to 11:15 a.m. Story time is designed to encourage early learning success and school readiness through reading, singing, creating, and doing! Books are selected for ages 3-4 years. Active participation and supervision by an adult caregiver is expected.

Tail Waggin' Tutors: Tuesday, July 10, from 6 to 7 p.m. School age kids are invited to develop confidence in their reading ability and practice reading out loud with certified, licensed Therapy Dogs. Bring your own books or choose one from the library collection.

Summer Family Flicks at the Branch: Friday, July 13, at 2 p.m. "The Nightmare Before Christmas," (PG) 76 minutes.

Both libraries will be closed on July 1 & 4.

St. Patrick's-St. Mary's Church has a full day of Adoration of Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament every First Friday of the month, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. You are invited to committing yourself to one hour a month to come and spend time in thanksgiving for your blessings, pray for the needs of the Church, your family, and our community.

Please call the rectory, 561-0885, to confirm the hour you will be there, Friday, July 6, so the church knows someone will always be in attendance. Ask a friend to join you.

St. Patrick's-St. Mary's Church invites you to join them for a parish trip on Thursday, July 12, for a Mets game! The bus will leave promptly at 3 p.m., from the church, and the cost is $70 per person. To register, please call Pam at 561-0885.

Mid-Hudson Chapter of the Adirondack Mountain Club is having an Exploratory Paddle of the Fishkill Creek on Saturday, June 30. This is an easy paddle on moving water that's appropriate for novices, and experienced paddlers will enjoy it, also. You will paddle both ways on the creek, for about 3-4 hours, as the current is not strong. Even though this creek is located in a suburban area, it offers a good wilderness feel.

Any kind of boat is suitable, e.g. rec kayaks, canoes. PFDs must be worn while on the water. Bring lunch, water, paddling gear, sunscreen, and hat. Please contact leader, Russ Faller, (845) 297-5126 (before 9:30 p.m.) or russoutdoors@yahoo.com, for meeting time and place.

May you always have an angel at your side.

There's nothing sweeter than friendship and love, in the hearts of little boys and girls who graduated from Miss Liz's class at Tots-N-Us, than seeing the children having fun and dressing up for their graduation party.

NEW WINDSOR

Historic artifact moved to Edmonston House

Hello New Windsor. My six-year-old son Mattingly had gotten a trampoline as a gift from his grandfather and he had been bugging me to put it together for him. It wasn't a quick project because it came in so many parts and ended up taking me a little over two hours to put it together but when it was finished Mattingly was excited. He got to jump on it for a little while but it was getting late and was a school night so I told him he had to get ready for bed.

The next day my wife was off from work and had let the two dogs out to play, and Homer who is the eight month old half Lab half Doberman puppy decided that he was going to rip apart the netting and exterior mat that covers the springs of the trampoline thus making the trampoline useless.

So now I have to either buy new netting and the mat that will cost more than $100 or figure something else out. Truly I would just really like to throw the trampoline in the garbage but I don't think Mattingly would be too happy with me if I did that!

The National Temple Hill Association has the honor and privilege to now house the Brewster's Forge Fuller. The Fuller (Anvil) was discovered at the remains of Brewster's Forge on Moodna Creek a few years ago and has been waiting for a proper place to be displayed. The Historic Edmonston House was chosen because of its links to blacksmithing and its contribution to American Revolutionary War history. This being the 240th anniversary of the deployment of the chain from West Point to Constitution Island, it is a fitting time to bring this historic artifact to the public's attention.

It was here in New Windsor, at Brewster's forge that the links of "The Great Chain" were assembled before being floated down river to West Point. From the mines of the Ramapo Mountains, to the Sterling Iron Works then on to Brewster's Forge, the iron that became "Washington's Watch Chain" provided a barrier that the British found so formidable that they abandoned their hopes of taking control of the Hudson River. British Generals knew the Hudson was the key to winning the war. Controlling the line of the Hudson would have provided the British with a direct tie to their forces in Canada and divided the colonies in two.

James Edmonston and his son William would have seen the ox carts hauling the rough links past their house on their way to Brewster's forge. Since both were blacksmiths it is also possible that they assisted in some part. The house, built in 1755 served as Headquarters for Major Generals Gates and St. Clair; it also housed medical staff and supplies for the New Windsor Cantonment.

The Trustees and members of the National Temple Hill Association would like to thank New Windsor's Town Supervisor George Green and the Town Board for deciding that The Historic Edmonston House was the appropriate place to display this artifact which has great local and national significance. All are invited to the unveiling on Wednesday July 4 at the Historic Edmonston House, 1042 Route 94, New Windsor. The program will start at 12:30 p.m.

The Town of New Windsor Town Clerk and Receiver of Taxes Offices will be open on Saturday June 30, 9 a.m. - 12 noon for all services including Notary Public, E-Z Pass tags, various licenses, handicap permits, tax payments etc.

