

No masks in Town of Plattekill town hall

BY RICK REMSNYDER

Although COVID-19 cases continue to rise in Ulster County, the Town of Plattekill Board decided at its Sept. 1 meeting not to reinstitute a policy that required employees and visitors to wear masks inside Town Hall.

Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan signed an executive order last week requiring all 1,300 county employees and members of the public to wear masks inside all county buildings regardless of vaccination status.

Additionally, based on the current CDC recommendations and a rise in positive cases brought on by the COVID-19 Delta variant, Ulster County Commissioner of Health Dr. Carol Smith issued updated guidance that strongly recommends all members of the public wear masks indoors to slow the spread of the disease throughout Ulster County regardless of vaccination status.

At the time of Ryan's announcement, he said Ulster County had 576 active cases of COVID-19. The county's positivity rate was 5.4 percent heading into September.

Supervisor Joseph Croce read Ryan's directive at the board meeting and then noted that several towns including the Town of Wawarsing decided to require masks inside their facilities again after learning of the County Executive's

Marlboro kicks off 2021-22 school year

By MARK REYNOLDS
mreynolds@tcnewspapers.com

Last week Marlboro Superintendent Michael Brooks said his report to the board was very simple, "Welcome to the 2021-2022 school year. We're very excited to bring all of our children back to our programs. I've wandered through all of our schools and got into a lot of classrooms today [and] just felt the excitement and the nervousness of a first day and wow, we're back. It was such a great feeling."

Brooks acknowledged that one of the bumps in the opening of school is the traffic backups on Route 9W.

"We are aware of it and we will do everything over the next few days to minimize the impact of traffic on that pinch-point down there in the middle of Marlboro by our elementary school. It does get better but it always is going to be a pinch point in the morning and the afternoon when there are so many parents and buses all driving into the elementary school to drop off and pick up. So it is a challenge and we work as closely with our folks on the property to maximize as quickly, safely and efficiently as possible to get our children into the building and out of the building onto transportation." He said the district also works with the police and traffic control partners to see where any corrections and adjustments can be made in the process. He made special mention that members of the new senior class have already painted the asphalt of their parking spots, "and are already on their path towards that graduation stage; a really, really exciting start to the school year."

Bayside Makes Pitch

Eric Baxter, of Baxter Construction and Development, informed the board on the current status of the residential project that has been proposed for the west side of Route 9W, next to the Middle School. During their

Fashion thrift store opens in Highland

By JENNIFER HASBUN

Savvy bargain hunter Marion Goldberg discovered online thrift shopping a few years ago and had begun to sell her own clothing through Poshmark, a social commerce website, when she realized that her passion had the potential to evolve into a full-fledged business venture. In 2020 she opened Attire and Beyond, a boutique that sells new and pre-loved clothing to patrons in downtown Highland. “I thought to myself, what do I tell everyone else? ‘Do what you love.’ And I love this,” Marion explained.

Launching during the COVID-19 pandemic and as other companies shuttered due to loss of income from a lack of foot traffic, Marion had an advantage in that she already knew how to price thrifted clothing fairly; she’d learned from her own Poshmark experience and by watching YouTube videos produced by other resellers. “It’s a great tool, because you can learn to do anything. I watched many videos, and now I make them,” she said.

But in order to open Attire and Beyond, she needed to further her understanding of the ways brick-and-mortar retailers operate. Marion conducted research and utilized online resources to identify what items she would need to open - for example, clothing racks - and where she could find them at a discount.

Her self-teaching proved valuable in maneuvering the business world in spite of the pandemic: she hosted a successful grand opening celebration in June which included a fashion show with games and prizes for participants ages four to 64, and she has plans to host similar events in the coming months.

Attire and Beyond offers shoes, tops, bottoms and accessories in a wide variety of styles - from vintage to bohemian - and carries most sizes. Marion, who advertises herself as being “like a personal shopper,” seeks items that are unique and that she knows other people will love. “It’s about searching out those little gems - they’re like treasures,” she said. Her goal is to provide a community shopping space that offers fun, style and savings to Hudson Valley locals. “I have fun doing it, and someone else gets to enjoy the clothing too. It’s a win-win.”

Marion Goldberg opened Attire and Beyond in June.

Those interested in browsing Marion’s assorted inventory are encouraged to visit the store at 14 Commercial Ave. or shop online at attireandbeyond.com. Attire and Beyond is open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Mondays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays and from 3 . to 7 p.m. on Tuesdays.

Additionally, private viewing appointments can be scheduled for any day of the week by calling (845) 834-2239.

Highland Elementary welcomes new Assistant Principal

Highland Elementary School (HES) has welcomed a new assistant principal, just in time for the start of the 2021-2022 school year. Tulani Samuel, who officially began on September 1, replaces Matthew Darling, who has become the building's new principal.

Samuel, a Wappingers Falls resident, brings decades of experience to her new role. After working in daycares for several years, she transitioned to New York City (NYC) public schools, teaching students in Kindergarten through Grade 3. Before long, she began taking on more leadership roles, working as a school-based new teacher mentor, principal's apprentice, and adjunct professor. Most recently, she served as the assistant principal for all five sites of NYC's Rose Hill Pre-K Center.

When reflecting on what drew her to apply for the position in Highland, Samuel—who recently moved to the Hudson Valley—said she was looking to lend her experience and expertise in early childhood education to a larger school community that serves students in K-5.

"I also wanted to expand my influence as a school building leader to help the children and families in Highland," she said.

Getting to know students, staff, and community members is among Samuel's top priorities. "I am looking forward to forming new relationships with colleagues, getting to know students, and building a rapport with parents," she said.

The new AP also expects to face some challenges in the upcoming school year, the biggest being the ongoing pandemic. "My role will be to help alleviate parents' worries surrounding COVID," she said. "We will pull together as a school community to follow health and safety guidelines and prioritize the well-being of our students and staff."

Samuel holds a bachelor's degree in Information Systems and Organizational Behavior from New York University's Leonard Stern School of Business; a master's degree in Early Childhood Education from Lehman College; and a master's in education degree in School District Leadership from Baruch College.

Even though she has only been with the school district a short time, Samuel said she has already had the chance to meet several members of the Highland community and has been touched by everyone's kindness.

"The Highland Central School District and the Elementary School has given me the warmest welcome," she said. "This is a new beginning. I feel honored and excited to be here, especially as the students return for in-person instruction."

presentation it was noted that they have not yet purchased the property.

Baxter told the board they have applied for an 18 year Payment In Lieu Of Taxes [PILOT] with the Ulster County Industrial Development Agency [IDA], "and going before the school board is a step toward that hopeful approval."

In a recent letter to IDA CEO Rose Woodworth, NYS Sen. James Skoufis [D-NY39] sharply criticized this application.

Dan Rieger, of Rieger Homes, said the Bayside project is a 104 unit apartment complex with a mix of 2 and 3 bedrooms that is proposed for the 25 acre parcel. They will be setting aside 15 apartments as affordable units that will rent from $1,200 to $1,800 per month and the remaining 89 will range from $1,800 to $2,000.

There will be 3 full time employees post construction and up to 100 jobs created during the construction period. He said they expect about $5 million may be pumped into the local economy annually from sales tax and in shopping/services from more than 200 new residents in Marlboro.

Baxter described how the two companies are locally-based and they manage their own projects. He said they take great pride in their work and are concerned how finished projects benefit the communities where they are located.

The company estimated that their project may generate about 60 school age children from ages 3 to 18. The school board pointed out that the cost of educating an average student in Marlboro is $23,000 per year and a special needs student costs $52,000 annually. Taking an average of $25,000/yr and multiplying that by even 40 students translates to a $1 million annual cost to the district. The board posed the question to the developer of how the district would pay $1 million but only take in $106,000 in taxes from the project that will leave the district short by nearly $900,000. That shortfall could go even higher as more students from this project enter the school district. The board had praise for the quality of the work this developer has done but at the moment they believe they are too far apart from a financial perspective.

Baxter said they are seeking a PILOT agreement because construction costs are higher due to the challenge of the site being on a hill and the presence of rock across the property. The mixed use project is expected to cost $31 million to build.

Lauren Rutkowski, Director of Development for Baxter Construction, said the current taxes on the undeveloped site are just over $13,000.

"We're proposing that we would start the PILOT schedule at 20% of the taxes paid and that would stay the same for the first four years and then it would start stepping up over the course of 18 years so in year 19 it would be the full tax burden," she said. "When we would start building our project, year one would be $100,000 paid in taxes and that would continue and grow over the course of 18 years. At the end you would have a cumulative $4 million in taxes paid." It was noted that the school tax is about 60% of the total taxes, thus out of the $4 million collected, the district would receive a cumulative balance of about $2.7 million.

The PILOT agreement they are seeking translates to $6.37 million in tax breaks.

Project attorney Neil Alexander, of Cuddy & Feder, said his clients know that the current uniform exemption policy in Ulster County for an IDA deal for a normal straight lease transaction will not work for them.

"That is why they are here tonight to start talking about a deviation from the policy," he said. "They [IDA] were pushing down from a longer time period to a shorter time period of assistance and they wanted more money on the front end and there was discussion of including affordable units...I think a large part of what tonight is for us is to say please be our partner in that dialog, please share that information, and let's do the math together, so to speak, to see if we can get across the finish line and where the proverbial haircuts have to be in order to do that and hopefully we can get there." He suggested a discussion with a representative from the school board and the IDA as well as with the developer to share information to ascertain the financial and overall long term feasibility of the project.

