Family's Legacy Expands Through Aceituno's Mexican Food

GROWTH: Harrison Avenue Location in Centralia Will Be Couple's Ninth Restaurant

By Carrina Stanton

For The Chronicle

Sabino "Roger" Aceituno and his wife, Mirna, met while working at a restaurant together. She was a cashier and he was a cook. Today, they have been married 23 years and are in the process of opening their ninth restaurant.

Roger says there's nowhere they'd rather be.

"We've worked in restaurants all our lives," Roger said. "We just loved what we did and thought it was time to make our own history."

When it opens in a few weeks, Aceituno's Mexican Food on Harrison Avenue in Centralia will be the couple's ninth restaurant of the same name. They opened the first Aceituno's Mexican Food in Port Orchard in 2013. Today, they own restaurants in Port Orchard, Orting, Kent, Spanaway, Covington, Kirkland and two locations in Bremerton. The Centralia location, on Harrison Avenue in the former site of Infantino's Espresso, is planned to open before March 1.

Aceituno's is a family restaurant first and foremost. Roger said members of their family are involved in all of their locations. Their four kids Edgar, 25, Ryan, 23, Hector, 19, and Mirna, 13, are also part of the Aceituno legacy. Besides family involvement, Roger said the hallmark of all of their locations is food that is cooked fresh on site.

"Our philosophy is fine dining in a fast-food concept and that's been our signature for all our restaurants," Roger said. "We are really blessed. It's wonderful how the community has embraced our projects."

While the last year has been especially difficult for the restaurant industry, it was actually the COVID-19 pandemic that inspired the family to open a location in Centralia. Roger explained that the Centralia Factory Outlets was one of their favorite choices for a day trip when they felt the need to get out of their home in Covington and see something different. On one trip to the Twin Cities, they were looking for a place to eat and noted a lack of a casual Mexican takeout restaurants like theirs.

"People from around here were asking us to open something in Centralia or Olympia because they were driving all the way to Spanaway to get our food," Roger said.

Both Roger and Mirna are from northern Mexico, so their food style tends to be similar to taco shops in California, including their signature street style tacos. Beside the regular menu items such as tacos, burritos, rice and beans, the Acietuno's menu also features more unique items such as mulitas, smaller versions of filled quesadillas which are sometimes referred to as Mexican grilled cheese, bowl meals featuring the normal burrito fillings without the tortilla and carne asada fries, which are similar to nachos but using fries instead of tortilla chips. All locations offer a widely popular Taco Tuesday featuring $1.25 street tacos as well as a taco Roger and Mirna Aceituno, owners of Aceituno's Mexican Food, with their son Hector, 19, and daughter Mirna, 13, and dog, Oreo, outside the family's newest venture on Harrison Avenue in Centralia. The couple opened their first restaurant in 2013 and the Centralia location will be their ninth location.

box featuring 20 tacos with rice, beans, chips and salsa for $44.95. No matter the menu item, Roger said the emphasis is always fresh and high-end ingredients. Last year, Aceituno's began using only all white meat chicken, and on Feb. 1, all restaurants will use only Angus beef.

"I'm always thinking 'how can I make it better?' Not because I said it, but because the quality of the food speaks for itself," Roger said.

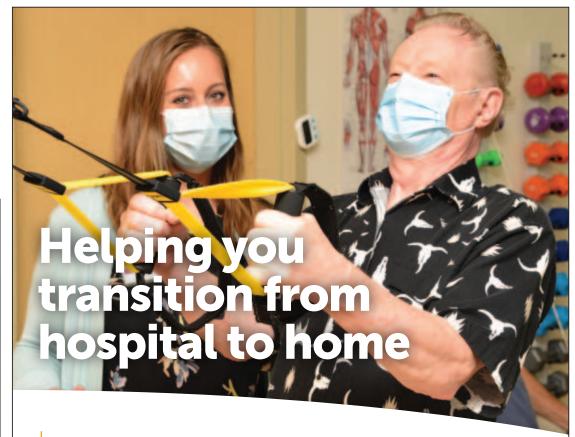

The new Centralia Aceituno's features a drive-thru window as well as a front walk-up window for ordering. The existing building had enough area for a small kitchen, and the family is expanding it by about 300-square-feet to add more storage space for ingredients. They have also added a second driveway into the property off East High Street, behind Burgerville, to allow for customers to drive through from both directions. The building does not have room for on-site dining, but Roger said they are considering options for a large currently open-air front patio area, which could be enclosed or at least covered to create an area where customers could enjoy their meal.

