MORTON'S LONGTIME FAVORITE CODY CAFE KEEPS CHUGGING ALONG

TIMBERWOLVES:

Owners Carolyn and Walter Trumble Keep Serving Breakfast, Lunch With Just One Regular Employee

By Eric Trent

Editor's Note: The Chronicle is working to assist local businesses suffering from the effects of the COVID-19 virus spread and associated government orders to close or limit commerce. There will be a feature on a local business in each edition of The Chronicle and at chronline.com moving forward. To be considered, email reporter Eric Trent at etrent@chronline. com. Additionally, The Chronicle will continue to offer its coverage of the coronavirus and its effects across the community, state and nation free outside of our paywall at chronline.com.

MORTON — Though it's located in the geographic center of rectangular-shaped Lewis County, Morton, situated between Mount St. Helens and Mount Rainier, is miles and miles from what city folk call civilization.

Thirty-two miles from Interstate 5, the mountain foothill town of 1,200 relies on recreational tourist traffic and dollars to boost its economy. That's why when the coronavirus pandemic hit the nation in mid March, small businesses felt the full brunt of it.

One of those businesses is Cody Cafe, a longtime local dining spot positioned squarely in the heart of downtown on Main Avenue.

Owners Carolyn and Walter Trumble have owned and operated the little cafe since 1991. The couple moved to Rochester from

Eric Trent / etrent@chronline.com

Walter and Carolyn Trumble have owned and operated Cody Cafe in Morton since 1991. Carolyn worked there for 10 years prior to purchasing it from the previous owner.

Illinois over 40 years ago after marrying to be closer to family.

"Took me a while to get used to all the trees," Carolyn said. "I was used to cornfields."

Carolyn, who's mother owned a restaurant back east, had worked in the restaurant industry since junior high. It was the only work she knew. So she began working at a restaurant in Centralia until it finally closed. The owner also owned Cody Cafe in Morton and talked her into coming out and working there in 1981, just a year after Mount St. Helens erupted.

Carolyn worked there for 10 years and three owners before eventually buying the place in 1991. The couple had fallen in love with Morton and its forest, fishing and hunting opportunities.

"I thought, sure," Carolyn said. "We're going to go for it."

The restaurant has changed a lot in 29 years since the Trumbles bought it. Before the menu and decor were Old West-styled, with stampede sandwiches and so forth. Now it's become a classic American diner that specializes in old-school breakfast, club sandwiches and burgers.

Carolyn started cooking at the cafe when she first began working there in 1981 and still does most of the cooking.

When she took over the restaurant in 1991, the Cowlitz Falls Dam near Randle was being built and brought in tons of workers to Morton. The Trumbles were running three shifts with 17 employees. A lot has changed over the years. Less log trucks are rolling through town these days, according to an older born-and-raised-in-Morton couple eating at the cafe on Tuesday.

But the biggest recent change has been the coronavirus pandemic. That meant, of course, sterilizing every surface in the restaurant even more thoroughly than before and wearing protective masks. Customers who came in for to-go orders were kept six feet apart and all that. But it also meant the Trumbles had to lay off most of their employees. They are down to just themselves and one other employee for the time being.

They stayed open solely for togo order when dining-in was shut down until Memorial Day Weekend when Lewis County moved into phase two. They were lucky to get 12 customers a day during the past two months.

The cafe officially reopened for dining-in on June 3 and business has picked up a bit. With only 50 percent capacity or less allowed in restaurants statewide, the cafe is even seeing waiting lines now for people wanting to dine in.

Busy season for the cafe, and Morton businesses in general, is typically from June to August when tourists flock in to visit Mount St. Helens, Riffe Lake, White Pass Ski Area and the Pacific Crest Trail.

But with all the coronavirus restrictions across the state, the Trumbles are worried it could affect the amount of incoming tourists.

Most of the town's events scheduled this summer are already canceled, including the 78th annual Morton Loggers Jubilee, the self-titled "granddaddy of all logging shows," which brings in about 10,000 visitors to the small town. It's one of the largest events in Lewis County. Also canceled are the popular flea markets and the Mossyrock Blueberry Festival.