School Board President John Cantone said he expects the school board will soon be receiving feedback from the public on this proposed project and the PILOT agreement the developer has applied for with the IDA.

Hinchey fights for bill to prevent opioid deaths on campuses

On International Overdose Awareness Day, Senator Michelle Hinchey (SD-46), who represents communities with some of the highest rates of opioid overdose deaths in New York State, called for the state legislature to prioritize her bill to prevent fatal overdoses on SUNY and CUNY campuses in the 2022 legislative session. The legislation (S.3448) requires institutions in the State and City University system to train resident assistants (RAs), who live in student residence halls, in the administration of opioid antagonists, like Naloxone (Narcan), and maintain an on-site supply of opioid antagonists in college-owned and operated student housing. The Senator's bill passed the State Senate unanimously in the 2021 session but never made it to the floor of the Assembly for a vote.

"One of the most devastating aspects of the opioid crisis is that many on-campus overdose deaths could be prevented if Narcan was more widely available," said Hinchey. "When a person has overdosed, there is an extremely limited window of time to get them the help they need, which is why having a reliable supply of Narcan in college dorms, along with trained RAs to administer it, is critical. This legislation reinforces our efforts to reduce the number of opioid-related deaths in our communities and protect a group that is among the highest risk — college students. Getting this bill passed and signed into law is an incredibly important step in combating the opioid crisis and among my top priorities for the 2022 legislative session."

Bryce A. Mack, student and Resident Assistant at SUNY New Paltz, said, "As an RA and a member of the Nassau County Heroin Prevention Task Force, I strongly believe we need to do everything possible to protect our youth. Preparing them for overdose incidents is a benefit for everyone. New York, unfortunately, has many cases of opioid overdoses, so ensuring that our students and staff are safe 24/7 should be a priority."

According to a recent Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) report, drug overdose deaths surged nationally by nearly 30% (more than 93,000 deaths) in 2020, a record that reflected the biggest overall increase in U.S. history. Federal officials attributed nearly three-quarters of the fatal overdoses to opioids. The rise is due in large part to the growing prevalence of fentanyl — a powerful synthetic opioid, 25–50 times more powerful than heroin and 50–100 times stronger than morphine — and the stress from COVID-19 job loss, isolation, and the overall state of unrest. Over the past two decades, the use of opiates by college students has risen dramatically, resulting in increased accidental overdoses.

Community organizations, who would like to partner with Hinchey's office to deliver a Narcan training in their community are encouraged to call 845-331-3810 or email hinchey@nysenate.gov.

Croce began the discussion about the mask policy by pointing out that town employees had enough space in their offices to be at least six feet away from one another. He said employees only wear masks when they are within six feet of residents entering Town Hall to do business.

"I think it's kind of overbearing to say that they have to wear their masks all day when they're here," Croce said. "I don't know where we're going with this Delta variant and how should we react to it or not react at all."

In response to a question from Councilman Mike Putnam, Town Clerk Donna Hedrick said she dons a mask when she meets with the public. Otherwise, she doesn't wear a mask in her office.

"If I have to come out when I do a marriage license or stuff like that, yes I do (wear a mask)," Hedrick said.

Although Councilman Dean DePew was opposed to reinstating the mask mandate in Town Hall, he felt strongly that employees should be allowed to ask visitors to don masks if they are in close contact with one another.

"In my opinion, I think that every employee should have the opportunity to ask anybody who's coming in close proximity to put the mask on," he said.

Councilmen Darryl Matthews, Larry Farrelly and Putnam all agreed with Croce and DePew that they weren't in favor of reinstating the mask mandate. Though no official vote was taken, the current policy of not requiring masks in Town Hall remained in place.

In other news, the board agreed with one minor change to the Survey Monkey questionnaire about the proposed community center. Croce said he would relay the news about the board's approval to Laura Dougherty, secretary of the Park Expansion Committee, so it could go out to the public.

DePew suggested there be a deadline for the public to complete the questionnaire. After some discussion, it was decided to set Nov. 1 as the deadline.

Recreation Director Kim Way proposed changing the town's traditional Halloween celebration at Hurds Family Farm to a "Trunk or Treat" at Thomas Felten Park.

"It's pretty much like a regular Trick or Treat except you're getting the candy from the people at the back of their cars in a community setting to bring all of our community together," she explained.

The board enthusiastically supported Way's idea.

Questions persist on assisted living project

By MARK REYNOLDS
mreynolds@tcnewspapers.com

At the last Lloyd Planning Board meeting, member Sal Cuciti pointed out that the board to date has only received 1/8 inch scale elevations on the proposed Assisted Living Facility [ALF] when 1/4 inch scale elevations are required by the town code. Attorney John Furst, who represents developer Owen Marc Sanderson, responded, "We actually asked for a waiver on that...Originally, it was 1/16th and 1/4 inch was requested and we supplied the 1/8th inch in our last submission. The board has the power to waive site plan requirements and our basis is that you are not going to glean any more information between that 1/4 and 1/8 scale."

Cuciti said most members on the Planning Board are not design professionals, "but if they see each project at the same scale, they get a relative sense of what size it is. So if they see a Stewart's Shop at 1/4 inch scale and a Storage area at 1/4 inch scale and then see an Assisted Living project at 1/4 inch scale they get an idea of the relative scale. That's one of our criteria for site plan approval."

Furst said they have submitted photo simulations of the proposed project from different locations to give the board a sense of the size of the building.

"We're asking, considering all that we've done with respect to the visuals, that the board would waive the 1/4 inch requirement and is happy with the 1/8th inch," he said.

The town code requires a developer to show elevations at 1/4 inch per foot, which in this case, would result in a drawing 8 ft long and reveal the true enormity of the project. Instead, the developer submitted drawings at half the required scale, which shows a much smaller representation of the building. The Planning Board did not discuss Cuciti's point further and the matter was dropped.

Cuciti also noted that the proposed Assisted Living project is, "right up against the setback in the front and right up against the setback on the north side. It's as close to that 1/2 acre residential parcel as it can be. Based on the size of it, I think we should back it off; I don't see how we can put a building that's 380 ft. long and 50 ft.

A depiction submitted by the developer of the Assisted Living Facility that is being proposed on the west side of Route 9W, opposite the Bridgeview Shopping Plaza.

high next to a 1/2 acre parcel that is [zoned] Residential 1/2 acre and put it at the minimum setback."

Cuciti asked attorney Furst about a recent map submission of the ALF building showing the inclusion of the 8+ acre site of the existing Route 9W Storage facility as part of the overall acreage.

Cuciti questioned the role of the storage building lot in the ALF project. Furst said the storage facility lot has no role in the ALF submission and admitted that, "It should not have been included. That's one of the reasons we changed the proposed subdivision to avoid that confusion."

Developer Sanderson built the Storage facility that is right next to the proposed ALF project. He is presently suing the town, claiming that a $6 million assessment of his storage facility is too high.

Cuciti also pointed out that on a recent map of the ALF project a catch basin on the northeast side shows no swale going to it but one was shown on a previous plan submission.

"North and east of the [ALF] building there is a catch basin up on the hill behind the dentist office and there should be a swale and a berm going to it or it's not going to work," he said, suggesting that the catch basin could be connected to the [front] parking lot and the water would then go toward the south. He asked if the present plan might allow water to spill out onto Route 9W, "right in front of the residential lot to the north, literally right in front of that lot." This lot is owned by Dr. Anthony Pascale, who has voiced concerns about possible flooding onto his property from the

ALF project.

An engineer on the project pointed out that the design actually shows water draining in front of their ALF site and moving south and not in front of Dr. Pascale's lot. It was noted that a swale will be put in to catch the runoff from the hillside in order to bypass the property in question.

Planning Board Chairman Scott McCarthy made a point to state that the property up the hill is part of a possible future project and is not part of the present ALF application. Attorney Furst went further, calling any development up the hill "speculation," despite having stated at numerous Planning Board meetings that developer Sanderson has every intention of seeking approval for about 170 + senior living cottages at a later date.

Board member Carl DiLorenzo asked Furst if he had gone to the Zoning Board for a variance because the height of the proposed ALF building exceeds the 35 ft code requirement. Furst challenged that calculation, stating that the height is based upon the average grade.

"We're working with the slope, so the average grade is actually 30 or 32 ft and is well under the height requirement [35 ft] because the definition in your code talks about the average grade," he said. "It meets the code and I believe [Building Department Director] Dave Barton signed off on that." Cuciti has previously pointed out that viewing the project from Route 9W, which is how the public will actually see this project, reveals that the ALF building is 52 ft in height.

The Planning Board voted to close the public hearing on this ALF project. As per Sec. 150-53 F (4) of the town code, the Planning Board has to make a decision, "on the application to approve, disapprove or approve with conditions within 62 days of the date that the public hearing is closed. This time limit may be extended upon the consent of the applicant."

Locally-filmed Hallmark movie to air Sunday

By CONNOR LINSKEY
clinskey@tcnewspapers.com

Village of Maybrook Mayor Dennis Leahy as well as the Main Line Diner will grace television screens Sunday, as the Hallmark Channel film "Redemption in Cherry Springs" is set to air.

Filming took place at the diner on June 14. In the film, Main Line is known as Uncle Joe's Diner. Leahy was asked to appear in the film by the casting director and can be seen in two scenes as an extra.

"It was a good experience and it was great that it was held in the village, so I was happy to do it," Leahy said.

The film's producer Summer Crockett Moore was pleased with the inclusion of Leahy in the film.

