Onalaska's Berryblue Llama Farm Offers Fresh Fruit, Eggs

BERRY: Owner Courtney Miller Has Blueberries, Raspberries, Pears, Apples and Mulberries, As Well As Chicken and Duck Eggs

By Eric Trent

Editor's Note: The Chronicle is working to assist local businesses suffering from the effects of the COVID-19 virus spread and associated government orders to close or limit commerce. There will be a feature on a local business in each edition of The Chronicle and at chronline.com moving forward. To be considered, email reporter Eric Trent at etrent@chronline.com. Additionally, The Chronicle will continue to offer its coverage of the coronavirus and its effects across the community, state and nation free outside of our paywall at chronline.com.

ONALASKA — A mahogany rooster scurries out of a barn when the door slides open; A long-haired barn cat rolls around in the dirt, taking in the summer sun; a team of ducks honk somewhere beyond a stand of fruit trees, scooping up whatever remains of fallen plums. And five llamas, Mack, Daisy Mae, Sorpresa, Fin and Toro, curiously and cautiously approach the sound of grain rolling around in a bowl Courtney Miller holds in her hand.

It's just another day on Miller's 7.5-acre farm on Gore Road, located a mile north of Salkum. The day Miller planned to move to this farm was the day Mount St. Helens blew. It's safe to say her moving day had to be postponed.

Miller, who used to breed llamas for a living, wanted to start a blueberry farm 40 years ago, so she named her new farm Berryblue Llama Farm. It didn't take long before she started adding other fruits. Eventually she began selling blueberries and raspberries to a health food store in Chehalis owned by the Wildhaber family in 1995. She even brought a couple of llamas to the grand opening and showed them off in the parking lot.

She's been selling to the Wildhabers, who now own Jeremy's Farm to Table restaurant and Jeremy's Fruit Stand, ever since. And now her small farm also produces raspberries, apples, plums, pears and even a mulberry tree.

"It bears absolutely the most exquisite tasting berries — it's like candy, except it's fruit-flavored," Miller said. "It's that sweet. They're just phenomenal. I have to fight the birds off for them and then the ducks."

Her raspberry patches are thick and full of giant caps and currently in between crops. They bear two cycles of berries, first in early summer and again in early fall, and even on Friday there were stalks full of green, unripened berries for future harvest in two to three weeks.

"A lot of people are surprised when they see me walking in with boxes to Jeremy's like, 'You have raspberries this time of year?" Miller said.

Most of Miller's fruit sales that don't go to Jeremy's will come from locals and word-of-mouth. Her business is listed on the Lewis County Farm Guide, which has a brochure and is online. Many of the locals around Salkum have their own apple and pear trees, but she'll get calls once in a while asking if she has a certain kind of pear or apple that they don't have.

"It's far from a fortune but it's certainly worthwhile," Miller said.

has a little "eggs for sale" sign at the end of her driveway. She has seven ducks and their eggs sell for $4.50 to $5, depending on the time of year. She has 18 chickens and their eggs run $3.75 to $4.

Everything is organic on her farm; nothing is sprayed. She is not certified organic, however, as it is a costly certification to get and being that she runs the farm by herself.

"I've been organic since day one, so that's been an extra attraction for a lot of people," Miller said.

There are no set hours for Berryblue Llama Farm and it is not u-pick, but it does offer on-site sales. Anyone interested in purchasing fruit or eggs can contact Miller by phone at 360-623-9532, or by email at camseven. miller@gmail.com.

"I'm not that interested in waving a flag for people to stop, necessarily, but certainly wordof-mouth and people coming," Miller said.

)earA

DEAR ABBY: Last month, I found out a friend of mine was going to be living out of his van. I couldn't let him do that, so I offered him my second bedroom and put him on the lease.

He told me Uber doesn't pay much, and he couldn't afford half the $1,700-a-month rent, so we agreed he would pay what he could, roughly $200-$300 of the $1,700. I said it was OK because I didn't take him in for money purposes. I did it to help a friend in need, and I had spare space.