Former Infantino's owner Daryl Noice was at the construction site on a recent afternoon helping get the building ready for its new occupants. He said he had recently closed his other Infantino's location when the Aceitunos approached him about the possibility of buying the Harrison Avenue property. When he heard about their plans for the location, he said he thought it was a good idea.

"We're pretty excited about it," Noice said of Aceituno's. "I think it will be a good thing for the community."

DearAbby

DEAR ABBY: How do I confront my daughter, who I am certain "kept" my wedding ring, which I had removed to care for my dying husband? This daughter has a history of "borrowing" siblings' jewelry, then returning it in secrecy.

I have other reasons to believe she has taken the ring, but knowing this daughter, she'll shut down our relationship if I ask. I was thinking of saying something like, "When I was at your house, could I have left it there?" She knows I am looking for it. I suspect she thought the ring was her father's as it is a wide gold band. Advice? — KEEPING THE PEACE?

DEAR KEEPING THE

PEACE?: I hope you get that precious memento back. IF this daughter took the ring, you have more problems than losing a material object. She is a thief who is not above taking from those close to her.

By all means ask if your wedding band might have been inadvertently left at her house ("overlooking" that if it was, she should have informed you immediately). You have nothing to lose by doing so. Whether you get it back or not, before letting your daughter into your home in the future, be prudent and make sure any valuables are under lock and key.

DEAR ABBY: My best friend of nine years, "Sierra," and my boyfriend of two years, "Jaden," strongly dislike each other. They were both at a cookout I had for my birthday, and Sierra kept making passive-aggressive comments to and about him.

At one point, she criticized something controversial that he said, and when he tried to engage her in conversation about it, she ignored him and pretended he didn't exist. Jaden then launched into a series of verbal attacks against her, and although I attempted to get him to drop it, I was unsuccessful.

Sierra ended up leaving, telling me she needed to take a break from our friendship. She has since unfollowed me on social media, leaving me with the impression that our friendship is over because of the argument between her and my boyfriend.

I know Jaden was more at fault, and we have discussed the situation at length, but Sierra isn't willing to talk to me about it. They've never had an interaction like this, ever. She's never liked him, and I know she will never move past this. If Jaden and I were to break up, I don't know if I could bring myself to resolve things with Sierra because I feel like she was unwilling to preserve our friendship. Should I accept her reaction and behavior and move past this? — BETRAYED AND CONFUSED

DEAR BETRAYED: You have no choice but to accept Sierra's reaction. Not knowing what Jaden said that was controversial, I can't offer an opinion about what generated the argument. If she preferred not to engage with him further, it was her privilege. For Jaden to have pursued and verbally attacked your friend was abusive, and she did the right thing by leaving.

Sierra appears to have a strong sense of self-esteem, and I doubt there is anything you could say to her to convince her to subject herself to Jaden's presence again. She's intelligent enough to know that until your romance with him has run its course, remaining out of the line of fire is the best course of action. If Jaden becomes history, give her a call. I'm pretty sure you two can clear the air then.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to my husband 25 years as of today. (We've been a couple for 32 years.) He has done absolutely nothing to commemorate this. I reminded him months ago to save for something because it was very important to me. My friends would have happily helped him do something.

Every year it's the same old nothing. He asked me to remind him and I did, but it made no difference. Same with my birthday. Yes, we have been in better positions financially than now. But if something was important to him, he always saved for it. I have money put away we could have used, and he knew this. Yet nothing.

The only time he shows me any kind of emotion or love/sex is when he's drunk. But he swears he loves me. I don't suspect cheating. He doesn't care what he looks like when we go places. I always try to look my best.

I'm at the end of my rope. This 25th anniversary really hurt me. He said we'll do something when he can. I can't take it anymore. I feel worthy of nothing, like I don't matter. What do I do? — ANNIVERSARY SADNESS

DEAR ANNIVERSARY SAD-

NESS: If the only time your husband shows you any kind of affectionate attention is when he is drunk, you have bigger problems than the fact that he "forgets" special occasions. Is this the way you want to spend the next 25 years of your life?