It all has the Trumbles concerned, but they don't plan to close their doors anytime soon. At least not because of coronavirus. If anything, it will be because they sell the cafe.

DearAbby

DEAR ABBY: When I was younger, I was engaged to a man I'll call "Jake." I was deeply in love with him, only to have my heart broken when he cheated on me, so I broke it off. A short time later, I developed feelings for his brother, "Jed." One thing led to another, and Jed and I are engaged to be married in two months.

When Jake found out I was dating Jed, he grew distant. I figured it was because he was in shock. Recently, he contacted me and invited me to dinner. Thinking it had to do with the wedding plans, I accepted. When we were getting ready to leave, Jake told me he still loved me and had made a terrible mistake. I had had a few drinks, and we ended up having a one-night stand.

I just found out I am pregnant, and I'm not sure if Jake is the father or Jed is. Honestly, I still love Jake, but he can't keep a job, and I don't think he could support me and a baby. What should I do? Should I keep my mouth shut and marry Jed, who has a good job and is faithful?

— BIG MESS IN THE SOUTH

DEAR BIG MESS: You would be doing a terrible disservice to Jed if you marry him while you "honestly" still love his brother. If you do, you will be in for a lifetime of guilt and frustration, and the chances are great that you and Jake won't be able to stay away from each other. While marriage under these circumstances may seem like an attractive solution for you economically, it doesn't take a crystal ball to predict it will be another disaster.

Instead of trying to take the easy way out, straighten your spine, fess up and do the right thing. A paternity test will determine which brother is the father of your child and the one who should support it.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 16-yearold girl and 6 feet tall. I have already been through the worst of mv insecurities, and even though I now have some confidence, my height still bothers me. I've always been taller than my peers and blamed my social problems on my height. Someone mentions it every day, and where I work, every other customer comments on it, too.

By Abigail Van Buren

I try not to be upset over something I can't change. I know people don't mean to be hurtful, but it makes me feel like I stand out too much. I also feel like I'm too big and too awkward for normal activities. My pants are never long enough, and my skirts are always too short. I have to adjust car seats and gym equipment to fit.

Worst of all, it's off-putting to boys. Most of them are shorter and cite it as the reason they aren't interested in me romantically. I know this might seem trivial, but it's my biggest insecurity and hard to overcome. Please help. — TALL PROBLEM IN NEW MEXICO

DEAR PROBLEM: Many people consider height to be an advantage. You might, too, once you decide to own and take pride in it.

Regarding your difficulty in finding clothes that fit, do some research online and you will discover stores that cater to tall women and men.

I can't wave a magic wand and fix the insecurities of the young men in your community and neither can you. This is why I'm advising you to broaden your horizons and look further for romance because it isn't beyond your reach. A way to do that might be to develop an interest in basketball, a sport that attracts tall people.

When you're older, check into a group called Tall Clubs International. If you are 21 and over 5 feet, 10 inches, you qualify to join and meet other people who won't be put off at all by your height. You will find them by going to tall.org.

DEAR ABBY: After many years, my sister and I finally have a decent relationship. I feel I can tell her about almost anything.

My brother-in-law, "Aaron," is an alcoholic, and my sister enables him. When he drinks, his already quick temper becomes worse and he "knows everything." To make things worse, they have a 3-year-old child I'll call "Casey." It infuriates me when I see Aaron's crude, foulmouthed, "omnipotent" behavior in front of Casey.

There have been times he has used my presence (because I babysit Casey) to drink to the point of impairment. When Casey has a tantrum or is overtired and acts her age, Aaron loses patience with her. He yells at her, slams things down in front of her and storms out of the room.

I'm well aware that children watch and learn behavior from their parents. Daughters will seek out boys, then men who behave like their father, thinking it is normal behavior. How do I approach my sister, who buys

Aaron whiskey when he's feeling down, that there's a serious problem here?

