SAVE BIG BUCKS

KP Big Bucks sale starts February 15

ONE DOLLAR

The last two weeks of February will be a busy time for local merchants as members of the Key Peninsula Business Association sponsor a major "Big Bucks" President's Day Dollar sale and promotion. The promotion is easy to enter and full of rewards for local shoppers who patronize Key Peninsula businesses during the period of February 15-29. All of the businesses taking part in the promotion will have "Big Bucks" certificates to give away to each customer at the time of a purchase. On the back of each "Big Buck" the customer will find the name of another local merchant and a description of the special prize, discount, or promotional value that will come to him at the business named.

for the KP Business Association.

The February "Big Bucks" promotion has been designed to both acquaint new residents with the many fine local businesses in our area, and also to remind others of the convenience of shopping near home and the increasing stock of merchandise now offered by our own business community.

Members of the Key Peninsula Business Association taking part in the February "Big Bucks" promotion are listed in the half-page advertisement appearing elsewhere in this edition of the NEWS. Let's remember to shop locally first and collect and use those "Big Bucks" coupons.

KP Citizen of the Year to be honored Feb 27

The Key Peninsula Lions Club will announce and honor the Citizen of the Year at the fourth annual banquet Saturday evening, February 27. The annual award was established by the Lions Club to recognize the outstanding contributions of a Key Peninsula citizen. The gala event will be held at the Civic Center in Vaughn.

High winds shut off power to Pen- insula country

Gusting winds (maybe March, arriving very early) knocked down limbs and pushed over trees in various parts of Peninsula country during the early morning hours of Saturday, February 13. Power was first reported out in the southern section of the Key Peninsula around 4:38 am, and most folks had their power back on by about 6:30 am. Peninsula Light, however, spent a good part of Saturday attending to other local outages, including problems on Fox Island.

Pierce County Executive Joe Stortini will be the keynote speaker and a brass quintet from Peninsula High School will provide the entertainment. The social hour begins at 6:30 pm followed by a complete prime rib buffet at 7:30 pm.

Tickets are $7.50 each and are available from any Key Peninsula Lions Club member, Puget Sound Bank, DJ's Tire Center, K.C. Western Hardware, Sunnycrest Nursery, Macon Bacon, Key Center Shell, Marty's Barber Shop and the Liquor Store, all on the Peninsula. A very limited number of tickets will be available at the door. Ticket price includes the full dinner, awards ceremony and entertainment.

To be chosen the citizen must reside or do business on Key Peninsula and cannot be an active member of Key Peninsula Lions Club.

This year's nominees are: Marguerite Bussard, Croft Huddleston, Jean Humphrey, Sandy Newhouse, Barbara Nimrick, Jim Penfield, and Chuck West. Brief summaries of their nominations are given elsewhere in this issue of the NEWS.

Citizens Against Crime meet again February 24

The third Citizens Against Crime meeting was held at the Huckleberry Inn Restaurant at Key Center on Thursday morning, February 4. Fifty interested local residents were present, all anxious to learn ways to protect themselves and their property against the rising crime rate in their neighborhoods. It was also attended by a team from KOMO-TV and a three-minute spot was shown on the 6:30 pm news that same night.

Hugh McMillan chaired the meeting, Fire Chief Horrace Kanno addressed the group, and Helen Sater, recipient of the Volunteer of the Year Law Enforcement Award, was guest speaker. Ms. Sater renewed her offer to organize training sessions, with sheriff and state patrol personnel serving as resource persons. Future meetings will search for other ways in which law enforcement personnel can be aided in addition to secretarial, telephone answering and transmission services. It is also possible the Lions Club may be able to provide a sheriff's phone in Key Center.

Representatives of most communities on Key Peninsula were present, including a contingent from Herron Island. Michele Zuerlein volunteered as secretary and Kathy Best will chair the telephone committee. It was agreed that this organization must represent residents of all ages, not only seniors.

With 12,000 people living in the Key Peninsula area, and 75 square miles to be watched and patrolled, it is anticipated 20 citizens would need to be trained for each separate area, with block watch programs set up and telephones manned. Volunteers would no doubt have to pass a security check before acceptance and training in the program.

