GIDDY-UP COFFEE CORRAL SUSTAINED THROUGH COMMUNITY SUPPORT

CHANGES: Owner and San Diego Native Adrianne Schumaker Left Her Insurance Office Manager Job to Become a Coffee Stand Owner in 2012

By Eric Trent

Editor's Note: The Chronicle is working to assist local businesses suffering from the effects of the COVID-19 virus spread and associated government orders to close or limit commerce. There will be a feature on a local business in each edition of The Chronicle and at chronline.com moving forward. To be considered, email reporter Eric Trent at etrent@chronline. com. TENINO — When Adrianne Schumaker moved from her hometown of San Diego, a bustling urban center of 1.4 million, to the rural town of 1,800 in Tenino in 2000, she never imagined she'd be trading in her lifelong career in insurance to buy a coffee stand.

But that's what happened, and she couldn't be happier.

Schumaker, who had managed insurance offices most her life, had worked for the same agent for a decade when she saw the Giddy-Up Coffee Corral was up for sale in 2012. Her boss was planning to retire, so Schumaker figured it was also time for her to make a change as well.

Jared Wenzelburger / jwenzelburger@chronline.com

Owner Adrianne Schumaker, right, and daughter Cassidy Fritz work at Giddy-Up Coffee Corral Wednesday.

Schumaker and her family were living in Yelm at the time and her son was a student at Tenino High School. She had been grabbing drinks at Giddy-Up Coffee Corral stand for a while at that point, saw it was for sale and wanted to be close to her son for school. She also wanted to branch out from office management after so many years, try something different and be adventurous. She completed the purchase on Oct. 26, 2012.

"I wanted the ability to do things for the community and it just seemed like something that would be fun to do, so we bought it," Schumaker said.

She decided to keep the name of the previous stand when she bought it. The previous owner was especially helpful with the transition process, including during the month leading up to the purchase when Schumaker would come in on the weekends and see how to Schumaker hired a manager to run the coffee stand for the first year while she helped her boss at the insurance company transition into retirement. During that time she was able to learn the ins and outs of the coffee stand business without being thrown into the mix with no experience.

"I just went into it with the attitude that I may be older than the employees but I have a lot to learn from them," Schumaker said. "It just kind of worked. We just all work together. They're great girls."

She kept all the employees from the previous owner, and one of those baristas is still working for her now. She credits a lot of the success of her business, which is going on eight years now, to her five current employees and the relationships she has built with them over the years.

"Being able to trust them and have a relationship where if somebody is really wrong they can tell you," Schumaker said. "There's just a better understanding. It's just better."

Schumaker moved back to Tenino three years ago to be closer to her stand. It's a town she's fallen in love with and a community that has supported her faithfully the past eight years, including when she needed it the most — during the COVID-19 pandemic.

When it first hit, Schumaker gathered all of her employees together and heard all their opinions on how they felt health and safety-wise and whether they felt comfortable working through it.

"I felt it wasn't just my decision," Schumaker said. "It was everybody's personal choice what they wanted to do and we were going to work around that. Everybody wanted to work, so we just kind of rode it out."

The coffee stand began adhering to the state's guidelines and took extra safety precautions. Every employee wears masks and there are four different mask options available to choose from so they each have one that fits comfortably.

Giddy-Up Coffee Corral has focused on sticking together and putting a positive spin on the COVID-19 outbreak for its customers. The baristas have been posting cheerful, upbeat updates on Facebook to keep customers engaged and optimistic. One post encourages customers to wear pajamas and silly hats when they come pick up their drinks.

"Our customers have been supportive so we just keep showing up," Schumaker said.

The coffee stand was able to keep its regular hours of operation the past five months since the novel coronavirus hit, and only closed one or two days during that time period, Schumaker said.

She said having a business with a drive-through has really helped through these times. With so many events and gatherings shut down, people are looking for things to do other than just shop for groceries. Being able to get a coffee or energy drink and see a friendly, familiar face has been comforting during the pandemic, Schumaker said.