My husband and I have a stable home and successfully raised five children. We would be willing to take in Casey until Aaron is truly well. My comments to my sister will be met with fury or maybe hatred, but I will do whatever is best for Casey. I love that little girl too much to see her raised in such a toxic environment. — BETWEEN A DRUNK AND A HARD PLACE

DEAR BETWEEN: You say your sister slips her husband alcohol when he's down. To me that says he may be using it to self-medicate depression.

You DO need to talk with your sister. When you do, explain you are concerned about Aaron's change of behavior when he drinks and the effect it has — and will continue to have — on little Casey. Aaron does need help, but so does your sister. Enabling someone, as well-intentioned as it may be, is not helping the person.

Aaron needs to talk to a doctor about his episodes of depression, and your sister could gain a great deal of insight by attending some Al-Anon meetings. You can find one nearby by visiting al-anon.org. Offer to go with her if she's reluctant.

DEAR ABBY: I am in an interracial relationship (I'm black, and she's white/Hispanic). We have been together for a year.

She has met just about all my family and all of my friends, but I have only met four people in her life. She has a lot of friends on social media, but no one knows about me. She never posts pictures of us or even hints anything about me. She is friends with her ex-boyfriend, and she knows about his girlfriend, but he has no clue about me. No one does. I feel like I'm her invisible man.

She comes from a "country" background, and I'm afraid she is embarrassed or ashamed of me. Am I reading too much into this, or should I be concerned that she may not be into me as much as I am into her? We were talking about getting married. — INVISIBLE MAN IN TEXAS

DEAR INVISIBLE MAN:

Something isn't right here. You say you "were" talking about getting married. Are you still talking about it? I find it peculiar that after being together for a year, you haven't met her family, you have met so few of her friends and she has posted nothing about you on social media. The time has come to ask her the reason and whether your romance may have run its course.

Dear Abby is written by Abigail Van Buren, also known as Jeanne Phillips, and was founded by her mother, Pauline Phillips. Contact Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069.

Chicago-based drama 'The Chi' returns for a third season

By Sarah Passingham TV Media

n the crowded space of Chicago-based television dramas, Showtime's "The Chi" stands out. From its inception, the series has strived to tell some of the personal stories of south side Chicago residents that are often glossed over by sensational news headlines and out-of-touch procedurals. Rather than detailing the city's emergency situations from first responders' points of view, "The Chi" highlights the lives of the people who really live in Chicago's south side neighborhood. The third season of "The Chi" premieres Sunday, June 21, on Showtime.

If you are unfamiliar with "The Chi," the series opens with two deaths in its premiere episode. A young man is killed, wires are crossed and another young man is killed in retribution. A boy, Kevin (Alex Hibbert, "Moonlight," 2016), happens to be in the wrong place at the wrong time that night and locks eyes with the murderer. The killer, Ronnie (Ntare Guma Mbaho Mwine, "Queen of Katwe," 2016), unable to help himself out of the web in which he's become tangled, tries to keep word of what he did from spreading, even chasing Kevin down at one point. The series expands to include the stories of all of the people touched by those two deaths.

"The Chi" takes the violence and stereotypes that often exist in depictions of Chicago's south side and attempts to twist them into something that better resembles reality. It does depict gun violence and graphic deaths, but the cameras remain on the characters involved, telling their very human stories rather than panning over to the responders who swoop in after the fact.

The true breakout stars of "The Chi" have to be the show's younger cast members. They give the series some levity portraying Kevin and his preteen friends, as they get into typical preteen mischief, and Kevin's sister, Keisha, who is figuring things out for herself as a teenager. Keisha is portrayed by Birgundi Baker, who you may recognize from her first role as young Carol in Fox's music industry drama "Empire." From trailers released by Showtime previewing Season 3 of "The Chi," it appears that Keisha's love life is central to the season's plot. As a graduate of Howard University's Musical Theatre program, there's no doubt that Baker can handle the heavy lifting.

Viewers can also expect to see Ronnie's rebirth and Kevin embracing and struggling with everything that comes with growing up. Kevin's birthday isn't the only celebration on the south side as his and Keisha's mother marries her new wife. Their wedding ceremony is featured alongside the funeral of Brandon, who was a mentor to Kevin. Brandon was portrayed by Jason Mitchell ("Straight Outta Compton," 2015) for the first two seasons of "The Chi," but Mitchell was fired from the show after complaints of harassment from a crew member and one of his costars.