For more information please call 563-4611.

The Town of New Windsor Recreation Department is accepting registrations for their upcoming Summer Camp Programs for ages 3-15 years old.

There are full day and half day camp options with before and after camp options and multi-child discounts available. Summer camps start on Monday July 9 and go for six weeks ending on August 17. Please visit nwrecisfun.com for all of the information.

The Town of New Windsor Nancy Pullar Summer Concert Series is on Wednesday's at the New Windsor Town Hall Gazebo from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The eight-week summer concert series is a great night out for family with great music and refreshments. The band, The Ronald Reagans, will be playing tonight Wednesday June 27.

There will be no concert on Wednesday July 4 because of the holiday, and the next concert will be on Wednesday July 11 with the band The Differents performing. For a full list of the summer schedule visit the Recreation Department web site.

Mount students donate truckload of clothing, food to Newburgh Ministry

The end of the semester brought an act of kindness from the students of Mount Saint Mary College, who filled a truck bed with donations for the Newburgh Ministry charitable organization.

Through a program spearheaded by Fr. Gregoire Fluet, college chaplain and director of Campus Ministry; Roger May, assistant director of Campus Ministry; and the college's Residence Life Office, Mount students were encouraged to donate non-perishable food items, gently-used clothing, and hygiene products as they packed up for the semester.

"It's important that we reach out to the community," Fr. Fluet said. "Service is part of life at Mount Saint Mary College."

In addition to Fr. Fluet and May, helping to load the items for transport recently were Colin Seifrit, area coordinator of the College Courts; Deidre Lydon of Bellerose, NY, a Mount Nursing major; Amy Beard, Mount project coordinator for Prevention, Advocacy, and Intervention Programs; and Kelly Palmateer, assistant director of Student Activities.

OBITUARIES

Robert E. Bamberger

Robert E. Bamberger of New Windsor, a retired self-employed contractor and an area resident for 31 years passed away on Tuesday June 19, 2018 at St. Luke's Cornwall Hospital Newburgh, he was 67. Robert is the son of the late Robert F. Bamberger and Grace L. Hartman.

Robert was born on March 16, 1951 in Suffern, NY. He loved spending time with his family, walks in the woods with his dog, creating works of art in his workshop. He is survived by his wife Mary Ann Bamberger at home, his daughter Christy Bamberger and his son Michael Bamberger of Valley Cottage, NY and a step daughter Kia Watson of New Windsor.

Sisters Lynda Bamberger of Florida, Heidi Bamberger of Spring Valley, brother Merryl Hartman and his wife Donna of New City. 4 nieces and 1 nephew.

Services were held on Thursday June 21, at Hudson Valley Funeral Home, New Windsor. Cremation was at Cedar Hill Cemetery Newburgh.

Rose Fugazzotto

Mrs Rose Fugazzotto of South Burlington, VT, went home to be with her Lord early on the afternoon of 18 June 2018 at Birchwood Terrace Nursing Home. Her daughter, Shirley and son Philip and son-in-law Bill Wolford were at her side. She was 99.

She was born September 29, 1918 in Newburgh, where she will be buried.

She had a full and active life. She especially enjoyed the senior club that met at the recreation park in Newburgh for many years. She was a member of the Balmville Presbyterian Church in Newburgh, NY until moving to Vermont in 2013 where she became a member of the North Avenue Alliance Church. She was predeceased by her beloved husband Dominick Fugazzotto in 1979, also her parents, Antonio and Angelina Ragalia Zumbo and her brother James Zumbo and his wife Mary. She is survived by her son, Philip, daughter Shirley and her husband William Wolford, grandson William Wolford Jr. and his wife Madeline, granddaughter Angela Crady and her husband Bruce, granddaughter Francine and her husband Rick Jones, eight great grandchildren and 13 great great grandchildren.

A graveside service was held on Thursday, June 21 at Calvary Cemetery, New Windsor. To send a personal condolence, please visit Brooksfbh.com.

Sophia Barbara Markowitz

Sophia Barbara Markowitz passed into eternal life on May 25, 2018 at The Pines in Poughkeepsie. She was 99.

The daughter of Polish immigrants, Sophia was born in 1919 in Hazleton, PA. She had eight brothers and one sister, all of whom predeceased her.

In 1941, she married Michael Markowitz of New York City, becoming a career military wife until her husband's retirement after thirty-three years of service. The couple had four children. Stationed in Okinawa, as well as several bases in the Northeast US, the family spent numerous years at Stewart Air Force Base in Newburgh. During that time, Sophia was actively involved in the NCO Wives Club; The Gray Ladies (volunteer nursing); the church choir; and the bowling league. She also worked at J and H Smith for over a decade.