Giddy-Up Coffee Corral is open 6 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday; 7 a.m to 5 p.m., Saturday; 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Sunday.

"We have sustained so well because we have great customers and I have really appreciated employees," Schumaker said. "We feel very, very fortunate. Our community has been very good to us."

DearAbby

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married five months. Her 40-year-old son lives in our basement. He has a job, but I have no idea if he pays rent. If he doesn't, it really doesn't bother

What does bother me is that at his age, he should be out on his own by now. He's trying to pay off school loans, which I understand. However, he is the one who incurred these bills. All he had to do was finish his dissertation and he would have had his doctorate. Instead, he quit school and doesn't plan on going back.

My wife doesn't think she's an enabler, but I disagree. It's getting very hard for me to put up with this situation. — UPSET IN COLO-RADO

DEAR UPSET: Much depends upon the reason your wife's son quit school instead of getting that doctorate. I wish you had mentioned whether he has been living in his mother's house since childhood, or if this is something relatively recent. He may have emotional or mental health issues that need addressing.

Because this is creating friction in your marriage, it may be something you and your wife should talk through with the help of a licensed marriage and family therapist.

DEAR ABBY: I am 30 years old and single. I met this guy while I was working downtown three or four months ago. He is almost twice my age. At first I didn't think of him as more than just a customer, but he's very attractive for his age.

One day last month he told me he had lost his phone during my shift, so I asked him to give me his number so I could call him in case somebody found his phone, which I did. Later that night he called me asking, "Who is this?" so I told him who I was. We have been talking ever since and I have been spending every weekend at his house.

I'm starting to think I can see a future with this guy because I feel butterflies in my stomach. I like how things are between us. I care about him and maybe want more one day. What should I do? — LIKis significant.

ING AN OLDER MAN

DEAR LIKING:

What you should do is continue exploring a relationship and find out if he feels the same way you do. But the two of you should take things slowly and discuss the age difference before making any commitments. Although his age isn't necessarily a deal-breaker, it

DEAR ABBY: Am I hoping for too much with my husband of 40-plus years? In the evening, we (or I) watch TV, and he's very agreeable to "watch" anything mostly because he hardly watches at all. He's playing games on his iPad and glancing at the TV. He'll ask questions occasionally about the characters or the plotlines, but it's obvious he's not following. For some reason, I find it disappointing that he's not really watching, even if it's something he's shown an interest in or selected. Should I just be grateful he's in the same room with me and alive? — FEEL-ING SOLO IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR FEELING SOLO: Focusing on gratitude that you are together doing things you both enjoy is healthy. If you don't care for the program he isn't watching, feel free to change the channel to something you prefer. However, the two of you should make a point of doing something together in which you are both fully engaged because if you do, it will bring you even closer to each other

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for a year. Recently, I have been questioning my sexuality and have realized that I am gay. I have been trying to think of different ways of telling her, but I don't want to hurt her. Please help. — COMING OUT IN OHIO pEAR COMING OUT: You are right: You must tell your wife, and the sooner, the better. She may — or may not — be shocked and possibly angry. During the talk, make clear that this has nothing to do with her, her attractiveness or femininity. Afterward, suggest she contact the Straight Spouse Network for support if she feels the need. It's an organization founded many years ago by Amity Pierce Buxton, Ph.D., to support heterosexual spouses of LGBTQ mates. Your wife can find it online at straightspouse.org, and I highly recommend it.

DEAR ABBY: My son has been married three times. After each divorce, he has expected me to distance myself from the ex's children. I have been Grandma to them, and this is driving us apart. My son says it's them or him! I'm heartbroken and want to maintain a relationship with both. Help! — FOREVER GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: That your son would deny his stepchildren contact with a loving grandmother because he's angry with their mother is terrible. You may wish to maintain a relationship with them, but because of your son's current mindset, it may not be possible.