Receiving gifts does not make a person "worthy." You need to work on your level of self-esteem. As expensive as a celebration might have been, a gift you could both benefit from would be couples counseling.

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful mother-in-law who recently turned 92. For the past five or so years, she has struggled with urinary incontinence and uses adult diapers. However, her urine really stinks. I don't think she changes her diaper often enough, and the smell is really strong throughout the day. I'm also afraid that by not changing often enough, she may get an infection.

Her children refuse to discuss the issue with her, so nothing is being done to change the situation. I find myself distancing from her since I can't stand the smell. I have researched the topic, and I don't think there's anything that can be done to address the incontinence issue due to her age and other medical issues. However, I think if she drank more fluids so her urine wouldn't be so concentrated, the smell wouldn't be so bad. I have talked to her about drinking more water for other reasons, but she doesn't want to because then she would need to urinate more.

I really love my MIL, but I can't stand to be near her. I feel like I'm only the daughter-in-law and that any discussions should come from her children, but they don't want to bring it up with her. What can be done? — KEEPING MY DISTANCE mother-in-law seen a urologist and been told nothing can be done about her incontinence problem, or is she so embarrassed she hasn't seen one? Because her children refuse to discuss this with their mother, the ball is in your court. Please talk to her and urge her to see a doctor. Because when people age their sense of smell can diminish, she may not be aware that she has the problem you're describina.

She does need to drink more water and change her diaper more often than she's doing. Her mental and physical health could depend upon it. But she also needs to see a urologist.

Healing despite hardships Season 4 of 'The Good Doctor' continues

By Rachel Jones TV Media

s is the case with just about As is the case with just a property of the novel coronavirus has made its way to ABC's hit drama "The Good Doctor." The cast of characters is returning to battle this deadly virus from the front lines and we're already hooked. The latest episode of Season 4 is set to air Monday, Feb. 8, on the alphabet network.

'The Good Doctor" follows Dr. Shaun Murphy (Freddie Highmore, "August Rush," 2007), a surgeon in the San Jose St. Bonaventure Hospital in San Jose, California. An autistic savant, Murphy often experiences trouble connecting with patients and faculty in a meaningful way. The perk to his spectrum disorder, however, is that he has saved many lives. Working double time to prove to the other doctors at the hospital that he's capable of the high-intensity routine, Murphy frequently has to make sacrifices in his life to save others and continue proving his - otherwise undeniable - worth.

David Shore ("House") takes the lead behind the scenes as the series creator, while Daniel Dae Kim ("Lost") agreed to help produce after a South Korean show of the same name caught his attention. The first season of the American "Good Doctor" series aired in September 2017, and the subsequent two seasons followed suit with September premieres. Unfortunately, due to delays from COVID-19, the Season 4 premiere aired later (in November 2020) and seems likely to have a shorter season than normal.

Season 4 takes place in a postoutbreak world and addresses the challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic, rife with all its loss and hardships. Everyone is affected in some way, and each of the characters must find their own solution to deal with the new and very unique set of struggles. Adding to the stress (and beware of spoilers beginning now for those not up to date), the hospital staff is also dealing with the loss of Dr. Neil Melendez (Nicholas Gonzalez, "Resurrection Blvd."), who died at the end of Season 3.

One very real pandemic challenge faced by most of the characters early in the season was that of self-isolating to protect those they care about most. From working at home to sleeping in the garage, these hospital workers were isolated to keep their loved ones safe. As cases began to lessen, however, they have been able to find ways to spend more time with those close to them until they can physically be together once more.

Dr. Morgan Reznick (Fiona Gubelmann, "Wilfred") has a personal change of her own to navigate as she moves to a new hospital wing. Having damaged her hand at the end of Season 3, Reznick was transferred from surgery to internal medicine where her services rely less on her dexterity. This season, Reznick faces yet another massive struggle as she tests positive for COVID-19. Will she recover? Only time will tell.

Meanwhile, Dr. Audrey Lim (Christina Chang, "Nashville") faces post-traumatic stress disorder in the wake of treating a seemingly endless stream of COVID-19 patients. Due to her PTSD, Lim ends up in a motorcycle accident but refuses tell anyone about it. Naturally, it isn't long before her secret is uncovered by Dr. Claire Browne (Antonia Thomas, "Lovesick"), who sees the wrecked bike.