After retirement, Sophia remained active in various bowling leagues; the Catholic Daughters of America; The Golden Age Club; and the New Windsor American Legion Women's Auxiliary, where she served as chaplain. A devout Catholic, she served as lector and Eucharistic minister at Our Lady of the Lake Roman Catholic Church, well into her nineties. She also participated in many Town of Newburgh Recreation Department cruises and trips, and attended Gold's Gym, where she enjoyed water aerobics.

Predeceased by her husband Michael of sixty-one years, she is survived by her four children: Michael (Lia) Markowitz; Joyce (Terry) Bird; Cindy (Joe) Beno; and Mark (Marjorie) Markowitz. She was also blessed with nine beloved grandchildren; eleven precious great-grandchildren; and numerous treasured nieces, nephews, and friends.

Sophia was loved by many for her outgoing personality, and she made friends wherever she went. She will be deeply missed.

A funeral mass was held on Tuesday, June 26, at Our Lady of the Lake Roman Catholic Church in Newburgh.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to The American Cancer Society.

Last week a request for prayers was made for Dan Hall who was burned in a boat gas line explosion. His burns are worse than at first reported and he has extensive third degree burns over much of his body and all his limbs and hands, even his lashes were burned off; pain is severe. Please keep him in your prayers.

Two other requests for prayers: Francesca (Fran) Maroni has a brain tumor and one on her pituitary gland, both growing rapidly. In addition to this, Fran cares for her elderly father. This lovely, kind and brave woman and her father need your help to face whatever is before them.

The second request is for a sweet, bright, and brave young woman who is not yet thirty, Jennifer Anastos, who is suffering with kidney failure. Jennifer and Fran, and their families are so grateful for any and all prayers for them.

Plaintiff, v. ANY UNKNOWN HEIRS, DEVISEES, DISTRIBUTUTES OR SUCCESSORS IN INTEREST OF THE LATE JOE LOUIS MCLEAN A/K/A JOE MCLEAN, IF LIVING, AND IF ANY BE DEAD, ANY AND ALL PERSONS WHO ARE SPOUSES, WIDOWS, GRANTEES, MORTGAGEES, LIENORS, HEIRS, DEVISEES, DISTRIBUTUTES, EXECUTORS, ADMINISTRATORS, OR SUCCESSORS IN INTEREST OF SUCH OF THEM AS MAY BE DEAD, AND THEIR SPOUSES, HEIRS, DEVISEES, DISTRIBUTUTES AND SUCCESSORS IN INTEREST, ALL OF WHOM AND WHOSE NAMES AND PLACES OF RESIDENCE ARE UNKNOWN TO PLAINTIFF, MARTIN A. GRANT, NYS DEPARTMENT OF TAXATION AND FINANCE, UNIFUND CCR PARTNERS, AS ASSIGNEE OF CITIBANK, NA, ECONNERGY ENERGY COMPANY INC., NEWBURGH CITY COURT, NORTHSTAR CAPITAL ACQUISITION, LLC A/P/O CAPITAL ONE BANK (USA), PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA BY THE INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, and JOHN DOE, Defendants. TO THE ABOVE NAMED DEFENDANTS;

YOU ARE HEREBY SUMMONED to answer the Complaint in the above action and serve a copy of your Answer on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty (20) days after the service of this Summons, exclusive of the day of service, or within thirty (30) days after completion of service where service is made in any other manner than by personal delivery within the State. The United States of America, if designated as a defendant in this action, may answer or appear within sixty (60) days of service hereof. In case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the Complaint.

Orange County is designated as the place of trial. The basis of venue is the location of the mortgaged premises.

NOTICE YOU ARE IN DANGER OF LOSING YOUR HOME

If you do not respond to this summons and complaint by serving a copy of the answer on the attorney for the mortgage company who filed this foreclosure proceeding against you and filing the answer with the court, a default judgment may be entered and you can lose your home.

Speak to an attorney or go to the court where your case is pending for further information on how to answer the summons and protect your property.

Sending a payment to your mortgage company will not stop this foreclosure action.

TOWN OF MONTGOMERY

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to Article 16 of the Town Law, as amended, and the Zoning Law of the Town of Montgomery, the Zoning Board of Appeals of the Town of Montgomery, New York will hold a Public Hearing in the Town Government Center, 110 Bracken Road, Second Floor, Montgomery, New York on the 16th day of July, 2018 at 7:00 PM or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard to consider the application of John and Eileen Manifold for an Area Variance for the proposed construction of a roof over an existing porch with a setback of thirty-seven feet, six inches (37'6"). The applicant seeks relief from the requirements of Montgomery Town Zoning Law Section 60-20-5 which requires a setback of sixty (60) feet.