The input of a large segment of the population is needed. Offer your ideas at the next meeting of Citizens Against Crime in the Gold Room of the Civic Center at 7:30 pm on February 24. Help search for innovative answers to the ques-

Editorial thoughts .....

First, lets talk about the upcoming "Citizen of the Year" Awards Dinner....We would like to suggest that if you are interested in the quality of our Peninsula life you should make it a point to attend. Looking over the list of the nominees this year it is impossible to miss the fact that these are the folks who have continually been out in the trenches doing the things to make this a better place to live. They have collected the food, taken care of the sick, written the grant requests, solicited the money, turned out the voters, worn out their telephones, and put in the hours to get the task done. Each of the seven nominees is a winner already, and it is, in some ways, too bad that only one will be officially named as "Citizen of the Year." One way to tell them all "thanks," however, is to show up at the dinner and let them know that the whole community appreciates their good efforts. Get your dinner tickets now from any member of the Key Peninsula Lions Club and take part in this fine annual event that honors our community's best!

Second, let us take a line to welcome new Park Board member David Rovang to his spot in community activities. David is a welcome addition to a Park Board that has its work cut out in the months and years to come. It is probably good that both he and the rest of the Park Board are from the generally younger members of our area, as all of the Park Board business is in need of new direction and new overall successes in the field of public relations and public interface. Now that the Board is complete we look forward to the creation and disclosure of a broadly-based new plan of actions and activities that will "sit well" with the voters as the time for another try at a Park District Levy approaches in the months to come. KLS.

Letters from you .....

To the Editor:

On January 24 some young people from our community were involved in a destructive act of vandalism in the Purdy area and at Key Peninsula Middle School. The students were apprehended on the middle school property because of the foresight of the deputy on duty. Often when there is a break-in at one of our schools a similar action occurs later at another school. After leaving the scene of the damage done to buses and cars in the Peninsula High area, Deputy Hendrickson began checking out each of the schools on the Key Peninsula. When he was alerted to the fact that there was a problem at the middle school he was at the scene in less than five minutes.

I know that response time for officers of the Pierce County Sheriff's Department is normally much longer than three minutes. Isn't it only fair that when the Sheriff's Department responds quickly we compliment the department and individual officers for their exemplary action? So much of what I see and hear from some members of our community makes me wonder if we would ever be willing to recognize those times the Sheriff responds in a timely manner.

John W. Robinson, Principal
Key Peninsula Middle School

To the Editor:

In our recent fund drive the KP Health Center has noted that some confusion continues in the minds of our citizens regarding our role.

Dr. Roes has a private practice as a physician in family medicine. The KP Health Center is a separate non-profit corporation with a Board of Directors which directs various activities for the benefit of our community. These include, but are not limited to, Respite Care, family counseling, Well Child clinic, etc. Donations generously given by the community support these activities. Other programs to benefit our community are in the planning stages. Your input regarding new programs would be appreciated.

If you missed sending a donation at the beginning of the year, our address is: 8903 Key Peninsula Hwy. North, Lake-bay, WA 98349. Thank you for caring.

Janice McMillan, President,
KPHC Board of Directors

To the Editor:

If you are saving newspapers to recycle, you can give them to a charity, sell them yourself or give them to Ed Bartkowski. Who's Ed Bartkowski??

The Bremerton Sun ran an article about Ed Bartkowski on June 28, 1987. All those wine-colored boxes on the right-of-way on state and county roads have been put there by Ed Bartkowski. I have had conversations about this after reading the Sun article and it disturbs me quite a little. These boxes all have Stop Child Abuse on them; they show a logo and the letters "CHS" indicating a portion of this money goes to the prevention of child abuse.

Right? Wrong! This is a misnomer. The letters CHS were supposed to have been removed. Some have been in other areas, but not in our area. The letters CHS indicate Children's Home Society. This is false advertising and tends to lead people to believe they are giving to a good cause. The Children's Home Society was contacted by the Sun and according to Bill Nathe, deputy director of Children's Home Society, permission had not been given to use the organization's name, and at that time Ed Bartkowski was supposed to take CHS off the boxes or face a lawsuit.