At this point, we are starting to see more of how Murphy's struggle to connect with others spills over into his romantic relationships. In Season 3, he dated the head pathologist, Dr. Carly Lever (Jasika Nicole, "Fringe"), but their relationship came to an end when she realized that Murphy had deeperfeelings for Lea Dilallo (Paige Spara, "Home Again," 2017), who, in Season 1, was quite literally "the girl next door."

This season, Murphy and Dilallo, the head of the hospital IT department, have been working on their relationship and they're finally dating. Fans patiently (or perhaps impatiently) wait to find out whether they'll stay together or if the strain of the pandemic will tear them apart.

Despite Murphy's tireless quest for acceptance among the staff, he does still have a strong friend group. Dr. Aaron Glassman (Richard Schiff, "The West Wing"), president of San Jose St. Bonaventure and somewhat of mentor to Murphy, is the closest thing Murphy has to a true friend, believing in him from the beginning rather than focusing on his differences. This makes Glassman someone Murphy can respect, and the young doctor often benefits from that support by way of seeking out Glassman's help and advice with all manner of life questions - not just medical queries.

Dr. Claire Browne is another good friend of Murphy's. Her ability to connect well with others and empathize makes her a unique balance to Murphy and this leads to their becoming good friends (especially since she's also a patient now). Browne's bedside manner and charity to staff and patients alike provides a model for Murphy as he navigates his own ability to connect.

In this season, the team of doctors – including Dr. Marcus Andrews (Hill Harper, "Limitless") and Dr. Alex Park (Will Yun Lee, "Altered Carbon") - take on four new resident doctors amid the healthcare crisis. Dr. Jordan Allen (Bria Henderson, "Mrs. America"), Dr. Asher Wolke (Noah Galvin, "The Real O'Neals"), Dr. Olivia Jackson (newcomer Summer Brown) and Dr. Enrique Guerin (Brian Marc, "Nerve," 2016) bring new personalities, strengths and weaknesses to the hospital. As the existing surgeons take on training the new residents, the entire staff will be forced to adapt to their new set of responsibilities and the changes that accompany everything else happening.

The real-life pandemic-ridden world has left its mark on both St. Bonaventure Hospital and its staff in more ways than one. But, as big as the health crisis is, it still doesn't define the fourth season as a whole for, even just a few episodes into the newest season, the pace changed to focus more on the lives of its characters rather than the effects of the virus itself. Rather like the real-life heroes working hard on the front lines outside St. Bonaventure Hospital, the challenges this team face extend beyond that of solely the pandemic.

Learn how the San Jose hospital residents and patients continue to navigate the intricacies of their lives, and tune in for the latest episode of "The Good Doctor," airing Monday, Feb. 8, on ABC.

Rob Alleva and Adam Thorn host "Kings of Pain"

By Dana Simpson TV Media

"Kings of Pain" Season 1

Get ready to cringe your way through a full season of creature discomforts (to say the least!) as "Kings of Pain" Season 1 comes to Hulu on Monday, Feb. 1. Following in the scientific footsteps of Dr. Justin Schmidt, an American entomologist who subjected himself to painful insect bites in order to rank their sting on a scale of one to four, dangerous duo Robert "Caveman" Alleva, an animal handler, and Adam Thorn, a wildlife biologist and self-proclaimed "animal adventurer," tackle Schmidt's creatures and many more one by one, expanding both the realm of creatures examined and the definition of pain. Ranking the bite of each animal on a 30-point scale based on "intensity, duration and damage" (per the official trailer) among other existing pain indexes, Alleva and Thorn subject themselves to everything from the Goliath birdeating tarantula to the red-bellied piranha and a 16-foot reticulated python. Nine episodes long, including the special finale episode in which the wildlife adventurers revisit their journey and draw some final conclusions on their studies, this high-stakes, higher-adrenaline series was produced by supervisor Jonathan Mayor ("Street Outlaws") alongside producers Antone Hammers ("Gator Boys") and Isabel San Vargas ("Lore").