The property is located at 19 Snowden Drive in the Town of Montgomery, and is identified as Tax Map Section 7, Block 1, Lot 6. The property is located in the RA-5 zoning district. This property was zoned RA-1 when built.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that any resident of the Town of Montgomery is entitled to be heard upon said application at the public hearing. Copies of the application and plans may be inspected at the Town Government Center during normal business hours. Written comments may be submitted prior to or at the public hearing. Oral comments may be made at the public hearing. Persons may appear in person or by agent.

The Town of Montgomery will make every effort to assure that the hearing is accessible to persons with disabilities. Anyone requiring special assistance and/or reasonable accommodations should contact the Town Clerk.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
PLANNING BOARD OF THE TOWN OF MONTGOMERY

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to Article 16 of the Town Law, as amended, and the Zoning Law of the Town of Montgomery, the Planning Board of the Town of Montgomery, New York, will hold a public hearing in the Town Hall, 110 Bracken Road, Second Floor, Montgomery, New York on the 9th day of July, 2018 at 7:30 p.m. or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard to consider the application of AUTOMOTIVE AUDIO/CLAYTON COTTHAUS, 195 South Plank Road, Newburgh, NY 12550, for a Site Plan approval for a maximum 12,000 SF structure to operate a retail use to sell and install vehicular accessories.

The property that is the subject of this hearing is located on the south side of NYS Rt. 17K, at the east side of the intersection with Maple Avenue, Town of Montgomery, County of Orange. The property is known now or formerly as tax map parcel Section 31, Block 1, Lot 96 and is located in the IB (Interchange Business) zoning district. The parcel is 9.3 acres in size.

The application, plans and supporting materials are on file and available for inspection at the offices of the Town of Montgomery Planning Board.

At this hearing all persons interested will have an opportunity to be heard and any written comments will be received for the record either prior to or at the hearing. Persons may appear in person or by agent. The Planning Board of the Town of Montgomery has determined that this is a Unlisted Action per the SEQRA which will not receive coordinated review. Written comments may be forwarded to Sue Hadden, Planning Board Clerk, 110 Bracken Road, Montgomery, New York 12549 (845-457-2643 or shadden@townofmontgomery.com).

Lap 4 Life celebrates ten years

More than 1500 people participated in this year's Lap Life event at Chadwick Lake Park.

The 10th annual Lap4Life Run / Walk was held June 16 at Chadwick Lake Park in the Town of Newburgh. The event was a huge success, with over 1500 people enjoying the day. There were over 1150 participants. Events included a 4 mile Run, a 4 mile Walk, and a Kid's Fun Run.

The overall run winner was Newburgh's own Grant Boyd who ran the course in 22 minutes and 37 seconds. The top female finisher was Betsy Eickelberg from Leonia with a gun time of 24 minutes and 34 seconds. Full results for each age group and team category can be found on a link on the Lap4Life website.

Prior to the race, the NFA Madrigals kicked off the race by singing our National Anthem. Then Newburgh Town Supervisor Gil Piquadio welcomed everyone to the park. Organizer Maddalena Casabianca-Reade then paid a short tribute to Angelo Casabianca- whose birthday coincides with the Lap4Life event that is held in his memory each year. The event raises money and awareness for Desmoid Tumor research; and LiveOnNY formerly known as the New York Organ Donation Network.

There was not a dry eye in the park when the opening ceremony honoring, "The Parents" began. The "Parents" who lived through the unthinkable tragedy of losing a child. Each mother one by one addressed the crowd telling their child's name and age when they left us. They held a picture of their child which had the dates of their birth and passing along with the Mantra of the Lap4life Foundation, "You Will Never be Left Behind". After 15 parents spoke, the NFA Madrigals sang a moving rendition of Rob Thomas's "Little Wonders". Maddalena then thanked the crowd for sharing 10 Years of "These Small Hours" with Lap4life. The Parent's then released butterflies honoring the children that left us too soon. Motivational signs and pictures of loved ones lost to soon were placed throughout the four mile course.

The event was MC'ed by Chuck Benfer from iHeartRadio. Zumba was led by Jenn Santana. Matt

Booth and Nelly Bombs performed live.

The health fair had over 35 vendors with give-a-ways and information about their companies. Volunteers from LiveOnNy were also onsite, enrolling new organ donors to the registry. A wide range of items were available in the raffle and silent auction section, with all proceeds being donated to benefit the Desmoid Tumor Research Foundation and LiveOn NY.

People raved about the amount and quality of the food that was available throughout the event, all donated by local businesses. One racer was overheard explaining to a new runner "don't go to other races expecting it to be like this- this race is amazing!"

The 10th Annual Lap4Life Event again proved to be another fun filled family day bringing together the community to celebrate life and raise funds and awareness for Desmoid Tumors and Organ Transplant Research. In addition to supporting these two critical health issues, this tribute to Dr. Angelo Casabianca continues to grow, inspire and benefit so many lives each year.