Lena Waithe, the Chicago born and raised creator of "The Chi" and Emmy Award-winning writer, set out to use her memories of growing up in the city's south side to craft a drama series more empathetic to the neighborhood's residents than she had ever seen before. She wanted to depict what life is like in south side Chicago beyond the oft-told news stories and scripted tales about our violence in the area. Waithe told The Guardian in a 2018 interview that she wanted to depict her hometown, saying, "I want to tell a story about where I'm from and the people that are there versus just the headlines." Waithe went on to say that "it's really important for young brown kids to see other brown kids on television because it's like you're seeing a version of yourself that you hope to be."

Waithe has channeled her ambition well and has created a number of projects her younger self would be proud of. Aside from "The Chi," she created two recently premiered comedy series for BET, "Boomerang," a sequel to the 1992 Eddie Murphy movie of the same name, and "Twenties," a project that started for Waithe when she herself was in her 20s in Los Angeles.

The "Master of None" actress is not only the creator, writer and producer of "The Chi," she also guest stars in the show's third season as Camille Halloway, a hopeful Chicago mayoral candidate. It appears that "The Chi" is ready to reach out beyond the lives of the families that the series has followed for its first two seasons and focus on a form of systemic change for the south side in Halloway's optimistic run for mayor.

Waithe is not the only member of the team behind "The Chi" to make their way onto the screen. Rapperactor-producer and Academy Award winner Common ("Hell on Wheels") stepped out of his executive producing chair and into the role of Rafiq, imam at the south side mosque where Ronnie seeks refuge in Season 1 of "The Chi."

Don't miss the third season premiere of "The Chi" when it airs Sunday, June 21, on Showtime.

Michael Cimino in a scene from "Love, Victor"

By Jessica Gosse

TV Media

"Love, Victor"

From the showrunners of the hit drama "This Is Us," don't miss the premiere of this new series when it airs Friday, June 19, on Hulu. In a follow-up to the popular 2018 film "Love, Simon," the series follows Victor (Michael Cimino, "Annabelle Comes Home," 2019) as he adjusts to life in a new city and being the new student at Creekwood High School. While "Love, Victor" has a brand new set of characters and circumstances, the series features the character Simon Spier (Nick Robinson, "Melissa & Joey") as the show's unseen narrator. The characters of Simon and Victor are similar, as both struggle to come to terms with their sexuality. In Victor's case, he doesn't want to burden his parents, Isabel (Ana Ortiz, "Ugly Betty") and Armando (James Martinez, "House of Cards"), who are more traditional and work hard to support their family. Victor is incredibly awkward, yet lovable – as proven by the trailer, which depicts a bumbling coffee shop interview with Benji (George Sear, "The Evermoor Chronicles"), a cute boy from school – and is joined by his two quirky best friends, the quick-witted Mia (Rachel Hilson, "Rise") and the social mediaobsessed Lake (Bebe Wood, "The Real O'Neals"). Together, the friends manage the ups and downs of high school while on their respective journeys of self discovery.

"Taste the Nation with Padma Lakshmi"

A lot of people may still be stuck in lockdown, but on Friday, June 19, you can travel across America from the comfort of your own home when "Taste the Nation with Padma Lakshmi" premieres on Hulu. The "Top Chef" host is heading off on her own culinary adventure as she tours America to explore not just the food but the cultures that make up the nation. While Lakshmi does eat a lot of good food and learn to cook some incredible dishes, the series shines a light on how culturally diverse America truly is and aims to get people to learn about the cultures that surround them. This is really a passion project for Lakshmi, which is made clear by the series trailer in which she states, "Everything that the American cuisine is today is because all these different people and different cultures contributed to it." Join Lakshmi as she explores the rich cuisine of various immigrant groups when all 10 episodes of this series premiere on Hulu.