I called Paul Cyr about this and he has come up against this on Fox Island. Paul told me if these boxes are on the county right-of-way he can have them removed since Ed Bartkowski does not have permission to place these boxes on county or state roads. It's just that the county and state need to know where they are and they will see that they are removed.

If anyone knows where these boxes are and wants them removed from county roads they should call Paul Cyr at 851-9739 and give him the exact location. For removal from state roads call Vern Wagner at 581-7250. If you don't want to call these public servants, I will do it for you. Just call 884-2772 and ask for John.

John H. Wetzel, Wetzel's Recycling

KP NEWS is taken to task

On February 1, the day our last issue came out, a call was left on the KP NEWS recorder questioning the fact that no "against the levy" letters were among the many "for" letters we published in that paper. The caller even went so far as to call us a "rag cut on the bias!" It so happened that there were no letters to the editor with an against-the-levy viewpoint ... the only negative letter on schools received in recent weeks was that from Lorraine and Scott Harvey of Lakebay. This was published on November 16.

As a non-profit organ of the Key Peninsula Civic Center Association, of which every resident on Key Peninsula is a member, we are obligated to reflect our citizens' views - as long as these views cannot be construed as even remotely libelous. So, we do welcome pros and cons in our "Letters from you" section and encourage citizens to make their views - on anything - known.

Our caller did not identify himself or leave a number, so we hope he will accept this published response. PF.

Watch for big bucks!

Reno! Reno!

Nevada-style gaming fun will be at the Key Peninsula Civic Center Saturday, March 5 from 4 pm until midnight. Games included will be: 21 (Blackjack), Chuck-a-luck, dice table, wheel of fortune and bingo. Food and drink will be offered for sale.

This is a fund-raiser activity for the Civic Center itself. Come out and have some fun and support our facility. Everyone 21 years old and older is welcome.

The chairperson is Avon Gay assisted by Mike Salatino. If you have any questions, please contact one of them. Avon at 851-4968 or Mike at 851-4556.

Civic Center Association elects vice-president

At the KP Civic Center Association Board meeting on Thursday, February 11, Jessica Haskell, owner of Home Laundromat and Jessica's Apparel, was elected unanimously to the position of Vice-president which has been open since the first of the year. Jessica is looking forward to serving on the Board, and was made very welcome.

New Park Commissioner David Rovang was introduced by President Dale Loy, he fills the vacancy on that Board left by Roy Madsen's retirement.

Yet another new member was introduced, she is Phyllis Olsen of Lakebay, who will take over as manager and book-keeper of Bingo night activities. Both Med Schwenka and Wally Cornman have been doing duty as callers, but more callers are needed. Also needed are floor workers, and anyone in the community who would like to volunteer for these jobs should contact Betty Beal at 884-2598 and she will put you to work.

Among other subjects discussed was the coming political night scheduled for Tuesday, August 23. Keith Stiles will monitor this, and residents will have an opportunity to listen to and talk with candidates for the 1988 elections.

A decision was made by the KPCCA Board to re-assume responsibility for Pioneer Day with a tentative date of August 6 being set. It will be a one-day affair, and while the Business Association did not want to undertake full responsibility this year, they do wish to be represented and indicated they would be willing to take over the parade. It now remains to find a chairman and set up committees.

Your KP Civic Center Association meets on the second Thursday of each month, and all Peninsula residents are encouraged to attend.

Your Park Board reports

by Daphne Daus

The Key Peninsula Park Board appointed David Rovang to fill the seat of Park Commissioner vacated by Roy Madsen. David brings tremendous energy and commitment to the Board and we look forward to the opportunity to serve with him. Welcome aboard, David!

The commissioners listened to presentations made by representatives of both the adult and children PAA (Peninsula Athletic Association). Both groups would like to utilize Volunteer Park from the end of May through the first week of August. It is the intent of the PAA to encourage large groups of children and adults in our community to participate in their programs. The Board asked each group to submit a letter of intent for use of the Park fields. The Board will address the issue of scheduling at their February retreat. The commissioners look forward to establishing a flexible working agreement with PAA which addresses the needs of both age groups.