Since you asked me to weigh in, my advice is to stop sitting on the fence. Maintain a relationship with them regardless of their "step" status. They need you. They need the validation that they are loved, which you can provide. As to your inflexible son, I can see why he has such terrible luck with women. It appears he still has a lot of growing up to do.

DEAR ABBY: I am an introvert, which may be hard to believe since I am the sixth child in a family of 10. I enjoy talking with my siblings. My problem is how to handle people who call and think I should be happy to chat about nothing of interest to me. During the pandemic this has become a major problem. — NOT INTERESTED IN VIRGINIA pear NOT INTERESTED: Your problem isn't unique. During this period of social isolation, social contact can be crucial in combatting depression. I'm hearing from people who say, "Every day is exactly the same as the last one. I have nothing to say to my spouse, my children, my friends, etc. I'm bored stiff, and I have become a boring person."

It is important that you allot some time to those who are reaching out, but it doesn't mean you must be a prisoner to long conversations. Tell the caller you're glad they are adjusting and maintaining their sanity. If you see something noteworthy on television, in your online research or a book you are reading, share it. But no law says you must remain on these phone calls for long periods or participate in them every day. Consider rationing them instead.

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend and I split up, but she doesn't want to tell anyone or change stuff on Facebook. When I told her that, for now, I just want to be friends, she got mad at me for changing the password on my account. She can get mean and hateful when she doesn't get her way, and she keeps bringing up my past and won't let it ao.

She wants to get back together. We have broken up and gotten back together several times. This time, though, I'm not sure I want to. I love her, but I don't know how much more I can take. She tells me she's sorry every time she calls me names or is mean and thinks that it will fix everything. When I told her it wouldn't, she threatened to block me if I put "single" on my profile. Please give me some advice. I don't know what to do. — CONFUSED IN KENTUCKY

DEAR CONFUSED: Listen to your gut, which is telling you this romance isn't healthy. There's a reason the two of you have broken up repeatedly. Your exgirlfriend is verbally abusive and controlling, and she threatens you.

Go ahead and post on your profile that you are single, and if she blocks you, so be it. The first step to healing your wounded heart will be to start meeting others. Give it a try, and you will find it's very effective.

DEAR ABBY: There are many videos about proper hand-washing on the internet as well as video clips that have been aired on television demonstrating the proper technique. But just about everyone I have seen leaves the water running the whole time they are washing their hands. I don't think it is a good idea to try to teach people, especially young children, a technique that is so wasteful.

There's no reason for the water to be running all the time someone is washing their hands or brushing their teeth because that water just goes right down the drain. While it's very important that everybody wash their hands to prevent viruses from spreading, it is also important to recognize that water is a precious resource. Care should be taken not to waste it. — ENVIRON-MENTALIST IN NEW JERSEY

DEAR ENVIRONMENTALIST:

You are right, which is why I am printing your timely reminder. In the Southwest, where drought is common, the importance of water conservation is a fact of life. Because I was surprised to receive a letter from New Jersey on this subject, I went online and learned to my surprise that starting in 2001-2002, there was a drought that lasted 55 weeks in your state.

Folks, because water is not an infinite resource, be prudent. And I'm not just suggesting you be mindful when washing your hands and brushing your teeth. It's also important to consider when rinsing dishes and — men — shaving once the quarantine is lifted.

Can't keep a good woman down Quick-witted supernatural hunter is back in Season 4 of 'Wynonna Earp'

By Kyla Brewer TV Media

Good things come to those who wait, as the saying goes. That old phrase came true last week for loyal fans who lobbied to save a sci-fi series - and won. Now, the adventure continues for a gunslinging demon hunter and her motley crew of Melanie Scrofano ("Being Erica") stars as the great-great-granddaughter of famed Wild West lawman Wyatt Earp in a new episode of "Wynonna Earp," airing Sunday, Aug. 2, on Syfy. She and her ragtag posse battle vampires, zombies and the like in her hometown of Purgatory (which is near the Canadian Rockies) and throughout the cursed territory known as the Ghost River Triangle.