"Justified"

Everybody loves a broody, flawed hero – bonus points if said hero is tall, dark and handsome. If you add a little sass, a lot of skill and overall self-destructive tendencies to the mix, you've got deputy U.S. Marshal Raylan Givens, the driving force of "Justified." All six seasons of the Emmy-winning show are streaming now on Hulu. Timothy Olyphant ("Santa Clarita Diet") stars as Givens, a crack-shot Kentucky lawman who has returned to his hometown to flush out an increasingly bold criminal element. His personal life is a mess, and he's often in trouble with his superiors for playing fast and loose with the rules, but with a wit as quick as his trigger finger, Givens does his job better than anyone else could. Olyphant is utterly captivating in the lead role, and there are many other standout performances throughout the seasons, too. Walton Goggins ("Six") plays Boyd Crowder, the bad guy with a heart of gold. The show is at its best when it brings Crowder and Givens together and you can feel the history and the chemistry between the two. As the story progresses, watch for some incredible performances by Raymond J. Barry ("Ray Donovan"), Kaitlyn Dever ("Unbelievable") and the marvelous Margo Martindale ("The Americans"), among many others. Check out "Justified," streaming now, on Hulu.

prime video this week

Joseph Gordon-Levitt ("Snowden," 2016) stars as Tobias, a soft-spoken young pilot who is forced into the position of hero when terrorists attempt to hijack his plane. Other than the tense, single-set shots and uncomfortably well-portrayed confinement, what makes "7500" special is that Tobias isn't a hero, he's just an average guy. Vollrath skewed expectations of the self-sacrificing, fearless leader, creating a narrative that lends itself terrifyingly well to the thriller genre. Locked within the confines of the cockpit with Tobias are terrorist leader Kenan (Murathan Muslu, "CopStories") and his visibly-distraught young accomplice, Vedat (Omid Memar, "Blutige Anfanger"). Find out where this unique, claustrophobic narrative will take you when it becomes available to stream Friday, June 19.

Kaya Scodelario stars in "Crawl"

By Breanna Henry TV Media

"Crawl" (2019)

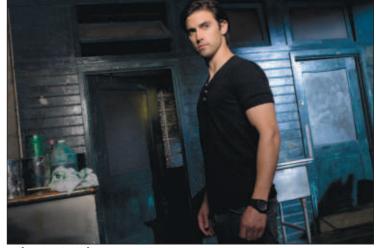

When an aspiring Olympic swimmer receives word that her father is trapped at ground zero of a Category 5 hurricane, she does what any other utterly insane person would do, and heads in to get him out herself. Unfortunately, there are much bigger, toothier problems than the rising water levels in her father's crawlspace, and the pair is forced to face not only the flood, but a horde of ravenous alligators as well. Where else could a disaster movie like this one take place, if not Florida? If this premise reminds you of over-the-top camp horror hits like "Sharknado" (2013) or "Piranhaconda" (2012), you're in for a surprise. "Crawl" will leave you gripping the edge of your seat, rooting for its daughter-father duo and cursing director Alexandre Aja ("The Hills Have Eyes," 2006) the next time your basement floods. The reviews say it all: Rotten Tomatoes' critics give a shocking 83%, earning it a spot on the site's Top 100 horror film of alltime list, and popular YouTube film reviewer Jeremy Jahns calls it "bafflingly good," and "way better than it ever had a right to be." Barry Pepper ("True Grit," 2010) pulls off an incredible supporting performance, and Kaya Scodelario's ("The Maze Runner," 2014) is wonderful in the lead role. These two carry the film almost entirely on their own, their performances so intense that you could almost believe they filmed with actual gators on set. "Crawl" begins streaming Thursday, June 18, on Prime.