I quickly found out that he's a hoarder. His entire bedroom is full of his boxes of stuff (manga, anime, books, etc., not furniture or a TV), so much so that he's been sleeping on my living room couch. He also spends all his time at home and Ubered only the last two days of the month to make the $200 to pay me.

I guess my question is, our agreement was $200-$300 a month, which he paid, but does finding out he's working only two days a month to make it change our agreement? — TOOK IN A LOST PUPPY IN HAWAII

DEAR TOOK: May I point out that when you took this "puppy" in, it wasn't so he'd be sleeping on your couch but in the spare room? He shouldn't be using YOUR living room or YOUR couch for sleeping.

Because you put this freeloader on the lease - for what reason, I cannot fathom — you may need an attorney to get him out of there. Rather than working two days a month to pay that minuscule amount of rent to you, he should be driving enough hours to accumulate a down payment on a place of his own. To say that your kindness has been taken advantage of is an understatement.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-yearold woman who hasn't been very lucky when it comes to relationships. My first real relationship wasn't until I was 20, and it didn't last too long. I have "talked" to quite a few guys, but they never went past the "getting to know you" stage.

I was able to figure out things I wanted and didn't want in a relationship. My best friend for the last eight years has always been there to help me get through some pretty hard times. He has all the qualities I'm looking for in someone. He's smart, funny, honest, caring and is literally a male version of me.

When we were younger, he told me he had feelings for me, but I only saw him as a friend. Everyone would tell us we should be together, but I ignored it. After years of knowing I didn't feel the same way, he gave up trying to progress our friendship into something more. I always told him I didn't want to get romantically involved because I value his friendship too much and I didn't want to lose him.

He recently started a relationship with someone, and it made me realize I might have romantic feelings for him that I haven't had before. I don't know what to do. Please help. — TOO LATE IN TEXAS

DEAR TOO LATE: The longer you remain silent, the greater the chances that your friend's new relationship could develop into something serious. Tell him all the qualities you think are special about him (minus the one about being your "clone"). Then follow it up with the fact that it wasn't until he started this new romantic relationship that you realized you have those kinds of feelings for him. Better late than never.

DEAR ABBY: My wife left me a little over two years ago, and I can't seem to get over it. All she said was that we had an "emotional disconnect." I don't believe she was unfaithful.

All I can think about is being with her, and I cringe if I think about her being with someone else. I'm a professional with a good career and pension, and I have been approached by some nice women who would like to date. How can I get over my feelings for my ex? — LONELY IN THE PLAINS

DEAR LONELY: Have you been getting out and participating in leisure activities since your wife left? That would be one way to get your mind off her because sitting around thinking about her is counterproductive.

Your ex should have been more specific about why she left. Understanding would have helped you start to really heal. Because it has been two years and you haven't been able to work this out, please talk with a licensed psychotherapist. Your physician or your health insurance provider can give you the names of qualified professionals. Please don't wait to ask.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter just informed me that she will be hanging a deer head in their living room. Her live-in boyfriend loves to hunt, and she is doing this for him. Just thinking about it makes me physically ill. My thoughts turn to a dying animal who is suffering.

My husband and I gave my daughter $12,000 to buy this home. I want her to rethink her decision based on the fact that this disturbs me, not that I'm trying to push her ground because we gave her this money. I know she will take it personally and be upset at me. Help! — UNEASY IN OREGON

DEAR UNEASY: I think we both know your daughter is an adult and entitled to make that decision without worrying that her fella's hobby bothers you. We don't have to like it or approve. Because what's upsetting you is the idea that the deer suffered, ask your daughter (or him) how many shots it took to take the creature down. If it was more than one, you might be happier entertaining them in your home.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I retired five years ago. I have adequate savings and an excellent pension for us to live comfortably.