Forgione moves out from behind the plate

By BOND BRUNGARD
sports@tcnewspapers.com

Bryan Forgione graduated last week from NFA after playing on the varsity baseball team for two years, and he played shortstop for the Goldbacks.

But when he reached the varsity team he was a catcher.

"When I came up to varsity, they had that spot locked up," said Forgione. "Shortstop was it."

Forgione was getting ready to play his first game for the Newburgh

Nuclears senior American Legion baseball team this summer, and he started playing baseball when he was about six or seven years old.

"I just really enjoy it," he said. "It takes my mind off school work and other things."

Moving from catcher to shortstop was not seamless for Forgione. At shortstop, Forgione had to make some throwing adjustments to play the position in a proper manner. And he made it work after he asked to make the change from catcher to shortstop.

"Different throwing motion. It was hard making the throw from shortstop at first," said Forgione. "It ended up working out."

Forgione is beginning a summer baseball season when the Newburgh Nuclears' program has found it difficult to field a senior team. But Forgione has been through a year of futility when the Newburgh Goldbacks struggled and again missed the postseason.

"It builds character," he said.

Now Forgione is hoping for a better summer with the senior Nukes. Legion ball likes to attract good high school players and those playing college baseball, and Forgione enjoys the better competition.

"It's a fun environment. It's laid back, but it's still competitive," he said. "We're playing against college kids now and some really good high school kids."

After graduating from NFA, Forgione plans on attending SUNY Orange in the Middletown in the fall, and he wants to play baseball there.

Junior Nukes win 3 of 4 in tourney

By BOND BRUNGARD
sports@tcnewspapers.com

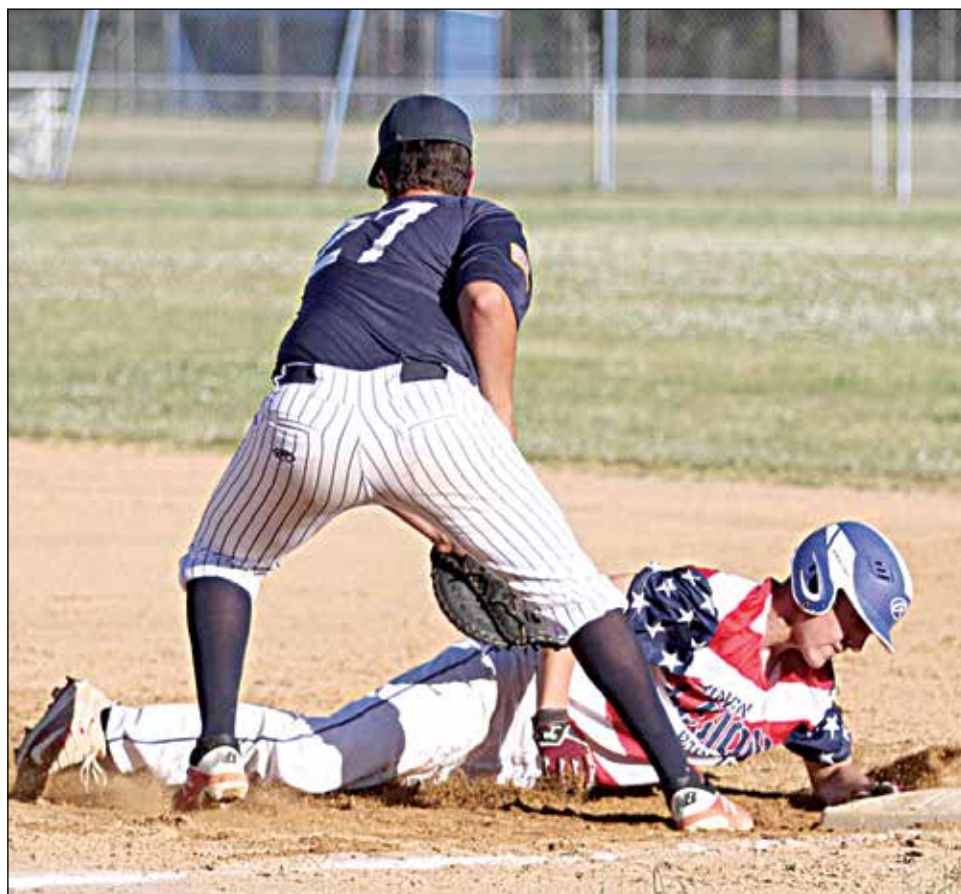

After a strong showing in a weekend tournament, the Newburgh Nuclears' junior American Legion team faced Kingston at home Tuesday, June 19, and did not do so well in a 14-2 loss.

"The team was flat after a long weekend tournament," said Kris Antonacci, Newburgh's assistant coach. "We missed a lot of signs and had some base running mistakes in the first couple of innings where we could have really put them in a hole. Our pitchers could not find the strike zone."