"7500" (2020)

There is a clear distinction between pre- and post-9/11 American film, especially when it comes to how air travel is depicted on screen. In Oscarnominated German director Patrick Vollrath's feature-length debut, it becomes clear that this dividing line between films like "Air Force One" (1997) and "Flightplan" (2005), is observed across the globe. In "7500,"

"Heroes"

When "Crossing Jordan" creator Tim Kring's "Heroes" premiered in 2006, it took over almost instantly, and if you live in North America, chances are you've seen at least one episode. The first season gave NBC its highest ratings in more than five years, hitting a shocking average of more than 14 million viewers per episode. You can binge, or re-binge, all four seasons of this hit on Prime now. Despite some of the criticism leveled at later seasons, "Heroes" remains the birthplace of the modern superhero television show, and starred the likes of Milo Ventimiglia ("This Is Us"), Zachary Quinto ("NOS4A2"), Masi Oka ("Hawaii Five-0"), Sendhil Ramamurthy ("Covert Affairs"), Jack Coleman ("The Office"), Greg Grunberg ("Castle Rock") and Adrian Pasdar ("Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D.". This series had the third-largest cast of any American primetime series, so "ensemble" would be putting it lightly. Season 1, however, revolves mainly around just four main characters: Claire Bennet (Hayden Panettiere, "Nashville"), a disillusioned high school cheerleader with the ability to heal herself from seemingly any injury; the aptly-named Hiro Nakamura (Oka), a Japanese office worker with the ability to bend time and space: New Yorker Peter Petrelli (Ventimiglia), whose superhuman abilities seem to have no limit, and struggling single mother Niki Sanders (Ali Larter, "The Rookie"), whose black-outs have been leaving her with very problematic messes to clean up. As these four characters and their families lives begin to intertwine, we learn that it is not their powers that make them heroes or villains, but their humanity. As they are unknowingly pulled ever closer together by the strings of fate, the over-arching story of the series begins not to unravel, but tie itself tighter. You can binge this great series now on Prime.

"The Politician" Season 2

High school is over and all bets are off as Season 2 of Ryan Murphy's ("American Horror Story") "The Politician" premieres Friday, June 19, on Netflix. Season 1 introduced viewers to Payton Hobart (Ben Platt, "Pitch Perfect," 2012), an extremely ambitious man who knows beyond a shadow of a doubt that he will be president of the United States some day. Despite his confidence and ambition, Payton still has a long road ahead of him. At the end of the first season, we left Payton living in New York four years after high school, and that's exactly where Season 2 picks up. This season, Payton runs against Dede Standish (Judith Light, "Transparent") in a race for state senate. Greatly admired and assisted by her brilliant chief of staff, Hadassha Gold (Bette Midler, "The Stepford Wives," 2004), Standish believes her re-election will be easy, but when Payton begins his campaign, she begins to have doubts. Meanwhile, Payton is faced with a difficult decision about what type of politician (and, frankly, what type of man) he wants to be when he discovers information that, if leaked, could ruin Standish. His moral quandary gets even more complex as his mother, Georgina (Gwyneth Paltrow, "Avengers: Endgame," 2019), threatens to upstage all that he has worked for.

"A Whisker Away" (2020)

On Thursday, June 18, catch the premiere of this new anime film from the director of the classic anime series "Sailor Moon." The film centers on Miyo Sasaki (voiced by Mirai Shida, "The Wind Rises," 2013), an awkward young girl who is deeply infatuated with her classmate Kento Hinode (voiced by Natsuke Hanae, "Food Wars"). Miyo tries desperately to get Kento's attention, but no matter what she tries, nothing seems to work. When she happens to find a cat mask, she discovers it has magical properties, and it turns her into a real cat whenever she puts it on. She decides to use the mask to get close to Kento, spending more and more time with him, but as a cat. While she enjoys spending time with Kento, the magic of the mask lingers a little longer every time she wears it, and the line between human and feline begins to blur, making it harder for her to turn back into a girl.