"He spent the whole day with us. He's such a delight, he fit right in," she said. "I was like you should be starring in this movie."

In the film, investigative reporter Melanie Abrams and Police Officer Jake Collins look into the disappearance of Melanie's childhood friend Tony in the fictional town of Cherry Springs, New Hampshire. Rochelle Aytes stars as Abrams alongside Keith D. Robinson who portrays Collins.

The majority of the movie was filmed in Newburgh with parts also filmed in Beacon, Maybrook and Middletown. Moore noted that filming was completed on July 2.

Moore along with her husband Tony Glazer manage Umbra Sound Stages. Their production company Choice Films has an office in Newburgh. They specifically wanted to film a production in the Mid-Hudson Region, as that is where they are based.

The film set inside of Main Line Diner.

"We met with Hallmark about a year and a half ago and spoke to them about bringing projects to the Hudson Valley based from where we are," Moore said. "This is their first project and they loved it and they want to come back and do more."

Leahy noted that filming the movie in Maybrook is a positive for the village.

"I think that having something like that inside the village just brings more people into the village just to see what it is about," he said.

Harry Toromanides, owner of the Main Line Diner, believes that the film is a positive for both the village and his restaurant.

"It certainly puts a spotlight on the Village of Maybrook and specifically the diner," he said. "We always welcome the opportunity to show what a small town, family-run establishment looks like and if it appeals to the powers that be in Hollywood so be it. It's great for Maybrook, it's great for the Town of Montgomery and it's great for us as business owners as well."

The film will premiere Sunday, Sept. 12 at 9 p.m. on the Hallmark Channel. The trailer for the film can be viewed on imdb.com.

20 Years...we will never forget

Moments that changed us forever

(Reprinted from the Wallkill Valley Times, Sept. 19, 2001)

There's really not much more that can be said in the aftermath of the past week. September 11, 2001 was a day that changed us all forever.

In the pace of a few days we've seen the worst and then the best of human nature. An unspeakable act claimed countless lives, toppled two landmark buildings and forever erased a feeling of invulnerability.

And we've seen a nation come together in a manner that we had not seen since the outbreak of World War II.

Residents of the Wallkill Valley have responded to the calls for help. They've given blood, donated food, clothing, water and other essential items. They've sent their police officers and their volunteer firefighters down to the scene of the tragedy to run the rescue effort. They've given the entire world a reminder of just how compassionate and strong Americans can be.

The tragedy and the aftermath reminds us of the price we must pay for our freedom. That freedom allows us to attend school board meetings, celebrate Gardiner Day and Plattekill Day and enjoy a life that most of us take for granted.

Last Tuesday, we were awakened. We'll never be quite as innocent as we work before last Tuesday and the anxious moments that changed us forever.

And almost as quickly, we began to rise again. God bless America.

'Say their names'

During the summer of 2020, the refrain "say their names" was echoed over and over again.

This is referring to the black men killed by police, some of whom were criminals.

During a House pro forma session last week more than 30 House Republicans wanted to read the names of the 13 fallen Marines on the House floor. During pro forma sessions no votes are held and no legislative business is conducted but reading the names to honor our fallen Marines didn't seem an extreme request. One of the Republicans was Rep. Brian Mast, a 12-year Army Veteran who served in Afghanistan as a bomb disposal expert under the elite Joint Special Operations Command. The last improvised explosive device that he found resulted in catastrophic injuries, which included the loss of both of his legs.

Rep. Mast related, "We graveled in, had a prayer, said the Pledge of Allegiance, took a moment of silence with pretty much all Republican veterans, then asked to be recognized to read names and bring up Afghanistan legislation." Nancy Pelosi's Democrats refused to honor the 13 Marine heroes.

The road to Bennington

I took the big road north. It was late afternoon and the truck was loaded with honey and garlic and tables and tablecloths and my new pop-up tent. There was no hurry, the festival not until tomorrow. It was comfortable, for a change, the truck cleaned of dust and the windshield polished, and the random dropped tools of summer repairs removed from the floorboards, stored in the shed where they belonged. It was like a fresh start. A new beginning. And I had time on my hands.

Traffic was average and the swing through Albany was smooth and as I glanced at the city, the town seemed to have matured since those raw days when Rockefeller tore down the old center in his flamboyant imperial rage and put up some monstrous modernities. Now, new buildings, with tempered, honorable aspirations, helped blend the city back together, and I was reminded how I can no longer recognize the world's cities simply by viewing their silhouettes. My travel days receding in memory like melting glaciers. Man's relentless energy has transformed what once seemed permanent, solid, a recognizable "place," into just another corner of the blueprint, erased and rewritten on the architect's slanted draft table. For better or worse, the constructed world is renewed in front of our eyes -- if we have a pictorial sense of shapes and a way of holding onto them -- like images held in your eyes after you close your eyelids, the contrasts illuminate. Its like being in the woods and suddenly you can see that, since the last time you noticed them, all the trees are bigger!

Natural Essays

With that, and with the stress of Albany quelled by the knowledge there was a new governor (and hope for the name Tappan Zee!), I crossed the Hudson into a truly broken grey city with a name immersed in Mediterranean mythology and lore -- Troy. This brick and wood city, not rating a pass-though roadway like its gleaming big sister, Albany, Troy's red-lights forced me to stop at the welcoming signage. I took a picture. The Home of Uncle Sam, RPI, and with an Armenian Festival on tap. My good high-school friend, Willie, was an RPI guy (Rensselaer Polytech Institute.) When I found the time, I used to crash his party and take in a hockey game (campus religion) and listen transfixed to the bright boys' conversations, back then, 1969-70, of all the concentration and speculation on semi-conductors, chips, silicon, chip design, silver channeling, wafers, gates -- soon to become all the catchwords -- bits and bytes -- of the coming world, a world transformed by them! They showed me this stuff -- the blueprints for reducing everything to positive or negative, and in reducing it, creating infinity.

Troy stood its ground and I angled ever eastward, climbing away from the river. Trees returned to the landscape and the sunlight was bright yellow and the green of the leaves was as deep and full as it would ever achieve this season. The topography crested and I felt on the slope down to Vermont.

Shadows lengthened and I was looking for a bar. Not any bar, but a bar on Route 7, a fixture in trout fishermen's lore, as it was a stopping off point, coming and going, to the great trout streams: the Hoosick River, the Walloomsac River, and Little White Creek. Here it was -- "Man of Kent Tavern and Café," the sign peeling and unlit, the exterior floodlights expired, or the wiring frayed, I felt immediately comfortable.

In the morning, after a light dew, I slipped down into Bennington, quietly passing the big white church with steeple, and into a city I could still recognize by its profile punctuated by the Green Mountain Boys Monument.

The crowd at the festival was like a wolf pack, a shiver of sharks. I could have sold all my garlic at one festival. After being pent up with the pandemic for a year and a half, people were soaking up the sun and spending their dough on garlic like it was medicine, and, absolutely, it is just that, medicine.

The weathered sign welcomes you to the Man of Kent Tavern.

This is the same Speaker who went over-the-top to honor the Capitol Police involved in the January 6th Capitol riots, none of whom were killed. The only person killed that day was Air Force Veteran Ashley Babbitt who was shot and killed by Capitol Police Lieutenant Michael Byrd.

Apparently, the Democrats don't want to admit that Afghanistan was and is a disaster that Biden created and will stoop so low as to not even allow the names of our fallen Marines to be read aloud on the House floor.

Pollinator gardening

Pollinator gardening is becoming very popular. More people are turning some part of their lawns into fields where bugs, bees and birds are fed and their life cycles sustained.

There is growing awareness that these creatures rely on native plants to lay eggs and/or feed their young.

Due to consumer interest some nurseries are displaying signs on some plants stating "pollinator friendly". That's good.

What isn't so good is that the same plants might have been treated with insecticides which would harm the pollinators we wish to protect. We consumers need to ask our local nurseries whether this is the case. We consumers have the power of the purse and by questioning, can convince nursery owners to supply us with plants not subjected to insecticides. This is another way you can help reverse the tremendous loss of pollinators.

Urge Governor Hochul to support aggressive climate policies

The article about a new solar project moving ahead in Town of Shawangunk is good news for a change. The latest findings of climate scientists emphasize how quickly climate change is impacting our planet and should make us welcome any projects focusing on renewable and green energy. Our new governor, Kathy Hochul needs to show her commitment to aggressive climate policies such as those that phase out new gas-powered cars by 2030.

The Climate and Community Protection Act (CLCPA) of 2019 sets ambitious goals that calls for 70% carbon free electricity by 2030 and 100% by 2040 which effectively puts a moratorium on new gas infrastructure. To comply with this law, we need to urge our new governor to deny permits for new gas-fired power plants such as Danskammer.

Our choices now will determine what kind of Climate crisis

I call on DEC Commissioner Basil Seggos to deny the air quality permit for the new Danskammer plant, upholding the intent of the Climate Leadership and Community Protection Act (CLCPA). I also call on Gov. Kathy Hochul to give her full support to tackling the climate crisis.

Constructing a new plant that still consumes and produces fossil fuels is inefficient. Instead of installing technology designed to perpetuate the “business-as-usual,” “smash-and-grab” approach right up to the point when the CLCPA will no longer permit it, Danskammer LLC has the opportunity right now to construct a renewable-energy plant ahead of schedule.

Danskammer is perfectly poised to alternatively invest the $600 million it expects from creditors and investors in a utility-scale bulk battery storage facility.