I took up a hobby three years ago that generates about $5,000 in annual income, which I put aside in a separate bank account. My wife asked, "What are you saving that money for?" I said, "Maybe" a classic car, helping with a family reunion (on my side)", etc. She responded, "We need to be on the same page about how it gets spent because half of it is mine."

When I reached out to my son for his insight, he sided with her because (legally) half of what I have is hers. I have no problem consulting with her on a major expenditure coming out of our other savings, but on this one I feel she is controlling and petty. Your thoughts? — HOBBY IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR HOBBY: I agree with you. Not only that, but she also lacks

DEAR ABBY: When I was a little girl, my mother died of breast cancer. I always suspected that I might have the gene, too. To make matters worse, my dad got skin cancer a couple of years ago, meaning my risk of getting cancer is higher because of both my parents having it.

I'm turning 18 in a couple of months, and I want to get tested to see what my risk is, but I'm terrified. I sometimes feel a stabbing pain in my chest and think I feel a lump. I'm not sure if I'm imagining it due to my stress and fear or if it's true. I don't want to tell my dad until after my appointment, which I plan on doing alone. What do you think I should do? Should I tell him? - AFRAID IN FLORIDA yourself. The lump you felt may not be what you fear, but a cyst. Breast cancer in teen girls is rare, but cysts are quite common. (It might also be nothing.) That said, because of your family history, you should be checked by a doctor.

I don't believe in keeping secrets of this nature. If you would like emotional support when you get the test for the BRCA gene, your father — or a female relative — would be a logical choice to go with you. Please give it some thought.

DEAR ABBY: I have a medical alert service dog. People at the store won't leave him alone to do his job, and I don't know what to do. I don't want to be rude to these people, but my life depends on his alerting. Each time I must shop for groceries, I am very afraid. Advice? - NO PETTING IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR NO PETTING: You are a nice person. Too nice, in fact. When someone attempts to distract your service animal, TELL the person emphatically to stop immediately because he is on duty, working to ensure your safety, and being distracted could cost you your life. It is the truth.

A complicated man

Morse returns to solve mysteries in 'Endeavour'

By Kyla Brewer TV Media

'V sleuths have been staples of prime time for ages, and with good reason. They captivate viewers with tales of mystery, intrigue and drama, not to mention their fascinating personalities. Jack Webb's no-nonsense Joe Friday solved crime in "Dragnet" in the 1950s, Peter Falk fumbled his way to justice as TV's "Columbo" for decades in TV series and movies, and Kristen Bell recently returned to the airwaves as the spunky titular character in Hulu's "Veronica Mars." If TV crime solvers have something in common, it's that they're unique. To the delight of fans, one of modern television's most unique detectives has returned.

Shaun Evans ("Teachers") is back as gifted investigator DS Endeavour Morse in a new episode of "Masterpiece Mystery: Endeavour," airing Sunday, Aug. 23, on PBS. The British ITV series serves as a prequel to the popular '80s and '90s detective drama "Inspector Morse." In "Endeavour," Evans stars as the younger version of that show's protagonist, giving fans a glimpse at how his career began with the Oxford City Police CID.

Consisting of three interconnected feature-length films, Season 7 picks up with Morse in 1970. It's a fresh decade and a fresh start for the detective, who's left his memorable Season 6 mustache in the 1960s. Cleanly shaven, he's ready to tackle new cases alongside his mentor and friend, DCI Fred Thursday, played by Roger Allam ("V for Vendetta," 2005). This season, the unlikely pair tries to solve a number of homicides against the backdrop of the women's liberation movement and increasing racial tensions in the '70s.

As with all the previous "Endeavour" episodes, each of the three Season 7 installments was written by the show's creator, Russell Lewis ("The Ambassador"). In an official ITV release about Season 7, "Endeavour" executive producer Damien Timmer ("Poirot") had high praise for Russell's work on the new season.

"It's a thrill to enter a new decade and tell more tales of the not-quiteso-young now Endeavour Morse," Timmer said. "Russell has some very striking stories to tell in this new set of films which we hope will baffle, unnerve and delight the show's fans!"