The loss followed the junior Nukes reaching the semis during the Middletown Cobras' annual Father's Day tournament.

The team opened the tournament Friday, June 15 with a 4-3 victory over New Paltz. The next morning the junior Nukes played a team from Clinton County, and Marlboro's Alex Leduc made the difference with a two-run homer in Newburgh's, 4-3, victory.

Newburgh finished the tournament with another victory, beating a Binghamton-area team. After that victory, Newburgh lost to a team from Minisink 11-6 to finish the tournament, which was won by Kingston.

Weathers wins Newburgh-Lloyd legion battle

By BOND BRUNGARD
sports@tcnewspapers.com

Newburgh and Lloyd's senior American Legion teams started last week with a double-header and reached the first fifth inning of the first game before a band of thunderstorms passed through the region and suspended the game.

Lloyd was leading 3-0 Monday, June 18 in the first game and second game will be played July 8. Lloyd entered the game with a 4-4 record after recently stopping Kingston 6-2 when the Clippers trailed 2-0. Frank Alfonso

"We got a run here and a run there and tied it up," said Frank Alfonso, Lloyd's coach.

Lloyd then marched off to victory with three runs in the fifth and another in the sixth to earn that victory.

And it's been a season so far of competitive baseball for Lloyd with many close games minus a 10-3 home loss to Middletown.

"We have had seven really good games," said Alfonso, "and one absolutely terrible game."

If Lloyd entered the suspended game with momentum and hope for the season, Newburgh did so with much ambiguity after the season was in doubt from the beginning.

"They didn't think they could commit to a full season, and I understand that," said Bryan Wilson, Newburgh's coach, of prospective players. "Pretty much at the last minute we are trying to find guys to play to kind of round out the roster."

The senior Nukes have 15 players on the roster and have to cancel their appearance in a Saratoga tournament due to a lack of funding for travel and hotel costs.

"We're piecing together as we go," said Wilson. "The hotel costs and everything, it's just too much money."

The team is planning on attending a tournament in Binghamton, and Wilson and his players are trying to move forward game by game.

"It's a little tough," he said, "but we're making the best of it right now."