This alternative type of storage is an economically sound choice because it aligns with the evolution of the energy market toward clean energy sources, numerous financial incentives support it, and it is able to be built in stages.

Battery storage is a flexible and attractive use for the present site, which is suitable for a capacity up to 190 megawatts, Danskammer would be eligible for financial incentives, and battery storage can coexist with other potential waterfront commercial and/or recreational uses.

And, of course, there is the issue of jobs.

The clean energy industry is creating more good-paying jobs than the fossil fuel industry.

For the same amount of energy produced, renewable energy jobs require two to five times as many workers as fossil fuel jobs.

Flooding and climate change are linked

The recent flooding in our area is yet another immediate wake-up call urgently telling us that we must address the warming climate that is causing such destruction and devastation. As mayor Bill de Balsio said, it’s “... the biggest wake-up call we could ever get”. And there will be more to come.

It is known that severe weather events are related to climate change. A warming climate resulting in not just more storms but storms of greater intensity, stronger and wetter. Storms that will affect our area.

The behemoth fossil fuel companies would have you believe that we have time to address climate change and we should patiently let them carry on business as usual. They would have us leave it to our children to live with the crisis they are creating now.

Gov. Kathy Hochel, the state legislature, and the state regulatory agencies must put a halt to new construction of fossil fuel power plants, such as those proposed at Danskammer and Astoria. And they must start the effort to seriously begin phasing out existing ones, replacing them with wind and solar energy generated right here in New York.

This is a crisis that needs to be dealt with today. We need to stop burning fossil fuels now to help avert the worst effects of climate change, the code red for humanity.

Marlborough Historical Society of New York

"Bricks, Books and Google: An Improbable Presentation"

On Sunday, September 26, at the Cluett Schantz Memorial Park Pavilion, the Marlborough Historical Society of New York will host a presentation by John Haluska entitled, "Bricks, Books and Google: An Improbable Presentation."

"Starting in 1947 my stay in the town of Marlborough began. My dad took a job as a Vocational Agriculture teacher in Marlboro High School. Our first home was where the Peter Maurin farm is on Lattintown Road. By and by we were a growing family and wound up on Sands Avenue in Milton. I graduated from MCHS in 1962, Halusk writes:

"My interest in bricks was historical (as you will learn) as well as practical. They make for great patios, and they still do. There are three brick patios where we live in Guilderland NY today."

TAMMY RUGGERI

236-9998
telltammy123@gmail.com

"I appraised real estate for 25 years and from time to time I was able to 'rescue' a brick from a kind homeowner. As a prior Social Studies teacher my real interest was in the history of the brickmaking concerns. We have lived in several municipalities that have featured brick such as Saugerties as well as Albany."

"Milton has always been special. The memory of the steam engine pulling the Railway Express mail car and passenger cars is still with me as is the docking of the first oceangoing tanker at the 'Shell' dock. What a joy it is to see the restoration of the rail depot as well as the new docks."

In the event of inclement weather, the event will take place on Sunday, October 17.

butter, cinnamon, sugar, and salt. Press into bottom of prepared pan and up the sides.

In a large bowl using a hand mixer (or in the bowl of a stand mixer), beat cream cheese, caramel, and sugar together until completely smooth. Add eggs, one at a time, then stir in sour cream and vanilla. Add flour, salt, and cinnamon and beat until just combined. Pour mixture over crust.

SCHOOL NEWS

Highland students RaCE to the Summer Science Camp

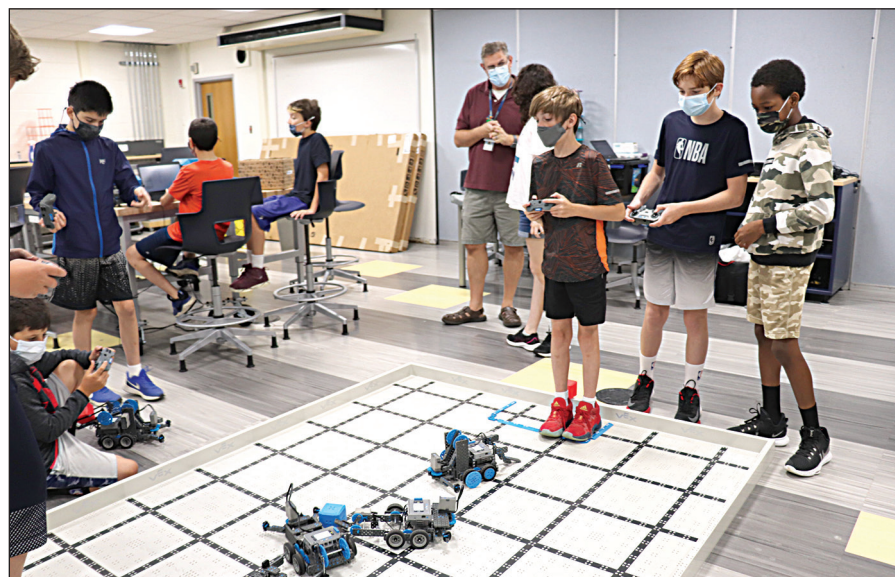

Highland Central School District (HCSD) students entering Grades 6 through 12 were able to participate in a week-long Robotics and Coding Experience (RaCE) camp at Highland High School this summer. Highland science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) teachers Sean Banks and Adam Iannazzone led the camp, which was offered in two sessions.

Each session included 14-18 students with interests in robotics, coding, and gaming. The students worked with a Vex IQ robot kit that came with a battery, controls, and software to download for programming. Once built, the students used a remote control to operate their robots. They later took their skills up a notch and wrote code to program the robots.

Once the robots were operational, Banks and Iannazzone tasked students with challenges and games to demonstrate their creations' capacity. The floor was set up with a large arena, and the students maneuvered their robots through Capture the Flag and modified soccer challenges. They later coded their robots to drive around a square, maneuver through a maze, and more.

While removing the robotic claw from his robot, and digging into writing the code to program it, Grade 6 student Landon Palmisano said he's an experienced robot builder, and has spent upwards of seven to eight hours in one sitting creating Lego robots. Osei Adoma, who is entering Grade 12, felt the programming component was more challenging than building the robot itself. Adoma is planning to enter the Computer Science field, though uncertain what he wants to do in it yet.

A group of Highland Middle School students test out their robotic creations.

Jayden Benjamin, entering Grade 6, and Cameron Albers, entering Grade 8, fine tune their motorized robot.

"I had trouble literally thinking 'inside' the box," said Samantha D'Aragona, who is entering Grade 11. D'Aragona was working on getting her robot to travel around a square tile on the floor. "I am trying to program my robot to turn in a different way now. I am not really an in-the-box thinker." D'Aragona is preparing to enter the Ulster BOCES Career & Technical Center to study Digital Design. She has been taking iD Tech design and digital courses online at home to learn game programming, which she hopes to hang onto as a hobby while she studies and works with robots professionally one day. Samantha finally nailed it, and got her robot to go in the square.

Iannazzone said the students did well with creative problem-solving and figuring out how to put their ideas into action, and overcame challenges presented with the typical difficulties, such as how to attach the motor, gears, or heavier accessory parts.

Banks explained that programming involves way more than playing on a cell phone. "There are so many practical applications; surgeons do surgeries with robotic arms, fast food chains are using self-order kiosks, which have to be programmed," he said. "Automation is happening and all of it requires programming. The ability to write code is invaluable."

A timeline of the morning of September 11, 2001

On the morning of September 11, 2001, 19 terrorists hijacked four commercial airplanes bound for California. The planes departed from airports in Boston; Newark, NJ; and Washington, D.C. September 11 would become an infamous date in American and world history, and the events of that day would forever change the world. As the world commemorates the 20th anniversary of 9/11, the following timeline, courtesy of the National September 11 Memorial & Museum, can help people fully understand how events unfolded on that late-summer morning two decades ago.