The program may be a prequel, but that doesn't mean that it won't ring true with today's audiences. According to its star, the new season's episodes take their cues from modern-day issues. In a February article with RadioTimes.com, Evans talked about the timeliness of this season's topics, which include sexual harassment and immigration.

"I don't want to say it's a comment, but I think these stories work best when there is a reflection of what's going on now," Evans said.

The storylines are new, but there will be some familiar faces returning for Season 7. Anton Lesser ("Game of Thrones") reprises his role as CS Reginald Bright, Sean Rigby ("Gunpowder") will once again appear as DS Jim Strange, and James Bradshaw ("Hollyoaks") is back as Dr. Max DeBryn. Abigail Thaw ("Casualty") returns as Oxford Mail editor Dorothea Frazil, and Caroline O'Neill ("Coronation Street") portrays Thursday's wife, Win.

While the new season is sure to be full of captivating characters and mysteries, fans of the show may notice something's missing. Those hoping to see Sara Vickers ("Watchmen") as Morse's previous love interest, Joan Thursday, are out of luck in Season 7. The actress was busy with her new baby as they were filming the latest episodes, so she wasn't available to reprise her role

As for the rest of the cast, viewers may be surprised to learn that it was a bit of a family fair on the set of "Endeavour." This season, Allam welcomed to the set both his real-life wife, Rebecca Saire ("Vanity Fair"), as Mrs. Radowicz and his son, William Allam ("A Little Chaos," 2014), as Gary Rogers. Also, Thaw played opposite her daughter, newcomer Molly-Mae Whitmey, who played women's rights activist Sally Alexander, a character based on Thaw's real-life mother. Even more interesting is the fact that the real-life Alexander was married to Thaw's father, John Thaw ("The Sweeney"), who played Endeavour Morse in the original "Inspector Morse" series. Abigail Thaw joked about the experience in a February article on oxinabox.co/uk.

"I get to meet my mother played by my daughter. How confusing is that," Thaw was quoted as saying. "It's three generations in one, but we are all the wrong age.

It looks as if "Endeavour's" seventh season has plenty to offer PBS's North American viewers. The show aired in the U.K. in February to much critical acclaim and ratings success. Those who still aren't quite convinced may be interested to know that the series has landed on various must-watch lists of highprofile publications, including the New York Times, popsugar.com and The Atlantic.

See what all the fuss is about by checking out Morse's latest case.

Endeavour investigates what appears to be a freak accident at Lady Matilda's College, but he soon discovers that the incident may be linked to other suspicious events throughout Oxford. Thursday is skeptical, but his young friend is sure that the so-called accidents are the result of foul play in a new episode of "Masterpiece Mystery: Endeavour," airing Sunday, Aug. 23,

Rose McIver and George Mason as seen in "Daffodils"

By Jessica Gosse TV Media

1 V IVICAIA

"Daffodils" (2020)

Maisie Williams (played by New Zealand singer/songwriter Kimbra) learns that her father is on his death bed as she heads to a gig at an indie music bar in this heartfelt film coming to Hulu on Thursday, Aug. 20. As she sings her opening number, Maisie thinks back on how little she really knew about her parents before the night that her father told her their story. Rose McIvor ("iZombie") and George Mason ("Home and Away") star as Maisie's parents, Rose and Eric, as the tale of their ill-fated romance is told through classic New Zealand songs. The musical follows Rose and Eric's relationship, from the time they first met and fell madly in love in 1966 through the many highs and lows of the years, all of which eventually culminate in their divorce in 1988.