"Me, Myself & Irene" (2000)

Chances are you've heard the phrase, "the only person in your way is yourself," at least once on your life. Well, for the hero of this particular film, that phrase rings truer than ever. The 2000 classic "Me, Myself & Irene" comes to Hulu on Monday, Feb. 1. Having spent his whole life as a pushover afraid of confrontation or hurting others, Charlie (Jim Carrey, "Ace Ventura: Pet Detective," 1994) is a down-to-earth – if not, overly goofy - police officer. Assigned by his superiors to mind Irene (Renée Zellweger, "Bridget Jones's Diary," 2001), a young woman hiding out from her sinister ex-boyfriend and his criminal associates, Charlie soon finds himself battling another man for her attention. Trouble being, the other man is his newly discovered second personality, Hank: a nononsense, straightforward jerk who will stop at nothing to ruin Charlie's chances with Irene, even if he can't win her over himself. Rife with the kind of slapstick comedy and absurdist humor that only Jim Carrey can provide, "Me, Myself & Irene" was written and directed by the Farrelly brothers ("There's Something About Mary," 1998) with "Dumb and Dumber To's" (2014) Mike Cerrone joining them on the writing team. Anthony Anderson ("Black-ish"), Richard Jenkins ("Eat, Pray, Love," 2010), Tony Cox ("Spaceballs," 1987) and former tennis sensation Anna Kournikova also star.

"Employee of the Month" (2006)

Find the inspiration to improve at work with the hilarious film "Employee of the Month," joining the . Hulu roster on Monday, Feb. 1. After losing all his grandmother's money in a failed business operation, Super Club box boy Zack Bradley (Dane Cook, "Mr. Brooks," 2017) vows never to take any risks at work again. As a result, he has been standing on the sidelines of his own life for years, slacking on the job and treating his place of work more like a playground than a superstore. Contrastingly, Super Club head cashier Vince Downey (Dax Shepard, "Hit and Run," 2012) has won the company's Employee of the Month award for the last 17 months running and, while Vince's ambition never much bothered Zack before, Zack finds himself getting competitive after the arrival of a new – and very attractive – employee to the store, Amy (Jessica Simpson, "The Dukes of Hazzard," 2005). When Amy admits that she only dates employees of the month, Zack must muster some dedication to the job and land the coveted position before Vince wins the title for an 18th month in a row and winds up winning Amy's heart and landing himself in the Super Club Hall of Fame. From filmmakers Greg Coolidge ("The Turkey Bowl," 2019), Don Calame and Chris Conroy (both writers of the TV movie, "Hounded," 2001), this quirky workplace comedy also stars Andy Dick ("Less Than Perfect"), Tim Bagley ("Will & Grace") and Brian George ("The Big Bang Theory").

"Bliss" (2021)

Experience a whole new world with the science and magic of "Bliss," premiering Friday, Feb. 5, on Prime. Distracted, down-on-his-luck father Greg (Owen Wilson, "Midnight in Paris," 2011) has been through a lot lately. From a divorce with his wife and losing his job to daydreams of a mysterious and beautiful woman in a surreal and colorful land, Greg becomes caught between the world he lives in and the world of his dreams. When, in the "real" world, he meets Isabel (Salma Hayek, "Frida," 2002), a woman living on the streets, she slowly begins to convince him of her idea that the dingy, broken and decrepit world he is used to is a computer simulation. Now, trying to make sense of both worlds presented to him, Greg begins to lose himself and his family as he navigates his two lives. Written and directed by Mike Cahill ("I Origins," 2014) and featuring music from composer Will Bates ("Lola Versus," 2012), "Bliss" also stars Madeline Zima ("Californication"), Nesta Cooper ("See"), Joshua Leonard ("If I Stay," 2014) and Jorge Lendeborg Jr. ("Love, Simon," 2018).

"Salvation"

Inject a bit of science fiction into your diet with both seasons of the CBC series, "Salvation," now available on Prime. This high-intensity sci-fi thriller series stars Charlie Rowe ("Rocketman," 2019) as Liam Cole, an MIT student, and Santiago Cabrera ("Big Little Lies") as billionaire scientist and tech genius Darius Tanz, both of whom discover that an asteroid is on track to collide with Earth within six months.