- 5:45 a.m.: Two of the hijackers pass through security at Portland International Airport in Maine. The men will take a short flight to Boston Logan International Airport, where they will join three other hijackers and board American Airlines Flight 11.
- 6:00 a.m.: Two of the hijacked planes, American Airlines Flight 11 and United Airlines Flight 175, will eventually crash into the North and South Towers of the World Trade Center complex in New York City. The day was a significant one on the New York City political calendar, as polling stations opened at 6 a.m. for primary elections.
- 7:59 a.m.: American Airlines Flight 11 takes off from Boston with 11 crew members, 76 passengers and five hijackers on board. The plane, which will eventually crash into the North tower at the World Trade Center, is filled with more than 76,000 pounds of fuel.
- 8:15 a.m.: United Airlines Flight 175 takes off from Boston with nine crew members, 51 passengers, and five hijackers on board. This flight also is loaded with 76,000 pounds of fuel.
- 8:19 a.m.: American Airlines ground personnel are alerted by flight attendant Betty Ann Ong that Flight 11 is being hijacked. This call lasts roughly 25 minutes and Ong reports that the cockpit is unreachable. In the moments before Ong's call, one of the hijackers stabbed Daniel M. Lewin, who was sitting in front of him in first class. Lewin is likely the first person killed in the 9/11 attacks.
- 8:20 a.m.: American Airlines Flight 77 takes off from Washington Dulles International Airport. The flight has 49,900 pounds of fuel and is carrying six crew members, 53 passengers and five hijackers.
- 8:21 a.m.: The transponder on Flight 11 is turned off. This device is meant to allow air traffic controllers to identify and monitor the flight path of a plane.
- 8:24 a.m.: One of the hijackers of Flight 11 unwittingly broadcasts a message to air traffic controllers alerting them to the attacks. The hijacker was attempting to communicate with passengers and crew within the cabin.
- 8:30 a.m.: Around this time, roughly 80 people have already begun gathering on the 106th floor of the North Tower of the World Trade Center for a financial technology conference. The conference is one of many events on the Trade Center schedule that day.
- 8:37 a.m.: The Boston Air Traffic Control Center alerts the military that a hijacking is under way.
- 8:42 a.m.: United Airlines Flight 93 takes off from Newark International Airport. The flight was due to take off at roughly the same time as the other hijacked planes, but was delayed due to routine traffic. Seven crew members, 33 passengers and four hijackers are on board. The flight is filled with 48,700 pounds of fuel.
- 8:46 a.m.: Five hijackers crash Flight 11 into floors 93 through 99 of the North Tower of the World Trade Center. Hundreds, including everyone on board the flight, are killed instantly. The crash severs all three emergency stairwells, trapping hundreds of people above the 91st floor.
- 8:46 a.m.: Police, paramedics and firefighters are sent to the North Tower.
- 8:50 a.m.: While visiting an elementary school in Florida, U.S. President George W. Bush is notified that a small plane has hit the North Tower.
- 8:52 a.m.: A flight attendant aboard Flight 175 reaches a United Airlines operator in San Francisco and reports the flight is being hijacked. By 9 a.m., various passengers on Flight 175 have called family members.
- 8:55 a.m.: The Port Authority informs people inside the South Tower via a public address system that the building is secure and there is no need to evacuate.
- 8:59 a.m.: The Port Authority Police Department orders both towers evacuated. One minute later Captain Anthony Whitaker expands the order to include all civilians in the entire World Trade Center complex.
- 9:02 a.m.: An evacuation order is broadcast in the South Tower.
- 9:03 a.m.: Five hijackers crash Flight 175 into floors 77 through 85 of the South Tower. All onboard the flight are killed, as are an unknown number of people inside the building. Two of the three emergency stairwells are impassable and most elevator cables are severed, trapping many people above the impact zone and inside elevator cars.
- 9:03 a.m.: A second call for mobilization brings the total number of New York City Police Department officers responding to the scene to roughly 2,000. In addition, the FDNY issues a fifth alarm and deploys several hundred additional firefighters to the scene.
- 9:05 a.m.: President Bush is informed that a second plane has crashed into the World Trade Center.
- 9:12 a.m.: Flight attendant Renée A. May calls her mother and tells her that hijackers have seized control of Flight 77. When May's call is disconnected, she calls American Airlines.
- 9:30 a.m.: Amidst reports of additional hijacked planes, the Mayor's Office of Emergency Management at 7 World Trade Center is evacuated.
- 9:37 a.m.: Hijackers crash Flight 77 into the Pentagon. All 53 passengers and six crew members perish, and 125 military and civilian personnel on the ground are killed in the fire caused by the crash.
- 9:42 a.m.: The Federal Aviation Administration grounds all flights, ordering all civilian planes in United States airspace to land. Departures also are prohibited.
- 9:45 a.m.: Evacuations at the White House and the U.S. Capitol begin. Both the House of Representatives and Senate are in session at the time the evacuation begins.
- 9:58 a.m.: Flight 93 is flying so low to the ground that passenger Edward P. Felt is able to reach an emergency 911 operator in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania.
- 9:59 a.m.: The South Tower collapses after burning for 56 minutes. The tower collapses in just 10 seconds.
- 9:59 a.m.: Continuity-of-government procedures are implemented for the first known time in American history.
- 10:03 a.m.: Four hijackers crash Flight 93 into a field near the town of Shanksville, Pennsylvania. All 33 passengers and seven crew members on board perish. Passengers and crew had stormed the cockpit, and the plane ultimately crashes just 20 minutes' flying time from Washington, D.C.
- 10:15 a.m.: The E Ring of the Pentagon collapses.
- 10:28 a.m.: The North Tower collapses after burning for 102 minutes. More than 1,600 people are killed as a result of the attack on the North Tower.
- 11:02 a.m.: New York City Mayor Rudolph Giuliani urges the evacuation of lower Manhattan.
- 12:16 p.m.: The last flight still in the air above the continental United States lands. Within two and a half hours, U.S. airspace has been cleared of roughly 4,500 commercial and general aviation planes.

The terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001 were perpetrated on American soil and in American airspace, but the tragedy that unfolded on 9/11 affected countries across the globe. The attacks on 9/11 claimed the lives of citizens of 78 countries. People around the world mourned those who perished in the attacks, and various world leaders made comments that reflected the global impact of the senseless acts of violence that were perpetrated on 9/11. The comments from then-German Chancellor Gerhard Schroeder reflect how shaken the world was in the aftermath of the attacks. "They were not only attacks on the people in the United States, our friends in America," Schroeder said, "but also against the entire civilized world, against our own freedom, against our own values, values which we share with the American people."

How the U.S. has changed

The fact that the U.S. changed forever on Sept. 11, 2001 is undeniable. Anyone who lived through the day's events and the aftermath sensed the changes.

Twenty years later, much of life has returned to its routines, but the marks left by the terrorist attacks remain.

Wars

The United States has been at war constantly since Sept. 11, 2001. Within a month of the attacks, U.S. forces invaded Afghanistan in pursuit of al-Qaeda, which claimed responsibility for the attacks. In 2003, the U.S. invaded Iraq as part of the War on Terror. The war in Afghanistan, which drew to a close in mid-2021 as the U.S. finally pulled all of its troops out of the country, is the longest-running war in the country's history.

Brown University's Watson Institute of International and Public Affairs lists the following effects of the post-9/11 wars.

- More than 801,000 people have died due to direct war violence, and several times as many due to the reverberating effects of war.
- More than 335,000 civilians have been killed as a result of the fighting.
- About 37 million war refugees and other people have been displaced.
- The costs to the U.S. for these wars has been over $6.4 trillion.

Flying

The effects on air travel were intense immediately following Sept. 11. Commercial flights in the U.S. were grounded for days, and when they did resume, security was tight. Travelers have seen long lines, full body scans and other screening measures, and restrictions on items they can carry onto airplanes. The Transportation Security Administration grew to a massive size as it took over security duties that had previously been performed by private companies. The changes have made air travel more burdensome for travelers and at times infringed on their privacy.

Surveillance

Americans also have seen their privacy encroached upon by surveillance measures related to the War on Terror. According to PBS, audits have shown the National Security Agency annually had read "56,000 emails and other communications by Americans with no connection to terrorism, and in doing so, had violated privacy laws thousands of times per year." The scope of the problem came into focus in 2013, when CIA contractor Edward Snowden released classified documents regarding surveillance NSA programs.

Immigration and Anti-Immigrant Violence

Sept. 11, 2001 had major impacts on immigration in the U.S. The creation of the Department of Homeland Security saw immigration agencies shuffled and strengthened. The number of annual deportations of immigrants doubled between 2001 and 2013, when it peaked, and while the numbers have declined, they remain much higher today than they were 20 years ago.

The aftermath of 9/11 also brought an increase in anti-immigrant violence, especially against Muslims. Although the 9/11 attacks were carried out by Muslim extremists, innocent Muslims in the U.S. found themselves the target of attacks. In 2000, the FBI reported that it had handled 12 cases of anti-Muslim assault. In 2001, that number was 93. Another spike — 127 cases — occurred in 2016.

Marking 20 years

As the grim 20-year anniversary of the Sept. 11, 2001 attacks approaches, the memorials set up at each site prepare to mark the significance of the day.

The 9/11 Memorial and Museum's activities are designed to "share the history and lessons learned with a new generation, teach them about the ongoing repercussions of the 9/11 attacks, and inspire the world with memories of our fortitude, strength and resilience," according to its website. "Despite our shared grief in the aftermath of 9/11, hope, resilience, and unity lifted us up as a nation. Twenty years later, these lessons are more important than ever."

Here's a roundup of some of the planned events.

The 9/11 Memorial and Museum

Annual commemoration. The memorial will continue its annual practice of reading the names of the victims aloud and observing six moments of silence marking major events of the day.

Tribute in Light. This year, the memorial will expand its annual Tribute in Light, during which the sky above the city is illuminated from dusk on Sept. 11 until dawn on Sept. 12. This year's event will be citywide, when buildings across the city will be lit up in blue.

The Never Forget Fund. The 9/11 Memorial & Museum also has launched the Never Forget Fund in advance for the anniversary. The initiative is intended to support the organization's educational programs "and preserve its significance as a sacred place of remembrance, reflection and education."

Anniversary in the Schools Webinar. A free webinar for schools will include a film highlighting first-person accounts of the attacks, and allow viewers to interact with museum staff via live chat. It will be available on-demand beginning Sept. 10.

Flight 93 National Memorial
The Memorial will hold its annual September 11 observance at Memorial Plaza. The names of the passengers and crew members will be read, the Bells of Remembrance will be rung, and a wreath will be placed at the Wall of Names. The ceremonial gate to the crash site will be opened and family members will walk out to the crash site.

Recovery continues

Long after the debris from the Sept. 11, 2001 attacks was cleared, families of those who lived and worked in Downtown Manhattan are still grappling with the very real long-term consequences of that day.

Two major federal programs provide help to the victims, their families and others affected by the disasters that took place that day.