"Behind You" (2020)

Mirrors have never been a good omen in horror films, whether they're a conduit for Bloody Mary or the Candyman. On Sunday, Aug. 16, this horror film will have you avoiding all of your mirrors as it joins the Hulu lineup. When their mother tragically dies, sisters Olivia (Addy Miller, "Paranormal," 2009) and Claire (Elizabeth Birkner, "The Outpost") are sent to live with their estranged Aunt Beth (Jan Broberg, "Everwood"). From the moment they arrive, Aunt Beth makes it abundantly clear that she doesn't want them there, and she enforces a strict set of rules, the most important being that the basement door remains locked at all times and they never go down there. Despite her aunt's firm rule, Claire's curiosity soon gets the better of her, and she sneaks into the basement. She discovers a dust-coated mirror, and when words magically begin to appear written in the dust, Claire believes it's a message from her mother and accidentally releases an evil spirit. Now, the girls must save themselves from the spirit that once tormented their mother.

"Love in the Time of Corona"

Relationships are hard work, even on a good day, so when you factor in a global pandemic that leaves you trapped in your home, "hard work" doesn't even begin to cover it. On Saturday, Aug. 22, the realities of managing a relationship in the midst of a pandemic are brought to light in the premiere of this drama. The series has a similar feel to "Modern Love" or the 2003 classic "Love Actually" as it focuses on four very different couples whose lives all interweave. The first couple is James (Leslie Odom Jr., "Smash") and Sade (Nicolette Robinson, "The Affair"), who, despite having a child together, lead very separate lives as she raises their kid and he travels constantly for work. However, when the pandemic hits, James is suddenly at home full time, and their relationship becomes strained. Also featured are Nanda (L. Scott Caldwell, "Lost") and Charles (Charles Robinson, "Hart of Dixie"). who have been together for 50 years but are forced apart when the lockdown leaves Charles stuck in a rehab facility. Elsewhere, Paul (Gil Bellows, "Patriot") and Sarah (Rya Kihlstedt, "Charmed") have been secretly separated for months and are forced to maintain their ruse of being happily married when they are stuck in quarantine with their newly single daughter. The series doesn't focus exclusively on pre-existing relationships, though. It also follows the story of Oscar (Tommy Dorfman, "13 Reasons Why") and Elle (Rainey Qualley, "Ocean's 8," 2018), who have a platonic friendship that becomes complicated as Elle develops feelings for Oscar just as his latest fling starts to become serious. Whether you're single or in a serious relationship, don't miss the series premiere of this deeply relatable drama.

Leslie Odom Jr. stars in "Love In the Time of Corona"

"The Peanut Butter Falcon" (2019)

This sweet film is available now for your streaming pleasure. Shia LaBeouf ("Honey Boy," 2019) stars as Tyler, a man who is both self-destructive and downon-his-luck. After antagonizing some particularly vindictive local men, Tyler goes on the run, and soon stumbles across Zak (newcomer Zack Gottsagen), a man with Down syndrome who has run away from his care home in the hopes of realizing his lifelong dream. Zak's quest to become a wrestler and his determination to be free touch Tyler, and the unlikely pair begin to travel together, developing a genuine friendship in the process. When Eleanor (Dakota Johnson, "Our Friend," 2019), one of Zak's caregivers, tracks the men down, she tries to persuade them to return Zak to his home, while they try to persuade her to join them on their adventure.

Untold Stories of the ER

TLC 1:00 p.m.

This super-dramatic rebroadcast features a recovering stroke patient who is left horrified when his wife, and both of his girl-friends, come to visit him in the hospital, resulting in an all-out brawl. In Iraq, army doctors fight to save explosion victims.

Neighbors

FX 4:00 p.m.

Seth Rogen and Rose Byrne star as new parents Mac and Kelly, who are disappointed when a rowdy fraternity moves in next door in this comedy. A turf war soon erupts between the couple and the fraternity's president, Teddy (Zac Efron).

Jodie Turner-Smith and Daniel Kaluuya star in "Queen & Slim"

Saturday prime time | 11

Queen & Slim

нво 8:00 р.т.

After a bad Tinder date with Slim (Daniel Kaluuya), defense attorney Queen (Jodie Turner-Smith) is shot by an officer when the two are pulled over in this crime drama. When Slim ends up killing the officer, the two go on the run. Chloë Sevigny also stars.