Taking it upon themselves to alert the Pentagon of this colossal impending threat to American public safety and the world at large, Tanz and Cole must work alongside the Pentagon's press secretary, Grace Barrows (Jennifer Finnigan, "The Bold and the Beautiful"), and United States Deputy Secretary of Defense Harris Edwards (Ian Anthony Dale, "Hawaii Five-0") to stop the collision, or else prepare the world for a massive and deadly impact. Originally hitting the small screen in 2017, this series (one that feels right at home following the bizarre events of 2020) lasted a total of 26 episodes over the course of its two seasons on air. Created by Elizabeth Kruger and Craig Shapiro of "Necessary Roughness" fame and "Hawaii Five-0" writer Matt JL Wheeler, "Salvation" was canceled following its 2018 season. The apocalyptic drama also stars Jacqueline Byers ("Bad Samaritan," 2018), Rachel Drance ("The

Cary Grant and Audrey Hepburn star in "Charade"

Hardy Boys") and Erica Luttrell ("Westworld") in recurring roles.

"A Good Woman" (2004)

Travel back in time and witness the seductive powers of 1930s Italy with the 2004 film "A Good Woman," available now to stream on Prime. Set amid the glitz and glam of wealthy, high-society American expatriates and vacationers to the Amalfi Coast in the early '30s, this visually stunning dramedy stars Scarlett Johansson ("Lost in Translation," 2003) as Mrs. Windermere, a young wife who suspects her husband is having an affair with the more mature and notoriously devious man-eating socialite, Mrs. Erlynne (Helen Hunt, "As Good as It Gets," 1997). Meanwhile, driven from New York by rumors and jealous wives, Mrs. Erlynne has, indeed, set her sights on the debonair Mr. Windermere (Mark Umbers,

Scarlett Johansson as seen in "A Good Woman"

"Home Fires") and she begins to work her charms to spend more time with him and eventually snag an invite to his wife's 20th birthday celebration. Needless to say, the two women are unlikely to see eye to eye. Based on the 19th-century play, "Lady Windermere's Fan, A Play About a Good Woman," by famed Irish wit Oscar Wilde, "A Good Woman" was written for the screen by Howard Himelstein ("My Sexiest Year," 2007) and directed by Mike Barker ("The Handmaid's Tale"). Milena Vukotic ("Letters to Juliet," 2010), Stephen Campbell Moore ("Season of the Witch," 2011) and Roger Hammond ("The King's Speech," 2010) also star.

"Charade" (1963)

Run for your life with the classic '60s thriller "Charade," now available to stream on Prime. When a beautiful American woman named Regina "Reggie" Lampert (Audrey Hepburn, "Roman Holiday," 1953) resolves to divorce her husband, Charles, due to his secrets and deceit, he soon turns up dead. Following the suspicious nature of his death - which certainly indicated foul play - Reggie returns to her Paris apartment to find it empty and a detective waiting for her with some suspicious information regarding a large sum of money supposedly stolen by her late husband. Still trying to fit all the pieces together herself and not knowing where this money is, Reggie is soon pursued by several different factions (from the U.S. government to seemingly common thugs) demanding the return of "their" money. Unsure of who she can trust and now on the run for her life, Reggie puts her faith in Peter Joshua (Cary Grant, "North by Northwest," 1959), a charming and mysterious man who offers her his assistance. Filled with all the noir attitude and double-crossing tactics of a Hitchcock film, viewers may be surprised to learn that "Charade" was, in fact, directed by Stanley Donen ("Singin' in the Rain," 1952). Written by Peter Stone ("Father Goose," 1964) and Marc Behm ("Help!," 1965) and featuring music from legendary film-score composer Henry Mancini ("Breakfast at Tiffany's," 1961), this high-stakes action film also stars Walter Matthau ("The Odd Couple," 1968), James Coburn ("The Great Escape," 1963) and George Kennedy ("Cool Hand Luke," 1967).

18 Monday prime time

All American

кsтw 8:00 p.m.

Catch a new episode of this drama's third season. After winning the state championship, football star Spencer James (Daniel Ezra) returns to his hometown for senior year, now with Billy Baker (Taye Diggs), who will be South Crenshaw High's new head coach.

ксра 8:00 р.т.

First responders rush to the aid of people in dangerous situations in this drama about police officers, firefighters, paramedics and their dispatchers. After saving others, the pressure of their jobs bleeds into their personal lives. Angela Basset stars.

Daniel Ezra stars in "All American"

Bob Hearts Abishola

кіко 8:30 р.т.