Based on Beau Smith's comic book series of the same name, the supernatural Western TV show had been on hiatus since its third season wrapped in September 2018. Season 4 had been slated to premiere in July of 2019 but was postponed due to financial challenges faced by its production company, IDW Entertainment. Earpers (as fans of the series are known) quickly took to social media to promote the series, even using electronic billboards in New York City's Times Square. To show her appreciation, Scrofano herself sponsored a billboard to thank them. Luckily, following the robust, fan-led campaign showing support for the series, it was announced that IDW, Cineflix Studios, Canada's Crave and SEVEN24 Films would continue with the production.

When asked about the upcoming season at the "Wynonna Earp" panel at 2019's New York Comic Con, show creator and writer Emily Andras ("Lost Girl") expressed her gratitude for all the fan support.

"I'm so happy you guys remember who we are," Andras said. "Thank you so much. I just think we owe Season 4 -there's no question - to all of you."

At the time, she had big promises for the show's return, saying that there would be "secrets and lies, betrayals, sexy sexiness – the whole gamut." Continuing, Andras said: "I'm excited. I forgot how crazy this show is. But it's crazy. I will definitely be getting yelled at on Twitter."

Earpers are surely happy to see Wynonna and her friends, and maybe even her foes, after such a long break. Since its premiere in 2016, the show has garnered positive fan and critical response, including spots on many critics' "Best" lists, multiple Canadian Screen Awards and a People's Choice Award for Best Sci-fi/Fantasy Show.

In the beginning, after inheriting her great-great-grandfather's mythic abilities and Peacemaker handgun, Wynonna teamed up with a topsecret sector of the U.S. Marshals known as the Black Badge Division to take on supernatural creatures. Along the way, she has received more than a little help from her friends, including her great-greatgrandpa's former partner, an immortal Doc Holliday (Tim Rozon, "Schitt's Creek"). Wynonna also works alongside her half-sister, Waverly (Dominique Provost-Chalkley, "Murdoch Mysteries"), and Waverly's girlfriend, Purgatory's Sheriff Nicole Haught (Katherine Barrell, "Good Witch").

In Season 4, it appears that the Earp curse has been broken. Wynonna no longer has the Peacemaker, the magical gun once wielded by her great-great-grandfather that has the ability to send demons back to hell. While she would love to kick back and celebrate, the one-time gunslinger must rescue her friends, save the town of Purgatory and take on a diabolical enemy who seriously hates the Earps.

Fans will see at least three new faces as it's been announced that singer Martina Ortiz-Luis and actors Andrew Phung ("Kim's Convenience") and Ty Olsson ("Supernatural") have joined the cast for Season 4.

There will be some changes behind the camera as well. It was announced in March that star Scrofano will make her directorial debut in one of this season's episodes.

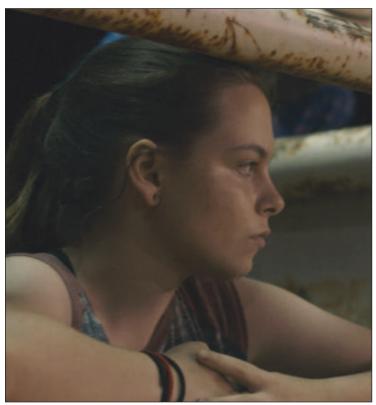

'I'm very excited to bring my experience as Wynonna Earp to the director's chair for an episode of Season 4. I've had the great luck to learn from some of the best directors and showrunners in the business and hope that viewers will enjoy the episode as much as I've enjoyed directing it," Scrofano said.

Things seem to be looking up for the sci-fi-western series, even though it hasn't always been smooth sailing. The show's most recent challenge came when the COVID-19 pandemic forced the shutdown of filming in Calgary back in March. As a result, the show will only air six of the planned 12 Season 4 episodes this summer, ending with a mid-season finale scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 30. The plan is to resume production in Calgary later this summer to pick up where they left off, although no one can say for sure when, or even if, they'll be able to finish the remaining six Season 4 episodes, given the unpredictability of the pandemic sweeping around the globe.