Run This Town

SHOW 9:00 p.m.

This film dramatizes the final year of Rob Ford's tenure as Mayor of Toronto, which became international news after video surfaced of him engaging in illegal activities. Damian Lewis stars as Ford, while Ben Platt stars as a young journalist.

TV Media

"The Cup" (2011)

On Tuesday, Aug. 18, this heartwarming tale of brotherly love joins the Prime lineup. Based on a true story, "The Cup" follows Damien (Stephen Curry, "Mr. Black") and Jason Oliver (Daniel MacPherson, "Strike Back") as they follow in the footsteps of their dearly departed father, a legendary jockey. While both boys have a passion for horse racing, Damien clearly inherited not only his father's passion but also his talent. He takes it upon himself to win the prestigious Melbourne Cup with his temperamental horse, Media Puzzle, and his trainer, Dermot Weld (Brendan Gleeson, "Mr. Mercedes"). Damien is all set for the race when, just a week before the event, disaster strikes as Jason falls from his horse during a race and is rushed to the hospital. When he is told that Jason won't recover, Damien quickly begins to spiral into depression, but he soon realizes that the best way to honor his brother is to win the race for him.

"Chemical Hearts" (2020)

Austin Abrams ("Paper Towns," 2015) stars as Henry Page, a hopeless romantic who has never been in love, in this Amazon original film premiering Friday, Aug. 21, on the streamer. When Henry meets transfer student Grace Town (Lili Reinheart, "Riverdale") in his senior year, it's hardly love at first sight, but he finds his world changed when she is asked to co-edit the school paper with him. As they work together, Henry becomes more and more intrigued by the mysterious Grace and soon finds himself falling in love with her despite her peculiar nature. As they bond, Grace begins to open up to Henry about the secrets of her past, and while he wants to help her, she may not be the person he thinks she is. Based on the young adult novel of the same name by Krystal Sutherland, this heartfelt story of young love is one you won't want to miss.

"Californication"

The first season of "Californication," the sex, drugs and rock 'n' roll-fueled Showtime hit than ran from 2007 to 2014, is available now, on Prime. Hank Moody (David Duchovny, "The X-Files") is a struggling author, but it's not just his writer's block that plagues him. Moody is also a hedonistic, alcoholic womanizer, the love of his life (Natascha McElhone, "Designated Survivor") is about to get married to another man (Damian Young, "Ozark") and his daughter (Madeline Martin, "Hemlock Grove") has just reached the age where she is starting to notice what a screw-up her dad really is. Throw in an accidental one-night stand with his ex-lover's fiancé's teenage daughter (Madeline Zima, "Twin Peaks") and the resulting extortion, the death of his father, a carjacking and a stolen manuscript, and it's no wonder Showtime had themselves a hit that ran for seven seasons. On paper, Hank seems wholly unlikeable, but despite his many, many, many character flaws, all he wants is to show the woman he loves, and the daughter he cares for more than anything, that he can be better than his failures. Featuring rock music, the seedy underbelly of the City of Angels and Showtime-standard steaminess, "Californication" has laughs and heart that equal its shock value. You can catch Season 1 now.

Donna Douglas as seen in "The Beverly Hillbillies"

David Duchovny stars in "Californication"

"The Beverly Hillbillies"

If you have seen a television set at any point between 1962 and now, chances are you've seen this iconic series chronicling the lives of the Clampett family, poor mountain folk who strike oil, or "Black Gold," turning them into overnight millionaires. Now in syndication, there are many stations that air reruns of the show, but you can binge Season 1 on Amazon Prime. When widower

Jed Clampett (Buddy Ebsen, "Barnaby Jones") takes his new money to Beverly Hills, California, he does so with his beautiful, tomboy daughter Elly May (Donna Douglas, "Frankie and Johnny," 1966), his cantankerous mother-in-law, Granny Moses (Irene Ryan, "Meet Me After the Show," 1951), and his cousin Pearl's (Bea Benaderet, "Petticoat Junction") dim-witted son, Jethro (Max Baer Jr., "The Wild McCullochs" 1975). You'll find that strong characters, good writing and good old-fashioned wholesome comedy, even with they're 60 years old, still manage to hit the funny bone.