Bob (Billy Gardell) and Abishola (Folake Olowofoyeku) couldn't be more different, but that doesn't stop Bob from trying to win her and her family over. Along the way, the pair shares in each other's culture, overcoming comedic misunderstandings.

The Wall

KING 9:00 p.m.

Win or lose millions depending on where a ball lands after being dropped down a four-story wall in this game show. Hosted by Chris Hardwick, contestants answer trivia questions, hoping luck is on their side and that they chose the right partner.

Windtalkers

AMC 11:00 a.m.

Adam Beach and Nicolas Cage star in this war drama about a Navajo code talker and the U.S. Marine assigned to protect him. Though both parties are originally displeased with their situation, they come to bond over their shared experiences and misfortunes.

Black-ish

комо 9:00 р.т.

Andre Johnson (Anthony Anderson) and his wife, Rainbow (Tracee Ellis Ross), struggle to keep their family grounded. The couple worries their successful suburban lifestyle may be spoiling their kids but neither is willing to forget where they came from.

Chrissy Metz in "This Is Us"

This Is Us

KING 9:00 p.m.

The Pearson family deals with major milestones, but must navigate them from afar in a new episode of this smash-hit, generational family drama's fifth season. Chrissy Metz, Sterling K. Brown, Justin Hartley, Mandy Moore and Milo Ventimiglia star.

FBI: Most Wanted

KIRO 10:00 p.m.

Season 2 of this procedural spinoff continues as Jess LaCroix (Julian McMahon) leads his specialized FBI task force team in tracking down and bringing in the most dangerous criminals on the bureau's infamous most wanted list. Roxy Sternberg also stars.

NETFLIX this week

Katherine Heigl and Sarah Chalke in "Firefly Lane"

By Dana Simpson TV Media

"Firefly Lane"

Learn the true meaning of the word "inseparable" when the new series "Firefly Lane" premieres Wednesday, Feb. 3, on Netflix. Meeting as preteens in 1974, awkward introvert Kate (Sarah Chalke, "Scrubs") and charismatic popular girl Tully (Katherine Heigl, "Grey's Anatomy") form an unlikely bond. What may have seemed to others like a friendship doomed to fail soon evolved into a relationship to beat all others as Kate and Tully went on to weather decades of milestones together. Now, 30 years after they met and still best friends, the women are forced to face one more major life event together - this one much more tragic than anything their friendship has survived so far. Based on the novel of the same name by Kristin Hannah, this series from showrunner Maggie Friedman ("Witches of East End") is set to run for 10 episodes during its premiere season. Centering around the lives of two girls as they grow into womanhood together, this series is unique in that it is written and directed by a primarily female team consisting of Vanessa Parise ("Charmed"), Lee Rose ("Related"), Anne Wheeler ("Anne with an E") and Savannah Dooley ("Nashville") alongside Friedman. Starring Ali Skovbye ("When Calls the Heart") as young Tully and Roan Curtis ("The Magicians") as young Kate, "Firefly Lane" also features the talents of Ben Lawson ("Designated Survivor"), Beau Garrett ("Girlfriends' Guide to Divorce") and Yael Yurman ("The Man in the High Castle").

"Malcolm & Marie" (2021)

Feel the tension mount with the unique new film "Malcolm & Marie," making its Netflix premiere on Friday, Feb. 5. Starring John David Washington ("BlacKkKlansman," 2018) and Zendaya ("The Greatest Showman," 2017) as the title filmmaker and his girlfriend, "Malcolm & Marie" has been highly anticipated due to its secretive nature – the black-and-white film was kept quiet throughout its production phase and filmed in its entirety between June 17 and July 2 while following COVID-19 protocols under lockdown in Feldman Architecture's environmentally sustainable Caterpillar House this past year. "Malcolm & Marie's" rigorous and impressive filming schedule aside, the drama has been touted for its raw energy, magnetism and realism, following the title couple as they return home from Malcolm's newest film release and enter into a series of conversations while they await the critics' responses to his film. Screened at the Toronto International Film Festival in September 2020, Netflix bought the film, written and directed by Sam Levinson ("Euphoria"), for $30 million, reportedly beating out other big wigs Amazon, HBO, Apple, A24, MGM, Focus Features and Searchlight. Both of the film's stars, Zendaya and Washington, serve on the production team alongside "The Lighthouse's" (2019) Yariv Milchan and rapper Kid Cudi, while Hungarian cinematographer Marcell Rév ("White God," 2014) was hard at work behind the camera.