In an uncertain industry and an uncertain world, the fate of the show hangs in the balance. But one thing is for certain: the loyalty of its fans. They will surely be tuning in to catch the latest episode, and it isn't too far into Season 4 to jump in if you're new to the show. Watch as Wynonna and her allies take on supernatural threats in a new episode of "Wynonna Earp," airing Sunday, Aug. 2, on Syfy.

Amber Havard in "Bull"

By Jessica Gosse TV Media

"Bull" (2019)

Don't miss this poignant drama when it joins the Hulu lineup on Thursday, July 30. Since her mother was sent to prison, Kris (newcomer Amber Havard) has had a tough time with things and has begun acting out, causing her guardian all sorts of trouble. She goes too far one night when she breaks into a neighbor's house with her friends to have a party and gets caught. The house belongs to Abe (Rob Morgan, "Stranger Things"), a past-his-prime bullfighter, who agrees to not press charges in exchange for her help with his work. As she works for him, Kris begins to learn not only about the art of bullfighting but how to deal with her own emotions and not let her mother's choices dictate her future.

"Best in Show" (2000)

If you're still struggling with "Schitt's Creek" withdrawal, this cult-classic mockumentary, streaming now on Hulu, will give you the fix you need. It was written by "Creek" star Eugene Levy and fellow comedian Christopher Guest ("This Is Spinal Tap," 1984), and stars not only Levy, but Catherine O'Hara, who played Moira on the now-concluded TV series. They play a married couple hell-bent on showing their Norwich terrier, Winky, at a prestigious dog show. Unfortunately, the couple is totally broke (sound familiar?), so they're forced to sneak into a hotel storage room to sleep. The film follows a number of the dog-owners involved in the show, and each one is more outrageous than the last. This hilarious romp stars the late, great Fred Willard ("Modern Family"), Jane Lynch ("Glee"), Michael McKean ("Better Call Saul"), Jennifer Coolidge ("2 Broke Girls"), Will Sasso ("MADtv"), Parker Posey ("Lost in Space") and many more. With a score of 94% fresh on Rotten Tomatoes, you know this one is going to leave you in stitches.

"Jamie: Keep Cooking and Carry On" Season 1

Due to the coronavirus, people all over the world have been stuck in quarantine, and in those situations, creative cooking can get tricky, whether it's because you can't get to the store as often or your budget has been cut in half due to a lack of work. British chef Jamie Oliver appeals to everyone in this situation in his new series "Keep Cooking and Carry On," and you can watch the entire first season starting Sunday, July 26, on Hulu. Rather than using a slew of fancy ingredients you've never heard of, Oliver's new series is all about using what you already have in your home, from long-forgotten pantry items to things that have been buried at the back of your freezer for too long. Each episode features two budget-friendly recipes using common ingredients and includes suggestions about what you can use instead if you don't have some of those ingredients. Whether it's vegetable curry, homemade bread or egg-free chocolate cake, you'll be amazed what Oliver can create using the staple ingredients most people already have in their homes.

"Ladhood" Season 1

British comedian Liam Williams ("Pls Like") breaks down the intricacies of modern adolescence in Season 1 of this BBC coming-of-age comedy available Wednesday, July 29, on Hulu. Oscar Kennedy ("Home from Home") stars as a young version of Williams as Williams himself travels through his own memories in a very Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" sort of way, even going so far as to yell at his younger self (which, let's be honest, I think we'd all like to do). Going through the memories of his misspent youth. Williams provides hilarious commentary on the many universal components of adolescence, including segments such as "Breaking down your group of friends at school," "Deconstructing the first time you fell in love" and "The first time you made music with your mates." Despite being specific to Williams' own life in the U.K., this comedy is deeply relatable for anyone looking back on their own youth.