Saugerties Lighthouse offers a unique look at the Hudson

By LAURA FITZGERALD

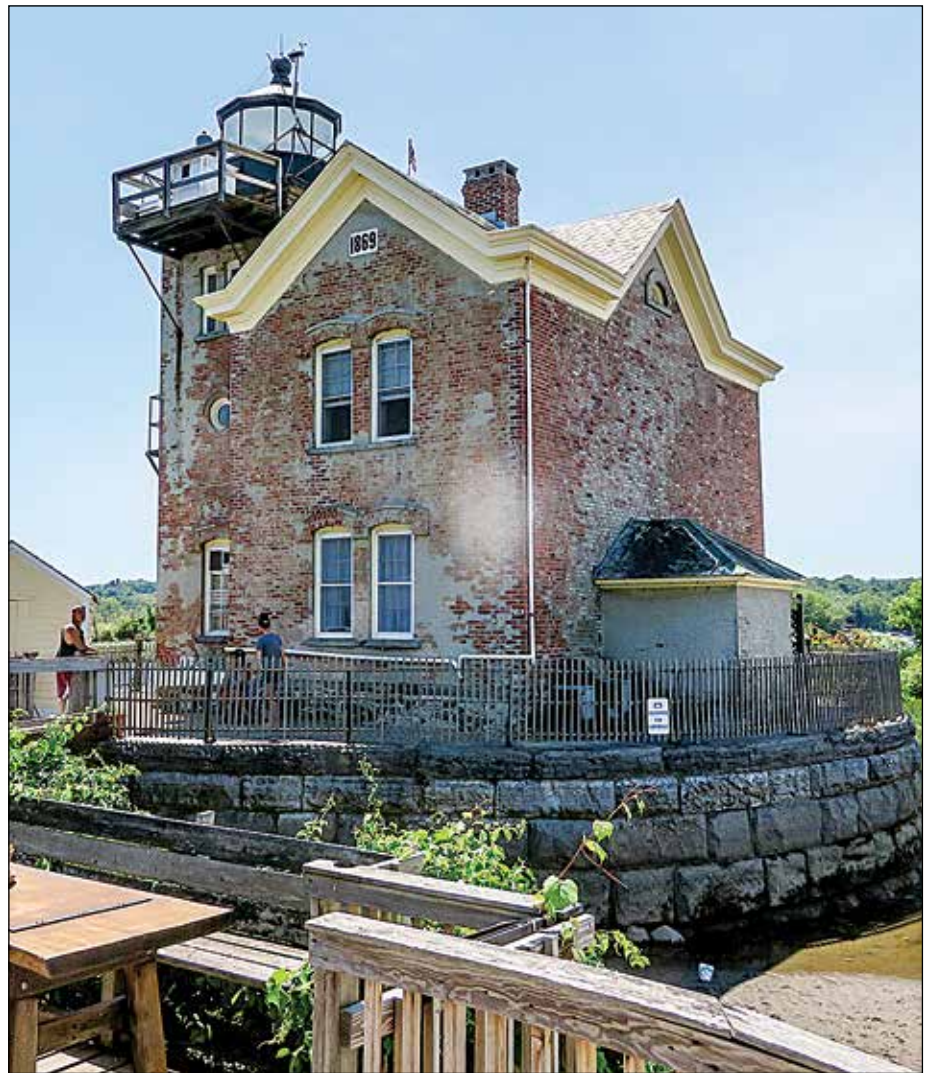

The Saugerties Lighthouse offers beautiful views and a little slice of history on the banks of the picturesque Hudson River.

A short path through the Ruth Reynolds Glunt Nature Preserve opens onto the red-brick lighthouse at the mouth of Esopus creek. Children enjoy a small beach and families picnic on a small island adjacent to the building. A dock offers access for small boats and kayakers.

Keeper Patrick Landewe greets visitors at the door of the house for tours, which starts in the kitchen. It's modeled with appliances and furniture to reflect the turn of the 19 and 20 centuries. Walking into the living room, it's easy to imagine keepers and their families gathering around the warm coal stove on cold winter nights to play games, read, knit or listen to the phonograph.

Pictures of the restoration efforts hang in the hallway. The building was shuttered in 1954 after the Coast Guard automated the light, and it fell into disrepair. In 1979, local historian Ruth Reynolds Glunt and architect Elise Barry placed the lighthouse on the National Register of Historic Places. After years of neglect, Saugerties Lighthouse Conservancy began work to restore the building in 1986.

Decades of exposure to the moist air had caused the lighthouse to practically disintegrate. The tower leaned four inches out of place and the second floor, roof and first floor had completely rotted out. Bricks cracked and tipped dangerously.

The Saugerties Lighthouse sits at the mouth of Esopus Creek, offering a unique day trip or overnight stay.

Massive scaffolding was constructed to support the lighthouse while builders restored the masonry of the tower. More than 10,000 new bricks were hauled in to replace old ones damaged by moisture. Tons of wood, plaster and cement were hauled to the building. Gaps in the limestone seawall grout were filled with durable hydraulic cement. Local craftsman completed the building with woodworking, plastering, and painting. The lighthouse was officially commissioned as an aid to navigation on Aug. 4, 1990.

Landewe leads visitors upstairs to a small museum chronicling the maritime history of the Hudson Valley and the lighthouse.

The lighthouse was a guiding light for boats on a busy transportation hub. The deep-water port attracted many industries, including iron, glass, gunpowder, white lead and bluestone. Many large and small boats, including the Mary Powell, the Ulster, and the lighthouse] was a stone base built with massive stones to withstand the force of the ice in the winter."

The current lighthouse was built in 1869. It's built on durable stone pillars. With the tower on the side, it also was more spacious for keeper's families.

In 1854, the lighthouse was refitted with a state-of-the-art Fresnel lens imported from France. Visible from 10 nautical miles, the lamp required less oil, was easier to operate and brighter.

The original Fresnel lens sits in the little museum. The lens went missing for many years while the lighthouse sat vacant. No one knew what had happened to it until someone found it at a naval base in Virginia, Landewe said.

Keepers would have to check the light every three to four hours a night during fair weather, and even more in bad weather. Fog required maintaining the fog horn, which may have required a constant vigil.

Before the 1930s, the river froze in the winter and blocked ships, so the keepers could catch up on sleep since the light didn't need to be maintained. Sometimes, keepers made a little extra cash in the winter by harvesting ice.

Other artifacts from the lighthouse's history sit in a display case in the little museum. One of them is a pair of old ice skates, which Landewe said were keeper Conrad Hawk's. The keeper was an avid ice-skater and gained a reputation for winning competitions on the river.

Other pictures and news reports of the keepers hang on the walls. One is a news report about one of many rescue missions Keeper Katie Crowley and her sister, Ellen, completed. According to the report, the two sisters spotted a boat loaded with bluestone as it capsized in stormy waters. The sisters set out in their little rowboat, battling large swells, and pulled the two men to safety.

"They didn't think anything of it," Landewe said. "They just thought it was part of life here at the lighthouse and growing up here they probably developed some hearty rowing skills."

Katie started keeper duties when she was only a teenager. Her father, also a keeper, went blind from cataracts, during which Katie and Ellen took care of the light and their ailing parents. Katie officially received the keeper position in 1873, even though she had been doing the work for years.