September 11th Victim Compensation Fund

The September 11th Victim Compensation Fund, according to its website, provides compensation to “individuals (or a personal representative of a deceased individual) who were present at the World Trade Center or the surrounding New York City Exposure Zone; the Pentagon crash site; and the Shanksville, PA, crash site, at some point between September 11, 2001, and May 30, 2002, and who have since been diagnosed with a 9/11-related illness.”

The fund extends to those who helped clean up the disaster site in roles such as construction, clean-up, and debris removal, as well as people who lived, worked, or went to school in the affected areas.

In 2019, President Donald Trump signed a bill that permanently extended and funded the program. The Congressional Budget Office said the extension would provide more than $10 billion over a decade. It extended the deadline to file a claim to October 1, 2090.

World Trade Center Health Fund

The World Trade Center Health Program is a limited federal health program administered by the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health, part of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. The program pays for certain health care services to first responders who helped with rescue, recovery, debris cleanup and related support services between Sept. 11, 2001 and July 31, 2002, as well as people who worked, lived or attended school or daycare in the World Trade Center area. The program, which has no co-pays, deductibles or out-of-pocket expenses for covered treatments is authorized to operate through 2090.

Services are offered at clinics in the New York metropolitan area, and at a nationwide network of health care providers. According to the CDC, people who were exposed to the conditions in the area on and after 9/11 might have a related health condition and not know it. Common issues include chronic cough, heartburn and anxiety. Health care providers who participate in the program are experts at diagnosing and treating related health conditions.

Treatment data gained through the program is used to help identify related conditions and help health researchers understand the full effects of 9/11 on public health.

Welles Crowther: A 9/11 Hero

Welles Crowther was a 24-year-old equities trader at Sandler O'Neil and Partners on the 104th floor when United Airlines Flight 175 hit the South Tower of the World Trade Center. He called his mother and left a voicemail: "Mom, this is Welles. I want you to know that I'm OK."

Helping many to safety

After that call, however, Crowther's instinct as a former volunteer firefighter as a teen kicked in. He made his way down to the 78th floor sky lobby and became a hero to strangers known only as "the man in the red bandana."

According to Mic: "Amid the smoke, chaos and debris, Crowther helped injured and disoriented office workers to safety, risking his own life in the process. Though they couldn't see much through the haze, those he saved recalled a tall figure wearing a red bandana to shield his lungs and mouth."

"He had come down to the 78th-floor sky lobby, an alcove in the building with express elevators meant to speed up trips to the ground floor. In what's been described as a 'strong, authoritative voice,' Crowther directed survivors to the stairway and encouraged them to help others while he carried an injured woman on his back. After bringing her 15 floors down to safety, he made his way back up to help others."

'He's definitely my guardian angel'

"Everyone who can stand, stand now," Crowther told survivors while directing them to the stairway exit. "If you can help others, do so."

Crowther was credited with saving at least a dozen people that day.

Crowther's body was later recovered alongside firefighters in a stairwell heading back up the tower with the "jaws of life" rescue tool, according to Mic.

"He's definitely my guardian angel — no ifs, ands or buts — because without him, we would be sitting there, waiting [until] the building came down," survivor Ling Young told CNN.

How to honor first responders

This fall marks the 20th anniversary of the 9/11 terrorist attacks. The attacks on September 11, 2001 remain the deadliest terror attacks in world history, claiming more than 2,900 lives and causing countless injuries and long-term health problems for tens of thousands of civilians and first responders.

The 20th anniversary of 9/11 will no doubt evoke responses that span the emotional spectrum. Sadness may dominate such responses, but the anniversary of 9/11 also is a great time to reflect on the efforts of first responders. First responders played a vital role on 9/11, and many lost their lives and/or suffered long-term health consequences resulting from their selfless efforts to save innocent victims of the attacks.

In the two decades since the 9/11 attacks, first responders have continued to make countless sacrifices to ensure their communities are safe and peaceful places to call home. The 20th anniversary of 9/11 is a great time to recognize the efforts of first responders and honor them for all they do.

Donate to local fire departments.

According to the U.S. Fire Administration, 54 percent of active firefighting personnel are volunteers. Many of those volunteer firefighters work for underfunded departments that are in need of financial support. Donating to such departments is a great way to show first responders how much their efforts are appreciated. Donations may be used to purchase new equipment, upgrade existing facilities, provide vital training, and/or improve response times, the latter of which can increase the likelihood that firefighters make it through calls safe and sound.

Back legislation to support wounded first responders.

Many first responders suffer significant mental and physical injuries while on the job. Various nonprofit organizations help wounded first responders who may need to make modifications to their homes or purchase costly equipment to get through their daily lives. But nonprofit organizations cannot go it alone in support of wounded first responders. Citizens can do their part by promoting and voting for local, state and national legislation that makes it easy for wounded first responders to get the help they need, when they need it. In addition to urging local politicians to support such legislation, private citizens can utilize social media to promote proposals and other efforts to support wounded first responders. Many 9/11 first responders are still fighting for government-backed support to treat injuries suffered 20 years ago, and a vocal citizenry can be a strong asset in their fight and the fight of countless others in need of help.

Commit to support year-round

The 20th anniversary of 9/11 will call attention to the efforts of first responders on that day 20 years ago as well as the countless times since then that these brave men and women have served their communities. But first responders deserve vocal, year-round support. Make a concerted effort to thank policemen, firefighters, EMTs, nurses, and doctors in your community whenever you interact with them, and urge others to follow suit.

First responders play a vital role in communities across the globe. The 20th anniversary of 9/11 can serve as a catalyst for communities to express their support for first responders.

In Tribute to Those Lost

Two decades later, and every day, we honor and remember those lost on September 11, 2001.

We also remember the families – including so many in our Hudson Valley – whose lives were forever changed.

We share our deepest gratitude for the courageous members of our military and first responders for your selfless service to our great nation.

Your sacrifices are forever in our hearts.

Your humanity is forever in our minds.

Thank you. And Never Forget.

Local tourism industry on the rise after COVID

By CONNOR LINSKEY
clinskey@tcnewspapers.com

Business has improved as of late for Active Lifestyle Tours, LLC after the company braved the worst parts of the COVID-19 pandemic thus far.

The company launched in the summer of 2019. In the business' first few months, William Farrell, the company's owner and a resident of Marlboro, held just a few tours as he got a feel for the tourism industry.

Then the pandemic hit in March 2020, which greatly affected the tourism industry.

"It pretty much just shut tourism down," Farrell said regarding the worst months of the COVID-19 pandemic. "Getting a lot of people traveling was really difficult and tough. I kinda had to wait."

Farrell is also a full-time firefighter with the City of Poughkeepsie Fire Department. This job helped him support himself as his tourism business struggled during the worst months of the pandemic. At that time, he promoted his tourism business by placing ads on Google as well as social media.

Business started to pick up in May 2020 and got progressively better through the summer months. People wanted to go outside after spending months cooped up in their homes. Farrell noted that the company had its most business in the fall of 2020. Active Lifestyle Tours had a solid summer and Farrell hopes that business will be as busy as it was last fall.

Farrell is an avid traveler. His willingness to show off New York to others, as well as his passion for the outdoors were his drive to start his tourism business. Farrell has traveled to over 30 countries and 40 U.S. states. He has a true love for the travel and tour industry, which he has been a part of since 2013. In addition to working as a firefighter, Farrell also works as a trip director for an international travel company. He has managed trips for group sizes ranging from 30 to 60 from all areas of the world. His travels have taken him from the Gold Coast of Australia to the Gold Coast of California, but above all, he loves to show off his home state of New York.

"I have lived in New York all my life and I still find so many new areas to be explored and adventures that await William Farrell of Marlboro is the owner of Active Lifestyle Tours, LLC.

Two people zipline down Hunter Mountain. This is one of the trips offered by Active Lifestyle Tours.

me," Farrell said. "I find that many people that live here feel the exact same way. So, no matter where you're from, come and experience all of New York for an unforgettable time!"

Active Lifestyle Tours offers many trips throughout the Catskill Mountains, Hudson Valley and New York City.

The company offers a zipline adventure tour at Hunter Mountain in the Catskills. It is the highest, fastest, and longest zipline canopy tour in North America and the second largest zipline in the world. The tour soars 600 feet above the ground with crisscrossing twin ziplines. Participants will cruise for over four miles through the Catskills, from mountain peak to mountain peak and back again, reaching speeds of up to 50 miles per hour. The entire tour lasts about three hours. Each participant is attached to the course by a safe and secure harness and receives a safety course prior to zipping away.

Situated 2 1/2 hours north of New York City and one hour from Albany is Hunter Mountain and Tannersville. The highest peaks of the Catskill Mountains offer outdoor recreation and the chance to reconnect with nature, each other and oneself. During the trip, attendees will stay at the Kaatskill Mountain Club Resort and Spa. The resort offers a luxurious stay in nature located adjacent to Hunter Mountain. This Vail Resorts owned and operated hotel features a four-season outdoor heated pool, two outdoor hot tubs, game room, full service spa, fitness room and a full-service restaurant.

Active Lifestyle Tours also offers a Catskill Mountains Waterfall hike. This will bring participants to the top viewing platform where they can see Kaaterskill Falls, the highest cascading waterfall in New York State. After reaching the viewing platform, participants have the option of hiking down alongside the waterfall to add as many miles and difficulty as they want.

The company has another tour which offers rail biking as well as trips to Woodstock Brewery, the Walkway Over the Hudson and Beacon. While rail biking, participants will travel alongside the Esopus Creek through the beautiful nature of the Catskill Mountains on an eight-mile total round trip ride. The rail bikes are pedal powered but could be electric powered if the group needs them.