"The Order" Season 2

The war between the werewolves and the dark arts practitioners continues when Season 2 of the horror drama "The Order" premieres Thursday, June 18, on Netflix. Jake Manley ("A Dog's Journey," 2019) stars as Jack Morton, a college student who joins a secret society known as "The Hermetic Order of the Blue Rose" in an effort to avenge his mother's death. Once he joins, he finds himself drawn into a world of magic and monsters, but the more involved he gets in the society, the more he learns about his family's secrets, including the feud between his grandfather, Pete (Matt Frewer, "Orphan Black"), and his estranged father, Edward (Max Martini, "The Purge"), who, coincidentally, is the Grand Magus of the order. Jack also becomes increasingly involved in the battle against the were-wolves, especially when he becomes intimately acquainted with their group, "The Knights of Saint Christopher." Season 2 will see the dynamic change as the battle continues, but Jack gets closer with Alyssa Drake (Sarah Grey, "DC's Legends of Tomorrow"), a fellow student and member of the order.

"Wasp Network" (2019)

Don't miss the debut of the political thriller "Wasp Network," based on the biographical novel "The Last Soldiers of the Cold War" by Fernando Morais, when it airs this Friday, June 19, on Netflix. Edgar Ramirez ("Point Break," 2015) stars as René González, a Cuban pilot who is looking to start a new life in Miami, leaving his daughter and his wife, Olga (Penelope Cruz, "American Crime Story"), in Havana. Upon moving to the U.S., he meets a group of Cuban exiles – Juan Pablo Roque (Wagner Moura, "Narcos"), Gerardo Hernandez (Gael Garcia Bernal, "Mozart in the Jungle"), Jose Basulto (Leonardo Sbaraglia, "Pain and Glory," 2019) and Ana Margartia Martinez (Ana de Armas, "Knives Out," 2019) - and they band together to fight against anti-Castro activity in Cuban-American organizations from the inside.

hollywood Q&A

TV Media

Q:Why can't I find "Walker, Texas Ranger" reruns anymore? It's my favorite show.

A: This is a good-news/bad-news situation, but it boils down to this: Be patient.

"Walker, Texas Ranger" was once a syndication powerhouse, airing reruns on multiple networks — as unavoidable on the dial as justice in Cordell Walker's Dallas. And though he may be a little bit scarce right now, there's reason to believe you'll be seeing a lot of Walker again soon. In fact, you'll probably be seeing two of him.

The CW network is rebooting the show with a new actor – "Supernatural" star Jared Padalecki. That show has been delayed, like everything else, by the coronavirus, but will eventually get on the air to inspire a whole new generation of "Walker" fans.

And the nice thing about reboots is they tend to generate new interest in the original. As has been seen with reboots of shows such as "Will & Grace" and "Roseanne," new versions of the show led to new rerun deals for the originals.

Now for some (potentially) bad news. Those new deals tend to be for online streaming – there have been some purchases for broadcast as well, but for the most part the deals are being made by the Amazon Primes and Netflixes of the new TV world. If you were hoping specifically for traditional-TV reruns, the chances aren't quite as good.

They're still pretty good, though. "Walker, Texas Ranger" was a huge hit and still has a fan base. And with a reboot on the way, it's only a matter of time before some channel wants to tap into all that.

Q: It seems that a lot of young Disney actors turned into pop stars. Even before Miley Cyrus and Selena Gomez, it was Christina Aguilera and Justin Timberlake. Are they given music lessons or something?

A: Yes, the young stars who start out in the Disney family are given music lessons, but only to build on what they already bring to the table. The real reason the Disney machine cranks out so many pop GOOD HEALTH stars is because the kids who appear on Disney shows are chosen for their raw talent.

Disney isn't just grabbing cute kids, putting them on TV and hoping for the best. The stars of its various tween-centric shows, most notably the various "Mickey Mouse Club" shows that have aired over the years, are chosen via a continent-wide talent search. Whatever Disney's branding says, this is more about science than magic.

To get back to your question, once they've gone through all that trouble to select talented kids, they aren't going to leave the rest to chance, either. Nikki DeLoach, a former "All-New Mickey Mouse Club" star who worked alongside breakouts such as Justin Timberlake and Christina Aguilera, said working on the show was "like going to a graduate school for the arts at a really young age."

Another reason Disney stars are more likely to become pop stars is because Disney isn't the only company doing all this calculating. Once these young singers and dancers are ready to strike out on their own, they aren't starting from scratch – being a Disney kid is a definite leg up.