"The Flood" (2019)

Lena Heady ("Game of Thrones") stars as Wendy, an immigration officer with a reputation for harsh and quick rejections of applicants in this drama coming to Hulu on Thursday, July 30. Her job suddenly gets more complicated when she is assigned the case of Haile (Ivanno Jerimiah, "London Unplugged," 2018), a high-profile asylum seeker with questionable motives. Through a series of vivid flashbacks, we see Haile's treacherous journey spanning countries and oceans to finally land in the U.K. The film serves as a commentary on the modern-day refugee crisis and is based on the true stories of multiple people who struggled to achieve refugee status.

Tyler Perry and Thandie Newton in "Good Deeds"

By Jessica Gosse

TV Media

"Good Deeds" (2012)

Tyler Perry ("Vice," 2018) stars as successful businessman Wesley Deeds in this drama coming to Prime on Monday, July 27. Wesley lives a predictable life with his fiancee, Natalie (Gabrielle Union, "L.A.'s Finest"), but when he meets Lindsey (Thandie Newton, "Westworld"), a single mom who works as a cleaner for his company, his life is suddenly turned upside down. Lindsay does her best to provide for her 6-year-old daughter Ariel (Jordenn Thompson, "A Haunted House," 2013), but after she gets evicted, they have to resort to living in their van. When Wesley discovers this, he insists on taking them for pizza and bonds with both of them. His relationship with Lindsey quickly grows, especially when Ariel is taken by Child Protective Services and he helps get her back by setting them up with an apartment owned by his company. Unfortunately, the more involved he becomes in their lives, the more strained his relationship with Natalie becomes.

"Animal Kingdom" Season 4

The cold-blooded Cody family returns when the fourth and latest season of this crime drama joins the Prime lineup on Wednesday, July 29. This season sees J (Finn Cole, "Peaky Blinders") continue to conspire to take over the family business while Smurf (Ellen Barkin, "The New Normal") takes drastic measures to prove she's still in control. Meanwhile, Craig (Ben Robson, "The Boy," 2016) comes up with a new plan for an extremely dangerous heist and Pope's (Shawn Hatosy, "Southland") anger issues begin to manifest in a dangerous way. While each of them faces their own difficulties, the entire family is strained when a friend of J's mother, a junkie named Angela (Emily Deschanel, "Bones"), shows up in town and reaches out to them.

"The Inevitable Defeat of Mister & Pete" (2013)

Set in the New York City projects during a sweltering summer heatwave, this unforgettable film tells the story of 13-year-old Mister (Skylan Brooks, "Empire") and his 9-year-old neighbor, Pete (Ethan Dizon, "Avengers: Infinity War" 2018). When Mister's drug-abusing mother, Gloria (Jennifer Hudson, "Cats" 2019), is arrested while Pete's mom is off on a bender, the young duo fights to avoid being taken into custody and sent to an orphanage before Mister can attend an audition. With no money, no protection and hardly any help, Mister and Pete struggle to fend off not only the police, but hunger, heat, drug dealers and other criminals as well. Mister and Pete don't get a plucky adventure, but a painfully real story of the struggles of being a youth in poverty - you will need your tissues for this one. Brooks and Dizon stun with their performances, matching the pace of talented co-stars Anthony Mackie ("Altered Carbon"), Jordin Sparks ("God Bless the Broken Road" 2018), Jeffrey Wright ("Westworld") and Adewale Akinnuoye-Agbaje ("The Fix"). The film was released on Amazon Prime in early July.