18 | Monday prime time

Airplane!

AMC 10:30 a.m.

An alcoholic pilot with a fear of flying due to wartime trauma boards a jumbo jet, attempting to woo back his stewardess girlfriend. When food poisoning decimates the passengers and crew, he must land the plane. Leslie Nielsen stars in comedy classic.

The King's Speech

ксра 8:00 р.т.

Colin Firth stars as George VI, whose severe stammer prompts him to meet with Lionel Logue (Geoffrey Rush), a rather unique speech therapist, in this Oscar-winning drama. The two forge a friendship that continues when George is suddenly crowned king.

Colin Firth in "The King's Speech"

I May Destroy You

нво 9:00 р.т.

In the Season 1 finale of this breakout drama, all of the memories from the night of January 22 come rushing back at once. Arabella (Michaela Coel) tears her demons out from beneath the bed once and for all as the season comes to its epic conclusion.

Bull

KIRO 10:00 p.m.

When a fertility clinic makes a mistake and uses the wrong sample, Benny (Freddy Rodriguez) and Bull (Michael Weatherly) take on the case of a couple who are being sued by the biological father of their child in this rebroadcast. Geneva Carr also stars.

The Price Is Right

кіко 10:00 а.т.

Comedian Drew Carey serves as host of this edition of the popular daytime TV game show. A fan favorite in the game show realm, the series features contestants competing to win cash and prizes by accurately guessing the price of a variety of products.

Cold Case Files

A&E 10:00 a.m.

Bill Kurtis hosts this series that documents some of the most haunting and fascinating cold case investigations from various detectives across the country. Originally produced by Tom Golden, this version of the show highlights some of the original's best.

Drew Carey hosts "The Price Is Right"

Thursday prime time |21

Cellblock 6: Female Lock Up

TLC 1:00 p.m.

Tune in for a marathon of this revealing reality series, following the lives of eight women incarcerated in Gwinnett County Jail in Georgia. The cameras follow them as they struggle to deal with their living situation and the actions that led them here.

Don't

комо 9:00 р.т.

In this hilarious new family game show created by Ryan Reynolds and series host Adam Scott, teams of four compete in wacky events where the goal is to not do certain things such as "Don't hit your sister!" or "Don't talk to strangers!"

Tom Ellis in "Lucifer"

By Jessica Gosse TV Media

"Lucifer" Season 5

Welsh actor Tom Ellis ("Isn't It Romantic?," 2019) returns to the role of Lucifer Morningstar in the anxiously awaited fifth season of this supernatural drama, premiering Friday, Aug. 21, on Netflix. The series began in 2016 with a simple enough premise: Lucifer Morningstar, King of Hell, got bored of ruling over the underworld and moved to Los Angeles, where he opened a nightclub. After a murder occurs outside his club and he helps the police solve the case, he begins working as a consultant of sorts with local detective Chloe Decker (Lauren German, "Chicago Fire"). While their relationship started off rocky with Chloe disapproving of Lucifer's unusual methods (which she refused to believe were supernatural abilities), they eventually bonded as they brought down criminals, and soon fans were wondering if they might end up together. The duo has faced more than just your run-of-the-mill L.A. criminals, though. They've also dealt with a priest determined to send Lucifer back to hell, a celestial being in the form of a lawyer and some very old acquaintances of Lucifer's:

Cain (Tom Welling, "Smallville") and Eve (Inbar Lavi, "Imposters").

Season 5 kicks off months after the dramatic Season 4 finale that saw Lucifer needing to return to hell. Now, Lucifer's back in the City of Angels, but something about him isn't quite right, and both Chloe and Mazikeen (Lesley-Ann Brandt, "Spartacus"), his right-hand demon, have noticed.