Dr. Eugene Wigman addressed the Board regarding his desire to meet the need for a family counseling service in our area by establishing such an agency at the Civic Center on a part-time basis. The family counseling service would be funded through United Way and would charge its patrons on a sliding scale. Dr. Wigman has met with school district personnel, Councilman Paul Cyr and other civic leaders to assess the needs of this community.

A special thank you to the Civic Center Association for paying to repair the drinking fountain in the gymnasium. Dale Loy gave a brief report on the upcoming events at the Center and Mike Salatino discussed the March 5 Reno Night and received a commitment from the Board members to staff the kitchen. The members of the Board discussed the current incidents of theft at Key Peninsula Middle School and decided to review the security situation at the Park.

On February 20 the commissioners will be participating in a day-long retreat at the Neon Sky. The retreat will give the commissioners an opportunity to explore new program opportunities and to discuss possible options for dealing with the district's current fiscal problems. No action can be taken during the retreat and the costs incurred will be shared by the commissioners.

The Board would like to thank Bob and Judy Oke for attending the board meeting, they represented the Kitsap Park District. The members of the Board look forward to working with the editor-in-training of the Key Peninsula News, we wish her great success. All members of the community are invited and encouraged to attend the next Board meeting on March 9 at 7:30 pm at the Civic Center.

School levy passes

Voters in the Peninsula School District gave a good message of support to their District on February 2, passing the two-year Maintenance and Operation Levy by a margin of approximately 64%. A 60% vote is required to pass this type of money issue. District Superintendent Tom Hulst and levy co-chairs Avon Gay and John Bare expressed their thanks to the electorate for their support and pledged that the money would be carefully administered for best results in education for Peninsula area children. Money raised by the levy will be used for such expenditures as bus transportation, purchase of books and supplies, athletic programs, special educational programs and the like. Voting results at the various local precincts is as follows:

Vaughn Elementary	96	80
Key Center Library	125	79
Peninsula High	252	142
Minter Elementary	307	230
Longbranch Imp. Club	98	65
Evergreen Elementary	72	61

Bill Seewer of the Purdy Detachment stated that in 1987, 26% of crime in the Gig Harbor and Key Peninsula areas involved residential burglaries and 9% malicious destruction. ## Daily family benefit a great success!

by Bekah Townsend

It was a success before anyone ate a bite of spaghetti.....In a huge outpouring of affection and support for the Daily family, over six-hundred people ate spaghetti and bought raffle tickets on Sunday., February 7. There was a strong feeling of community pride and unity throughout the day. The benefit raised over $3600 to help with Dennis's fight against cancer. Contributions have also been coming in steadily to the account set up for the Daily family at Tacoma Telco Credit Union. That account now totals over $5,400 including the proceeds from the benefit.

The people who organized, cooked for and worked at the benefit felt especially lucky. They had the satisfaction and warmth of work made easy by wonderful coworkers.

Making it happen for Dennis....

The individuals and businesses listed below all contributed by the donation of goods, services, cash, or their time and efforts in making the "Benefit for Dennis" a great success: (Editor's note: We have tried very hard to get everyone listed here that helped out at the Benefit. As things go in this life, we may have missed someone, not because we meant to, but because there were so many, and we are human. If we did, please just let us know and we will pick up any additions in the next issue....)

Key Peninsula's nominees for Citizen of the Year

Presenting the community workers you have named for consideration .....

Marguerite Bussard, born and raised in Longbranch, has been nominated as Key Peninsula Citizen of the Year for the second year in a row. Marguerite is a volunteer at Community House, for over thirty years has been a member of the Ladies Auxiliary and is now Chaplain for VFW 4900 Post of Vaughn. She conducts memorial services at Longbranch Church and puts the American flag on the graves of the servicemen at the Longbranch Cemetery. Marguerite is a member of the Ashes Auxiliary to Fire District 16 and a past president. She is a member of Peninsula Ants Cootiette Club who are noted for their caring in nursing homes and hospitals. She is a member and lecturer for the Upper Sound #705 Grange, helping in all their endeavors. Her memberships also include the Longbranch Improvement Club, Key Peninsula Senior Society, Jackson Lake Sportsmen's Club, and Peninsula Neighbors who make crafts to sell for worthy community activities. Marguerite is extremely skilled in needlecraft and has voluntarily taught youngsters at Evergreen Elementary School.