"Farscape"

After being pulled through a wormhole to an unknown part of the galaxy, astronaut John Chrichton (Ben

Jennifer Hudson in "The Inevitable Defeat of Mister & Pete"

Finn Cole in "Animal Kingdom"

Browder, "Stargate SG-1") lands on a prison transport ship in the midst of a chaotic escape from a military group known as the Peacekeepers, and so begins one of the greatest sci-fi series ever made, with a rag-tag crew, a living spaceship and the wrath of a vengeful military captain. The entire four-season series was made available on Prime in celebration of its 20th anniversary, along with the three-hour miniseries "Farscape: The Peacekeeper Wars," which was created to tie up the story after the show was abruptly canceled. "Farscape" is unapologetically strange from soundtrack to setting, always reminding you that this world and everything in it is alien, both figuratively and literally. The viewer is put into the shoes of Chrichton as mental turmoil begins to eat away at him, resulting in a tripped-out space opera you truly need to see to believe, especially the Looney Tunes-esque animations and bunny-suited brawls that take place in Chrichton's subconscious throughout the series. Jim Henson's Creature

Shop did some of their best work in this series, creating characters that are more than the standard humanwith-weird-face that is common in scifi television. "Farscape" is sci-fi amidst sci-fi, earing its cult following with the unbelievable amount of artistic work put in, stunning performances by the cast, remarkable character writing, subtly genius sound and camera cues and overflowing buckets of originality. Binge the 88-episode series on Prime now.

"The Umbrella Academy" Season 2

Based on the Dark Horse comic of the same name by Gerard Way, this unique show was a big hit for Netflix last year. Don't miss the next season of this unusual superhero series when it premieres Friday, July 31, on the streamer. Season 1 introduced viewers to the Hargreeves children – Vanya (Ellen Page, "Inception," 2010), Luther (Tom Hopper, "Black Sails"), Diego (David Castañeda, "Switched at Birth"), Allison (Emmy Raver-Lampman, "Wednesdays," 2020), Klaus (Robert Sheehan, "Fortitude"), Ben (Justin H. Min, "Dating After College") and Five (Aidan Gallagher, "Nicky, Ricky, Dicky & Dawn") - who were all born with superpowers and adopted by Sir Reginald Hargreeves (Colm Feore, "The Borgias") to create a team of superheroes. However, the team didn't last long as they began to drift apart as teenagers due to their vast differences in personality and power. But, following the death of their adoptive father and the news of an imminent apocalypse, they band together again. That didn't quite go as planned. The Season 1 finale saw Vanya bringing on the apocalypse herself and the others narrowly escaping by using Five's power to go back in time. Now, in Season 2, we see the repercussions of their decision as the siblings find themselves in various times over a three-year period starting in 1960. Each is stuck in the past and unsure if the others have survived, so some have done the only thing they felt they could: moved on. But when Five lands in the middle of yet another world-ending event, they realize they have altered history, and not for the better.

"The Hater" (2020)

The latest drama from Academy Award-nominated director Jan Komasa ("Corpus Cristi," 2019) makes its debut this Wednesday, July 29, on Netflix. "The Hater" provides commentary on today's society as it follows Tomasz (Maciei Musiałowski, "Druga szansa"), a failed law student who desperately wants to earn his family's respect and to catch the eye of his old friend, Gabi (Vanessa Aleksander, "Wojenne dziewczyny"). Despite sending out numerous resumes, Tomasz struggles to find a job until he finally lands a position at a PR company. He soon realizes that the company is severely lacking in ethics, using social media smear campaigns and political games to manipulate society. The company quickly notices Tomasz talent for the job and has him orchestrate more and more campaigns, but while he enjoys his work, he begins to see the real-life effects.

"Get Even"

Private school drama takes a sinister turn when this series premieres Friday, July 31, on Netflix. In order to expose

the many bullies in their school, four girls from very different cliques – Bree (Mia McKenna-Bruce, "The Dumping Ground"), Kitty (Kim Adis, "The Turning," 2020), Olivia (Jessica Alexander, "Penny on M.A.R.S") and Margot (Bethany Antonia, "Pin Cushion," 2017) – band together to create a group known as Don't Get Mad (DGM). When their fellow student Mika's (Emily Carey, "Casualty") private photos are stolen and posted online without her consent, the team targets the culprit, a boy named Ronny (Joe Flynn, "Call the Midwife"). Before they can expose him, though, a mystery attacker pushes Ronny out of his bedroom window, killing him. Upon investigation, Ronny is discovered to have been holding a note that reads "DGM." The girls quickly realize that someone is trying to frame them, and as the investigation into Ronny's murder continues, each of the girls' many dark secrets begin to come out, making them look more and more quilty.