"Hoops"

On Friday, Aug. 21, don't miss the series premiere of this new adultoriented animated comedy on Netflix. "Hoops" comes from the creators of the popular animated shows "Archer" and "Bob's Burgers," and Jake Johnson ("New Girl") stars, lending his voice to Ben Hopkins, the coach of a floundering high school basketball team. Hopkins is convinced that he can turn the team around and use them as his ticket to the big leagues, but this is far from a "Coach Carter" situation. The coach has little to no skill for the game himself and has a horrible temper, a tendency to curse (the first episode is even titled "The F***** Pilot") and a generally shameless personality. Also lending their voices to the series are Rob Riggle ("21 Jump Street," 2012), Natasha Leggero ("Broke") and Ron Funches ("Undateable").

"The Sleepover" (2020)

Go on an action-packed family adventure with this new film from director Trish Sie ("Pitch Perfet 3," 2017), premiering Friday, Aug. 21, on Netflix. Clancy (Sadie Stanley, "Kim Possible," 2019) and Kevin Finch (Maxwell Simkins, "Love the Coopers," 2015) live an average life with their typical parents, Margot (Malin Akerman, "Billions") and Glen (Ken Marino, "Childrens Hospital") ... or so they think. In just one night, the siblings' lives are turned upside down as everything they think they know about their parents turns out to be wrong. When Margot is kidnapped, Clancy and Kevin come to learn that their mom is actually a former thief who was put in witness protection, and the men who took her want her to do one last job for them. Now, the siblings team up in order to rescue their mom before the night is over. Lucas Jaye ("Merry Happy Whatever") and Cree Cicchino ("Mr. Iglesias") also star.

hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison TV Media

Q:Why did we have to wait so long for the 2020 version of "Big Brother"? It seems like an ideal show for the COVID-19 era. Test all the contestants to be sure they are COVID-free and then put them in isolation where they will be perfectly safe.

A: You're right that "Big Brother" is better suited than most shows to film during an isolation period, but even a show about isolating people from society had to make some concessions to the pandemic.

The producers were reportedly just starting to cast the new season when the outbreak hit, so they decided to make it an all-star version instead. Those cast members had already been vetted and were familiar with the show, meaning the producers didn't have to continue looking around for new blood.

But there were still precautions they had to take. The Houseguests had to quarantine ahead of starting the show and be tested repeatedly, in order to ensure they didn't just give it to each other inside the house.

Then they had a crew to worry about. The eventual solution for them was, according to gossip site TMZ, a sort of off-camera "Big Brother" scenario.

The crew, who need to be there to bring supplies into the house, set up the competitions and do all the other necessary but unseen tasks to make the show work, had to work inside their own quarantine bubble, living in RVs next to the "Big Brother" house. They reportedly rotated in and out with other crew members so that they (unlike the Houseguests) got a bit of time off.

Q: I know James Bond's code number is 007, but was there a 001?

A: The answer depends on what you consider to be canon in the James Bond universe – that is to say, what constitutes authentic James Bond content. Neither author lan Fleming, who created the character in a series of novels, nor Eon Productions, the company that adapted those novels into a mega-grossing film franchise, gave us a 001.

But if you take a more liberal approach to canon, then 001 does exist – he's a senior agent who appears briefly in a novel written by Raymond Benson.

Solution on page 12

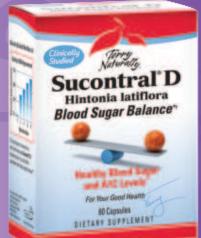

After Ian Fleming died, his estate allowed other authors to carry on writing Bond novels – a controversial but popular practice. Benson was one of those authors, and in his book "Doubleshot" he gives us the only reference to 001.

In a sense, this is a case study justifying the practice of allowing other writers to carry on an author's work (and copyright) after death. Fleming had created a rich spy world with plenty of unexplored avenues.

Indeed, Fleming himself actually gave us the smallest number of 00 agents. His books only mention five, including Bond himself.