Marguerite Bussard

Chuck West is a career firefighter with the Key Peninsula Fire Department through which he has had the opportunity to serve and be visible in the community. He has done things that would put a beam on a public relations agent's face. Even in his off-duty time he responds to aid the sick and injured. He co-chaired a committee to deal with the controversial local land-use issue. He organized a Chaplaincy Program on the Peninsula where different clergies could offer comfort and guidance to those in need. Chuck spearheaded the Angel Tree project that collected and distributed food baskets, clothing, toys, fuel coupons and other commodities at Christmastime. Some of his Friday nights are spent acting as an adult monitor at the Key Peninsula Civic Center skating socials. Chuck has done many things to serve and benefit this community.

Sandy Newhouse of Vaughn is a tireless volunteer in our schools. She lives on South Vaughn Road with husband Delbert and their three children. Sandy began SAVE, the scholarship committee at Peninsula High School, which is staffed completely by volunteers. SAVE raises money through the thrift store and through collecting Thriftway receipts. SAVE gave thousands of dollars to PHS students to help them with their education and to encourage them to go on. Sandy was chairman of the 1985 levy and bond election and worked tirelessly to get them passed. Not an easy task when it means increased taxes. She spearheaded the election effort by speaking at many meetings and distributing literature concerning the levy and bonds. She is assisting the current levy chairman in the 1988 effort. Sandy is a volunteer in the Career Center at Peninsula High School where she arranges presentations and books guest speakers. She organized the two very successful science fairs at KP Middle School and is a past president of the Key Peninsula Middle School parent group.

Jim Penfield has been nominated as the Key Peninsula Citizen of the Year in recognition of all the work he has done on behalf of this community during his many years here. Jim served on the Board of Directors of the Key Peninsula Health Clinic in those crucial years of growth when it moved from Longbranch to an interim location in Key Center and finally to its present location. He was instrumental in getting a HUD grant and in acquiring a doctor for this area as well as introducing a variety of additional health services. He worked long and tirelessly to shape a health organization which would be responsive to the needs of the community. He worked just as conscientiously on other issues, some of them not easy or popular, such as zoning. He has worked on the Park Board, the Longbranch Community Club and Friends of the Library. Jim moved here after retirement from the U.S. State Department and has given generously of his talents and time for the betterment of this community.

Barbara Nimrick becomes more involved in volunteer projects every year. She is now president of the board of directors of the Community Center and Food Bank at Home where she skillfully leads the business meetings of the board. She also schedules the meetings, establishes the agenda, assigns committees, maintains order and casts a deciding vote in the event of a deadlock. Barbara spends numerous hours sorting clothing and distributing foodstuffs to patrons of the Food Bank. In recent years she has conducted six 1-week horse camps with as many as 10 young girls in each. She has provided valuable training in home economics as well as animal care. Barbara is always ready to give a helping hand when anyone needs it, often going out of her way to serve.

Croft Huddleston is a resident of Home. He is very active at St. Nicholas Parish in Gig Harbor, participating as a lector/reader of scripture and giving the Christmas reading at Peninsula Library this last year. He is also Eucharistic Minister in the church and visits those who are hospitalized. As a FISH monitor he has worked with the Fish Food Bank in

Croft Huddleston

Gig Harbor and the Community Center Food Bank at Home. Croft is a charter member of St. Nicholas/St. Vincent De Paul Society where he worked last year with less affluent residents of the Peninsula, providing financial as well as spiritual assistance. During the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons last year Croft was busy making food baskets and visiting the less fortunate.

Jean Humphrey of Longbranch has been described as a most sincere, helping person. She does many little things behind the scenes, seeming to devote her life to helping others. Without fanfare she paid a power and light bill of a substantial sum for a local family in need. At the present time she assists two stroke victims at separate locations. She does many chores for them such as taking them to exercise workouts, to church on Sunday, and other useful tasks. Jean can always be counted on to assure that get-well cards and remembrances are taken care of. She is active in the Longbranch Community House and, along with others, has continued to operate the Nutrition Program through the Longbranch Community Church, even after federal funding was suspended. She is an active member of the Longbranch Community Church, serving in the choir, bell choir, Ruth Circle and as secretary of the board of directors. She is also active in the Historical Society of Longbranch/Home.