"Seriously Single" (2020)

Fulu Mugovhani ("Ayanda," 2015) stars as serial monogamist Dineo who learns what it truly means to be single for the first time in this comedy premiering on Netflix this Friday, July 31. Dineo wants nothing more than to find true love and get married, but when her latest love and boyfriend, Lunga (Bohang Moeko, "Is'Thunzi"), breaks up with her to be with someone else, she is left devastated. Heartbroken, she moves in with her commitment-phobic best friend, Noni (Tumi Morake, "Vagrant Queen"). While Noni helps Dineo to navigate her newfound singledom, she needs some help from Dineo herself when she meets a man she could actually be serious about.

Q: I've seen the guy who plays Drax in the "Guardians of the Galaxy" movies in a lot of things lately. Where did he come from?

A: I'm assuming you mean what's his career background, rather than where was he born. (If I'm wrong, the answer to your question is Washington, D.C., and you can stop reading now.)

It's natural to wonder about his background. Usually when notably muscle-bound actors show up in big roles out of nowhere, there's a sports career behind them somewhere, and so it is with Dave Bautista, though his was a particularly theatrical sports career.

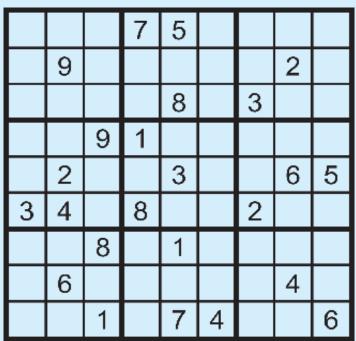

Prior to being Drax the Destroyer in the Marvel Cinematic Universe, Bautista was a pro wrestler who fought under the clever nickname Batista. He became a superstar in that most film-friendly of sports before shifting over to films.

He moonlighted for a while, but aside from the occasional cameo at a major wrestling event, Bautista is now a full-time actor.

As you said, he's been in a lot lately. Apart from his four Marvel movies, he's also appeared in the 2015 Bond film "Spectre" and has branched out even further in the past two years with leading roles in two comedy films, "Stuber" (2019) and "My Spy" (2020).

Q: What is the least amount of time passed before a movie has been remade? I know "Cabin Fever" was remade about 10 years after the original.

A: Unfortunately, that question is not as straightforward as it sounds.

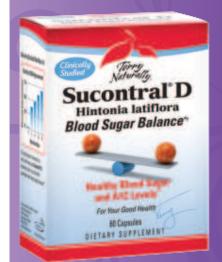

British entertainment site Music-Magpie took a big-data approach to the issue of film remakes, gathering information on 1,438 films that were either remakes or remade, going all the way back to 1902. Regarding time gaps, the authors found that a whopping 21 films on the list were remade within a year of their original release, however these were mostly "regional adaptations of foreign

That's not really what you're asking about.

Closer to the spirit of your question would be the various superhero remakes we've seen recently.

In that case, it's basically a tie between old frenemies the Hulk and Spider-Man. The 2008 film "The Incredible Hulk," starring Edward Norton as the famed doctor with the angry, green alter-ego, came just five years after "Hulk," which told the same story with Eric Bana in the title role.

Meanwhile (or almost meanwhile), 2012 saw Andrew Garfield star in "The Amazing Spider-Man," a mere five years before Tom Hol-land retold Spidey's origin story in "Spider-Man: Homecoming."

Complicating things further, these super-cases weren't even included in MusicMagpie's study. The authors of the study argued that superhero films like these fall under the category of reboots, rather than remakes, because they often (though not always) feature significant story differences.

Even your example, "Cabin Fever," is a bit complicated. There have actually been five different movies with that title, though only two - made in 2002 and 2016 - were about a group of friends catching a flesh-eating disease at a remote cabin.