After rail biking, participants can enjoy a frosty beer at the Woodstock Brewery. They can also check out the gorgeous Emerson Spa shops, restaurant, hotel and outdoor sitting area near the water.

The Walkway Over the Hudson Tour provides access to the Hudson River's breathtaking landscape. Those attending the tour can feel free to take a jog, rent a bike (must reserve beforehand with Active Lifestyle Tours) or just stroll at their leisure.

A tour of Beacon is also offered. The city has a lot to offer, such as shopping, dining, bar-hopping, hiking, a river park, breweries, hotels, waterfalls, a popular contemporary art museum and much more.

Those attending the Woodstock Brewery, Walkway Over the Hudson and Beacon tour will stay at the Roundhouse Hotel. This is a luxurious, unique and historic property overlooking a beautiful waterfall, rushing creek and bustling street corner in Beacon.

The tour agency also offers a hike of Mount Beacon and an opportunity to explore wineries. The Mount Beacon hike is a 2 1/2 mile round trip moderate hike (easier hikes/walks are available as well). Guests will get to visit Benmarl Winery, the oldest vineyard in the country. They will also go to Nostrano Vineyards.

Alternatives to the hike include walking Long Dock Park in Beacon or the Walkway Over the Hudson in Poughkeepsie. Participants can also choose a llamas and alpacas walk or do a longer winery tour with three wineries instead of two.

Breweries and distilleries are also available to tour. Transportation is provided by the company.

Active Lifestyle Tours allows people to create custom trips. The company is happy to book anything that a person or a group would like for any date that they desire.

There are numerous trips available in New York City. Active Lifestyle Tours offers jet boating with close pass by views of the Statue of Liberty as well as an interactive bus tour. Another tour entails trips to One World Trade Center's 100th Floor Observatory as well as a trip to the Sept. 11 Memorial and a walk across the Brooklyn Bridge.

Those interested also have the opportunity to visit the Empire State Building 86th Floor Observatory. The 86th Floor has been the setting of dozens of movie and television scenes, as well as tens of millions of unforgettable personal moments. The observation deck wraps around the building's spire, providing 360-degree views of New York and beyond. Tour participants have the chance to visit Chelsea Market, an indoor food hall with more than 45 vendors. They will also walk High Line Park, an elevated linear park, greenway and rail trail.

Adventure enthusiasts can join Active Lifestyle Tours for a bike or walk through Central Park. They will also receive tours of iconic spots such as Columbus Circle, Saint Patrick's Cathedral, Rockefeller Center and Fifth Avenue.

The tour agency offers a ferry from New York City to Sandy Hook Beach, New Jersey. The ferry ride offers tours of many of New York's famous landmarks. This stretch of seven-mile pristine ocean and bay beaches are excellent for swimming, relaxing and catching a tan. For nature lovers, there are extensive hiking trails, running and bike paths, a spectacular holly forest and more than 300 species of birds at Sandy Hook Beach. Participants will also find old military forts and the country's oldest lighthouse.

Active Lifestyle Tours offers a variety of trips for people of all walks of life.

"We offer the best of both worlds," Farrell said. "We feature unique outdoor activities from hiking with a llama to biking on a railroad. Then couple that with sipping delicious wines at a winery and end your day relaxing at your luxury hotel, everything booked by us!"

Huskies topple Liberty in opener

Osei Adoma rushed for two touchdowns and returned a punt for a score, leading the Highland football team to a 32-6 road win over Liberty on Saturday.

After falling behind 6-0 in the first quarter, Aden Wisner recovered a fumble and returned it for a touchdown, giving the Huskies a 7-6 lead, they would never relinquish.

Wiser also added a rushing touchdown and Matt Dubois tacked on two extra points. James Gescheidle rushed 14 times for 93 yards.

The Huskies' defense was led by Dylan Durandis, Keith Bohlinger, and Robbie Hinspeter. Taki

Bakatsias had an interception.

The Huskies were a young squad last year, going 0-3, but only graduated three seniors – Jake Duncan, Aidan Madura and Christopher Lee - from a small Fall 2 roster.

But there are several returning players who got plenty of experience due to last year's small roster.

Osei Adoma returns in the offensive and defensive back field, while Aiden Wisner returns under center. Also back are seniors Ryan Auchmoody (C/LB), Dean Klotz (G/DT) and Frankie Guidi (T/DE), along with juniors Dylan Durandis (SE/LB), Taki Bakatsias (RB/DB), and Robbie Hinspeter (G/LB).

Also back is sophomore tackle and defensive end Mark Cozzupoli.

They will mix with two juniors – Keith Bohlinger and Erik Nelson – and three sophomores – Craig Elliot, James Gescheidle and Connor Gemell.

“Due to our low numbers in the spring, many younger players gained valuable experience,” Coach Tom Schlappich said. “Our goal is to strive to be our best and work hard to improve every day. We want to get to the point where we are playing for the section championship year in and year out.”

Uncertainty hangs over Dukes' season

BY RICK REMSNYDER

For the first time in a while, there's an air of uncertainty that lingers over the Marlboro football team.

In 2019, the two-time defending Section 9 Class B champion Dukes were defeated in the title game 27-24 by Port Jervis on what many considered a fluke play.

Coach Ryan Brooks

Port Jervis wide receiver Rob Filancia scored the deciding touchdown on a 41-yard reception where he fell on top of a Dukes' defender but it was ruled he never touched the turf. He got up and ran the final 20 yards into the end zone with 1:10 left and Marlboro was left to ponder a shocking loss.

In the abbreviated season this past spring, Port Jervis left little doubt it was the class of Class B by pounding the Dukes 71-0 in the regular season and 48-0 in the championship game to claim the school's second straight sectional crown.

The back-to-back losses to Port Jervis in the two title games put an end to Marlboro's recent Class B dominance. Prior to those defeats, the Dukes had been winners of seven of the previous eight Class B titles.

Shortly after the end of last year's 3-2 campaign, Brian Beck resigned after three years as head coach saying that he wanted to spend more time with his family.

On May 20, Ryan Brooks was appointed as the new coach. The 37-year-old Brooks is a 2002 Marlboro graduate who played on the offensive and defensive line for the Dukes. He graduated from East Carolina University in 2006 and is a physical education teacher in the Marlboro School District.

Brooks said he coached modified football in the school system for “eight or nine years,” but he took the last two years off to watch his son, Miles, play football. His son will play varsity football for Brooks this year.

The first-year coach already has had his share of adversity even before the Dukes have played their season opener vs. Red Hook. Marlboro's scheduled scrimmage vs. Chester on Sept. 4 was canceled due to widespread COVID-19 exposure among Marlboro players.

Brooks says he doesn't expect to have about 20 players back from quarantine until practice Wednesday. The season opener has been postponed a day to 2 p.m. Sunday at Red Hook.

Although things have gotten off to a rocky start, Brooks is eager to have a full squad at practice so the Dukes can prepare for Red Hook.

“My philosophy is geared around what's best for the kids,” he said. “It's finding what works for them and what makes them have the most success.”

It's no secret that establishing the running game has been one of the top priorities for all Marlboro teams.

Senior running backs Chin Okasi and Elijah Williams have plenty of experience in the backfield.

“Elijah is a great athlete and so is Chin,” Brooks said. “Those are two of our main guys. Matt Drake is returning, too. He's an all-around good player as well.”

The Dukes must replace quarterback Ryan McDonald, who graduated after one season running the Dukes' option attack.

Brooks said senior Kevin DeSantis and junior Colin Robertson have been getting the bulk of reps behind center in the early going.

“We're working on them managing the game and keeping the ball moving on offense,” he said.

Senior Trace Napoli and junior Jose Iraola-Ceely will anchor the line, which will need to come together to power the Dukes' running game.

Though Port Jervis and Marlboro have been the main title contenders in Class B the last two years, it figures to be wide open this time around.

Although Port Jervis still has star quarterback Brett Fuller, the Raiders lost many top players to graduation. Port Jervis dropped a 36-0 decision to Class A powerhouse Cornwall in its opener.

After sitting out the spring season, neighborhood rival New Paltz returns with new coach Brandon Egan-Thorpe. He replaced longtime coach Tom Tegeler, who seemingly always had the Huguenots in contention.

Red Hook looks to be much improved following a 51-14 victory over Roosevelt. Though it lost 21-6 to Walkkill on Saturday, Burke Catholic is usually in the playoff hunt.

“It's a pretty deep division in terms of competition,” Brooks said. “Each week is going to be a tough battle and a tough test. There are no easy games in Class B. It's going to be a tough season.”

COVID hits Dukes

Marlboro High's football team had its scheduled scrimmage with Chester on Sept. 4 canceled due to widespread exposure to COVID-19 to about 20 players, according to new football coach Ryan Brooks.

Brooks said the players will remain in quarantine until at least Wednesday, Sept. 8. The Dukes' season opener at Red Hook this week was rescheduled from Saturday, Sept. 11 to Sunday, Sept. 12, so Marlboro could get the required number of practices in. The teams will kick off at 2 p.m.

“We had six practices as a full team, then we got hit with the COVID issue,” Brooks said the day before the scheduled scrimmage was nixed. “We have probably about a dozen kids that are eligible to continue practicing right now.”

Brooks said the staff has been working with those players on drills and weightlifting to keep them sharp.

Brooks said he's confident the Dukes will be able to “hit the ground running” when all the players return from quarantine.