KPBA News

by Mary Ann
Huntington

The Key Peninsula Business Association just kicked off our BIG BUCK coupon special in honor of Presidents' Day. The more you shop locally, the more money you will save. When visiting a member of the KPBA you will be given a BIG BUCK. On the back side is either a money-off offer or an item for free at one coupon special in honor of Presidents' Day. The more you shop locally, the more money you will save. When visiting a member of the KPBA you will be given a BIG BUCK. On the back side is either a money-off offer or an item for free at one of the other merchants in town. Of course, our BIG BUCK is so unusual you will probably want to save it to show off to all your friends. This great way to save money ends February 29 so don't put off your shopping spree.

Hugh McMillan is spearheading a move to get everyone involved in Citizens Against Crime. The 7:30pm meeting will be on February 24 at the Civic Center. Like it or not, our peaceful rural area is becoming more urban every day. Crime comes with population growth so now is the time to get a handle on protecting our neighbors.

Lately many of our merchants have been approached by charity organizations asking for donations to a variety of events. Our generous merchants never hesitate to cooperate with either cash or merchandise, but is your organization aware that these merchants have access to wholesale warehouses? The next time you approach a retailer tell them what items you need for your event and see if the merchant can save you driving time and money by getting your items wholesale for you. These merchants are vital to our beautiful community. I urge you to shop locally.

The KPBA plans to have an information booth at Pioneer Day this August. Balloons, maps, coupons and lots of smiles will be available. How about a pie-throwing booth? How many of you can think of a politician, school board member or fire commissioner you would like to blast with a whipped cream pie? I know I can think of a few. Should be lots of fun.

Be sure to attend the next meeting of the Key Peninsula Business Association on February 19, 7:30 am at The Eatery. No business is too small to join.

Sheriff recovers antique stove

Local Pierce County Sheriff's Deputies, operating on information developed during an investigation, served a search warrant in Puyallup and recovered an antique wood stove, valued at about $3500, which was reportedly stolen from a Key Center business last September.

1988 Key Peninsula Business Association officers ..... Tom Fifer, President; Claudia Loy, Vice-president; Mary Ann Huntington, Secretary; Fran Kent, Treasurer.

KPBA runs photo contest

The Key Peninsula Business Association is running a contest for the best photograph taken on the Peninsula, and the winning picture will be used on the cover of a Visitor's Guide which the KPBA plan to publish in April.

First prize is a gift certificate for $50. Two prizes of $25 will also be awarded. Photographs must be dropped off at the KPNEWS office, Sunnycrest Nursery, or be mailed to KPBA, PO Box, Vaughn, WA 98394, by March 15. All photographs must be no more than 2-years old and have been taken on Key Peninsula. They will be judged according to adaptability to purpose, reproductive quality and appropriateness of subject matter.

All photos submitted become the property of KP Business Association and will not be returned. Decision of the judges is final. For information, call 884-3937 or 884-3862.

Can Chiropractic Help You?

If you have a health problem, we invite you to make an appointment for a free spinal examination. These screening tests are performed as a public service, at no cost to you, to determine whether your health problem is likely to respond to chiropractic care.

These screening tests require approximately 15-30 minutes and are simple and painless. The doctor will discuss the results of the examination with you and advise you whether or not additional chiropractic services may be of benefit to you.

There's no charge for the screening test; however, if additional services are indicated and you choose to go ahead... all fees and services will be fully explained prior to any such services being rendered. Remember, most insurance covers chiropractic services.

We hope you always enjoy good health, but should health problems develop, remember this invitation to find out if chiropractic may be the answer.

Leap Year's beginnings

The first calendar was fixed by Julius Caesar in the year 45 BC. This solar calendar had 365 days and six hours. Every four years the extra six hours made a full day. The Julian calendar then came into use and Julius Caesar announced that every four years there would be 366 days in a year and the extra day was added to February.