Harvey Keitel as seen in "Fatima"

Zendaya and John David Washington star in "Malcolm & Marie"

"Fatima" (2020)

Hold fast to what you believe and prepare to be inspired; the recent film "Fatima" joins the Netflix roster on Sunday, Jan. 31. Set in the small, central Portuguese town of Fátima, this film of the same name tells a version of the real-life miracle that occurred one day in 1917, at the height of World War I. While out performing their day's work, young shepherdess Lúcia dos Santos (Stephanie Gil, "The Salisbury Poisonings") and her two cousins, Francisco (new actor Jorge Lamelas) and Jacinta (Alejandra Howard, "Cleo"), bear witness to what they believe to be the Virgin Mary coming down to them in all her glory to tell them to take to their rosaries and pray so that they might bring an end to the ongoing war. Eager to spread the news of this miracle and put their belief to work to stop the carnage, the cousins find themselves up against pressure from their doubting family and disbelieving government to rescind their statements on the basis of its fantastical (and highly unlikely) nature. A moving rhetoric on the power of faith and a group of children's commitment to their belief, this film, directed by Marco Pontecorvo ("Carlo & Malik"), also stars Harvey Keitel ("The Grand Budapest Hotel," 2014), Goran Visnjic ("ER"), Joaquim de Almeida ("Desperado," 1995), Lúcia Moniz ("Love Actually," 2003) and Joana Ribeiro ("Paixão") as the apparition.

hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison TV Media

Q: Can Johnny Galecki really play the cello like his character on "The Big Bang Theory"?

A: For a show about scientists, the characters on "The Big Bang Theory" were all pretty artistic. Of course, the actors are artists first they just play scientists on TV (with the exception of Mayim Bialik, who actually has a PhD in neuroscience), so it's not that surprising that they all actually know how to play their instruments, Johnny Galecki included.

Galecki, who starred on the show as Leonard, has been playing the cello since he was very young.

He has, of course, been acting since he was very young as well – he was just 12 when he appeared in his first screen role (a 1987 NBC telefilm called "Time Out for Dad") but it hasn't always been easy. According to CBS, he once had to sell his cello to pay bills (though he's since bought a new one with all that "Big Bang Theory" money).

But Galecki's cello skills aren't even the most impressive musical accomplishment on the show. That honor goes to Jim Parsons, whose character, Sheldon, plays the theremin on the show. Parsons actually learned it himself specifically for the role. That's pretty impressive given that the theremin is known as one of the most difficult instruments to learn.

Bialik gets a close second, though. She already knew how to play the piano, bass and trumpet, but for her role as Amy she learned to play another famously difficult instrument: the harp.

Simon Helberg (who plays Howard) is also a pretty strong piano player – as we see on the show when he forms the band Footprints on the Moon with Raj (played by Kunal Nayyar).

Q: Is it a little bit coincidental that two similar films — "White House Down" and "Olympus Has Fallen" — both came out in the same year?

A: There's no denying that it's coincidental, but, incredibly, it may really have been only that.

It's tempting to assume there's some kind of corporate espionage or, in this case, political conspiracy at play when two movies about an attack on the White House are released just weeks apart. But "White House Down" screenwriter James Vanderbilt insists it really was a coincidence.

He said he had just finished writing his script when production on the other movie, "Olympus Has Fallen," was announced. He considered just throwing his own script in the trash, but his agent told him to shop it around anyway. Sony bought it the day they received it and rushed it through production, presumably hoping to beat "Olympus Has Fallen" to theaters.

So what we're left with is the idea that the existence of these two nearly identical scripts was actually a coincidence, but the fact that they were produced and released months apart was not.

If Sony hadn't known about "Olympus Has Fallen" when it got the "White House Down" script, it may not have bought it. At the very least, if Sony had taken the usual time to review the script and produce the film, it would have come

It would still have been a bit stark, though - two movies about disgraced Secret Service agents single-handedly defeating a terrorist attack on the White House would stick out even years apart.

out quite a bit later and the coincidence wouldn't have been as stark.