The first keeper, Abraham Persons, was hired to start on Sept. 25, 1835. He paddled up to the lighthouse, took one look at it, decided he wasn't going to live in the cramped little building and rowed back to live in town. The superintendent of lighthouses traveled to the area from Washington, D.C., just to fire Persons in 1857.

Landewe finished the tour by trekking up a steep flight of stairs and climbing a ladder into the 46-ft tall tower. Offering spectacular views of the Hudson river and the Catskill mountains, the climb is worth the effort.

Guest can stay overnight in one of two bedrooms throughout the year, which pays for the upkeep of the house.

"A place like this really needs to be lived in to be properly look after," Landewe said. "The bed and breakfast helps with that."

The interior of the house is open on Sundays from Memorial Day weekend to Labor Day weekend for docent-led tours from 12 p.m.-3 p.m. The nature preserve and outside of the lighthouse is open everyday during the daylight hours. Landewe said those visiting the lighthouse should consult the tide tables online to avoid encountering water on the path.

July 30-Aug. 3
Young Writers Program. Monday-Friday 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Historic Huguenot Street, 81 Huguenot Street, New Paltz. In one adventurous week, we will tour historic stone houses, explore a wildlife sanctuary, and spend time on a working farm as we learn and write about the remarkably rich history of this land and its people. 845-255-1660.

July 31
Junior Naturalists: Beautiful Butterflies. 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. Minnewaska State Park Preserve, Route 44/55, Gardiner. Join park educators to learn about butterflies and what makes them so unique. We'll search for evidence of their activity, including eggs, caterpillars, leaf chewing and actual butterflies, as we walk the trails in the Peter's Kill Area. We'll also play a fun butterfly game called Flutter-by Butterfly. This program is recommended for six to ten year old children, accompanied by a parent or guardian over the age of 18. Siblings of any age are welcome; however, younger siblings may need parental assistance. Meet at the Peter's Kill Park Office. Pre-registration is required by calling Minnewaska at 845-255-0752.

Aug. 1
Junior Naturalists: Pond Exploration and Blueberry Picking Adventure. 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Minnewaska State Park Preserve, Route 44/55, Gardiner. Join park educators to learn all about the animals and insects that live in ponds, and then we'll pick delicious blueberries! We'll take an approximately two-mile-long hike to visit two remote ponds where children will use nets to search for animals. When we've had enough fun with the pond, we'll pick wild blueberries until our hands are purple! This program is recommended for six to ten-year-old children, accompanied by a parent or legal guardian over the age of 18. Well behaved younger siblings are always welcome. Meet at the Minnewaska Nature Center. Pre-registration is required by calling Minnewaska at 845-255-0752.

Aug. 11
Magic by Monaco. 11 a.m. Center for Performing Arts, 661 Route 308, Rhinebeck. Frank Monaco returns with his fast paced and entertaining magic and comedy show. Live animals, lots of laughs and loads of audience participation add up to a show enjoyed by audiences of all ages. $7. 876-3080.

Aug. 15
Junior Naturalists: Birds. 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Minnewaska State Park Preserve, Route 44/55, Gardiner. Join park educators for a round of birding. Bring your children to learn all about birds by listening to bird calls, touching bird feathers and feet, measuring their wing span and looking at mounted birds. An interactive game will teach them the concepts of gathering food for their young as they pretend to be parent birds and they'll make their own bird mask. Then, we'll take a walk on the picturesque trails in the Peter's Kill Area to look for birds. A few pairs of binoculars will be available to borrow for the walk. This program is recommended for seven to twelve-year-old children, accompanied by a parent or legal guardian over the age of 18. Well behaved younger siblings are always welcome. Meet at the Peter's Kill Parking Area. Pre-registration is required by calling Minnewaska at 845-255-0752.

Aug. 16
Junior Naturalists: Water Cycle & Rain Sticks. 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Minnewaska State Park Preserve, Route 44/55, Gardiner. Join park educators for a fun morning learning about the water cycle. We'll take a hike to visit the Peter's Kill stream and we'll play the Incredible Journey Game, where each child pretends to be a drop of water. Lastly, everyone will make their very own rain stick to take home. This program is recommended for eight to twelve-year-old children, accompanied by a parent or legal guardian over the age of 18. Well behaved younger siblings are always welcome. Meet at the Peter's Kill Park Office. Pre-registration is required by calling Minnewaska at 845-255-0752.

Aug. 18
Il Commedianti. 11 a.m. Center for Performing Arts, 661 Route 308, Rhinebeck. The CENTER is thrilled to host an international puppet production by acclaimed Italian artists Teatrino Giullare! Two actors give life to the stylized and surreal characters of Italian theatrical tradition of Commedia dell'Arte mixing comedy, music and puppetry. Made possible with support from the Province of Bologna, Regione Emilia Romagna. $7. 876-3080.