After astronomers perfected their studies they discovered that the earth takes 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 45 seconds to completely circle the sun. The Julian calendar was then abolished by Pope Gregory XIII and replaced by the Gregorian calendar.

It is possible that the 366-day year is called Leap Year because the English courts did not recognize February 29 and the date was skipped, or leaped over, on all court records.

A Woman's Heart

by Elaine Forch

Recently, I attended a powerful "Dress for Success" seminar that prompted me to take a hard look at my own professional image. The lecturer convinced me that ambition, ability and hard work are not enough to guarantee success. The "professional image" is a career fact that must be considered as well. My personal "professional image" could definitely stand some adjustment, so I've embarked on a self-improvement program that is going to require some long-range planning, a strong personal commitment and quite a bit of time and money. My only other alternative is to settle for less credibility and promotional opportunities, and I don't want to do that.

The seminar started me thinking about this "image" idea a lot. You certainly can't argue with the results that have been achieved by encouraging a change in attitude about professional dress. The business world is reaping the benefits of increased sales and managerial effectiveness because they have jumped on the "Dress for Success" bandwagon. I'm wondering why the other professions haven't done the same? Take the educational field for example. For a long time, educators have been lamenting their loss of authority and control in their classrooms. Blame has been placed on parents for not teaching children to respect authority, and teachers do have a valid complaint. But I'm wondering if our teachers and principals haven't voluntarily surrendered much of their authority and effectiveness by adopting a casual, unprofessional manner of dress. The informal attire worn by many teachers and principals might seem like a better way to relate to students, but I wonder how much authority and respect can be expected when it's often hard to distinguish the authority figures from the students. Sure, it's a shallow idea, but our attitude is affected by many stimuli and those image consultants are convinced that conservative, professional attire does a lot to establish the "feeling" of authority. You can't argue with the results they've seen in the business and the industrial world. The bottom line seems to be that if parents are going to be lax about teaching respect for authority (and that's not right, but we're dealing with reality here), then teachers and principals should use every skill and tool at their disposal to help them establish and maintain control and authority in the classroom. Once they have that, then they can earn the respect of their students in a truly meaningful way.

The educational community is not the only group that has grown sloppy. The medical profession, service providers such as restaurants and retail stores, and professional trades are guilty as well. Parents too, may have relinquished a hefty measure of authority and effectiveness by giving up the advantage of looking like parents instead of big kids. Maybe we have all become sloppy about our appearance. The way we dress speaks so loudly about the way we feel about ourselves and others that it seems valuable to assess our dress code and appearance on a regular basis. Life is casual these days, and everyone wants to "do their own thing". Few are interested in buying into a rigid dress code, but I think the "reap what you sew" principle applies here. If we want results, then we have to dress the part.

"A man always has two reasons for doing anything - a good reason and the real reason." J. P. Morgan.

Man chase at Taylor Bay

Fire Department 16 personnel and local sheriff's officers got a little exercise on the beach the afternoon of February 8 when they unsuccessfully chased a man over an extended course. The fire department was first drawn to the scene by a reported burning automobile, which turned out to be a van, stuck in a mudhole. Investigation disclosed the van was reportedly stolen from the Puyallup area and some items which had apparently been in the van were scattered around the scene of the fire. Although the suspect was not captured it is thought that he was seen well enough to be identified at a later time when he could possibly be charged in connection with the stolen vehicle.

Sheriff's officers have been particularly interested in the Taylor Bay area lately due to a rash of burglaries of homes and weekend properties, and it would not be surprising if some connection between the various events should exist.

KPAA plans ahead by Gerry Goodier

Spring razor clam season

Washington coastal beaches will open for spring razor clam digging from March 19 through May 7 on an odd-numbered day basis. On legal digging days digging will be open from midnight to noon only.

"Biological information processed from test digs recently suggests harvestable numbers of clam over four inches, however, the overall population is moderate," said State Fisheries Director Joe Blum. Blum said while many of the clams will be in the 4 to 4 and a quarter inch range, there appears to be an absence of new small clams. "The possibility is real that the existing clams must get us through 1989," stated Blum.