- Rick Remsnyder

Shea leads Wallkill past Burke

BY RICK REMSNYDER

Senior quarterback Mat Shea is hoping that Saturday afternoon's season-opening 21-6 victory over Burke Catholic is just the beginning of a turnaround campaign for the Wallkill football team.

Wallkill's abbreviated 2021 spring campaign started with the tragic death of 17-year-old Miguel Lugo following the first day of practice. Although the Panthers valiantly continued the season, they finished with a 1-4 record.

"That spring season helped me grow a lot just because of the adversity we had to go through," Shea said. "It was heartbreaking at the beginning of the year. It's matured me and it has matured our team a lot. It wasn't a great season for us. It gave us a perspective on how hard we had to work to win."

Shea had a hand in all three touchdowns for Wallkill in the non-league clash. He connected on two TD passes and rushed for the other score. Shea completed 10 of 16 passes for 232 yards. He also topped the Panthers in rushing with 45 yards on six carries.

Burke (0-1), a perennial Class B contender, took the opening kickoff and drove inside the Wallkill 15. But the Panthers' defense held on downs and Shea and company wasted little time taking the lead.

Shea drove the Class A Panthers 85 yards on nine plays to take a 6-0 lead as he swept around left end on a 16-yard TD run. Jayden Torres made the first of three straight conversion kicks for a 7-0 lead with 32 seconds left in the rapidly played first quarter.

The visiting Eagles went on another long drive that had them inside the Panthers' 30 until a poor snap from center forced the Eagles to punt.

This time Wallkill (1-0) only needed two plays to find the end zone. Following a 5-yard run by Sean Perrin, Shea hooked up on an 85-yard score on a post pattern by senior wide receiver Jack Rauschenbach to make it 14-0 with 3:42 left in the second quarter.

Rauschenbach led all Wallkill receivers with 104 yards on three catches. Shea said he has many skilled players at wide receiver and running back who get open and can make plays.

"I have so much confidence throwing to these guys," Shea said. "The athletes that they are and the plays that they can make on the balls that I throw to them is really a beautiful thing to watch and to be a part of."

One of those players that Shea has so much confidence in is senior wide receiver Ty Crowley.

After Burke closed to within 14-6 on a 6-yard TD jaunt by Chris Leahy with 5:12 remaining in the game, Wallkill made sure there wouldn't be any comeback by the visitors by putting together one final scoring drive.

Once the Panthers moved inside the Burke 25, Shea scrambled to avoid several rushing linemen and found Crowley with a pass just short of the end zone. Crowley caught it and put on the brakes to let the defender go by and danced into the end zone for a 24-yard

TD reception to give the Panthers a 21-6 lead with 2:30 left.

After getting drenched by his players in a post-game celebration, coach Brian Vegliando was satisfied with his team's performance on a sunny day with temperatures rising to nearly 80 degrees.

"I thought we did a lot of good things," Vegliando said. "Just like with any opener, we have a lot of things to clean up. I'm happy that we came out and started fast. We executed really well at times, especially offensively. The defense made some huge plays. I'm really proud of the way the whole team played."

Senior linebacker Eric Blackshear, who was all over the field for the Panthers, drew special praise from Vegliando.

"He's a baller," Vegliando said. "We expect him to make great plays because he's that talented. So we put a lot on his shoulders and he rose to the occasion today."

Blackshear said he's dedicating this season to Lugo.

"To be honest, my motivation is still for my brother above," he said of Lugo. "I think we play for him as a whole. But personally, it was pretty tough because I was pretty close with him. We have him in our spirit and our hearts."

Wallkill travels to Monticello for another non-league game at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Wallkill quarterback Mat Shea aims straight for the end zone pylon and scores a touchdown in the first quarter of Saturday's win over Burke Catholic.

Mason Ondreyko played both ways for Wallkill, as a defensive back and wide receiver.

Highland's A.J. Palmer picks a Maryland school

By MIKE ZUMMO

When A.J. Palmer was conducting his college search, he told his mother a simple fact.

If he had a choice between a school 10 minutes away or 10 hours away, he was going to the farther one.

She supported his decision, saying that leaving home for college was the greatest decision she ever made.

Palmer isn't going 10 hours away – more like five – as the Highland High School senior verbally committed to play Division III men's lacrosse at Hood College in Frederick, MD.

"I've always wanted to play in college because that's the next big step throughout the entire process," Palmer said. "You're always meeting coaches. You're always going to look at these schools and thankfully, (Highland boys' lacrosse coach Tom) Schlappich was able to help me through it. Once I stepped foot on the campus of Hood, I fell in love with it. I knew that was the place for me."

He was looking for a smaller school, giving him something like the small-town feel in Highland. A place, where you can go outside and meet new people, but everyone knows each other.

"No matter where you go, you're going to know someone," Palmer said. "And honestly, that reminds me of my home."

Palmer is going to join a Hood team that he described as a new program that has been on the rise under coach Brad Barber.

The Blazers finished 2021 with a 4-5 overall record, 3-3 in their conference and were eliminated in the Middle Atlantic Conference Commonwealth quarterfinals to finish their season. A year earlier, the Blazers were off to a 4-2 start before the COVID-19 pandemic cut the season short.

Palmer is looking forward to going in there and helping Hood continue its ascendance.

"It's not like high school where you have the kids that are studs," Palmer said. "In the college program, everyone there is a stud and I'll have that experience with those players. They know what they're doing and it's a chance to prove that we belong as a team."

Palmer has had a lacrosse stick in his hand as long as he can remember. His father used to be an athletic trainer at a high school in Franklin Lakes, NJ, and he was introduced to the sport there. When Palmer was born, the lacrosse coach gave his father a lacrosse stick and since he could walk, he's never put the stick down.

"He's a very good leftie finisher," Schlappich said. "He's like a sniper from that left-hand side. He's able to find space quite well and more times than not, he's going to put the ball in the cage."

Schlappich also had a role in helping Palmer narrow down schools, pulling him aside after getting contacted by coaches, and gauging Palmer's interest in some of the schools as he went through the recruiting process.

He believes his leftie attackman is well-suited for the college lacrosse game.

"He's a very soft-spoken kid, but he just does everything," Schlappich said. "He does all the intangibles. He's there every day in practice and he does little things really well for his position. He's always in the right spot to receive a pass. He's got excellent vision when feeding his teammates."

Palmer has one more varsity season left, and he hopes his team can improve on their trip to the Section 9 Class C championship game, where they lost to the Wallkill Panthers.

He said getting to the title game was a big confidence booster for the Huskies, which have been a huge part of his life for years.

"I'm going to miss everything," Palmer said. "It's like they're my second family. I can go to them with anything. They can come to me with anything. We hang out outside of lacrosse. It's going to be hard to leave all of them."

Marlboro boys blanked by Seward

By MIKE ZUMMO

Friday afternoon produced a bunch of firsts for the Marlboro boys' soccer team.

It was the Iron Dukes' first game of the fall 2021 season. It was their first time playing on natural grass this season, and the S.S. Seward Spartans handed them their first loss of the season.

The Iron Dukes kept pace with the Spartans for most of the game, but three Seward goals in the last 15 minutes handed Marlboro, a 5-0 loss at the S.S. Seward Soccer Complex in Florida.

"It wasn't the outcome we were looking for," Marlboro coach Jim Ventriglia said. "Our first competition was earlier in the week against Kingston. We made a very good result against them. We tied them. We were pretty confident coming in there, but on any given day, you don't know what's going to happen."

What happened was the Spartans got on the board late in the first half on a goal by Dana Fodera.

The Iron Dukes had a chance to tie the game shortly after on a direct kick by Mark Pesano, who sent a shot high off the crossbar. It bounced back into play where a Marlboro player appeared to head the ball into the net, but the Dukes were ruled to be offside.

S.S. Seward's Alex Cotes added a goal just two minutes into the second half, punching the Dukes in the mouth right off the bat.

"If you let down mentally for a just a little bit, it's a cruel game," Ventriglia said. "They score a goal and for all that work, there's nothing and you're losing. That's where we were at. They weren't 100 percent focused and we didn't play our style of play today. We broke down a lot."

Even while the Iron Dukes took shots on goal – most of which flew either wide or over the crossbar – the Spartans wore them down and capitalized in the last 15 minutes.

First, Garrett Gill gave the Spartans a 3-0 lead and then five minutes later, Cole Buchalski scored from a corner kick. With less than 9 minutes to go, Gill finished the scoring with his second goal of the day.

"I'm hoping they see the game film and realize they were taking an extra dribble, they were putting their head down. They were kicking the ball direct," Ventriglia said. "They weren't doing the things that we've really been focusing on and building on in training for the last week and a half."

Ventriglia is hoping to have those things ironed out by the time the Iron Dukes host Red Hook on Thursday, and then on Saturday, the program is going to honor first responders on the 20th anniversary of the 9/11 terror attacks on New York City and Washington, D.C.

The pregame ceremony will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the game scheduled for a 7 p.m. start.

The Dukes are inviting fire, police, EMT, military – both retired and active – to be their guests for the evening. Ventriglia then plans to bring them out at halftime for recognition of their service.

"That was the call after 9/11," Ventriglia said. "How can I serve right now and many of these people, they answered that call, and many went to Iraq and Afghanistan and sacrificed a lot. I've had several friends that were killed in Iraq. It's bigger than just that day. And, you know, the message of giving back and you know, in serving not only your country but your community and everything at large. We want just to take this humble moment to recognize that."
