Important tax information for everyone with marketplace health insurance

(BPT) - Health insurance and income taxes, once an unlikely pair, are now close companions as a result of the Affordable Care Act's insurance manJanuary 14 that took effect Jan. 1, 2014.

If you have health insurance through the federal or a state-sponsored marketplace, it means a couple of important yet simple changes on your next income tax return.

First, you'll receive a new tax form from your marketplace around Jan. 31, 2015. Form 1095-A, Health Insurance Marketplace Statement, will include the

IT'S REFUND SEASON.

Every year the U.S. government issues billions of dollars in tax refunds. So many billions we're now calling tax season... refund season. And nobody gets more of your money back than H&R Block. Guaranteed.

information you need to report on your federal tax return in order to prove you have health insurance.

Form 1095-A will also include information you need for the premium tax credit, a tax benefit to help pay for marketplace insurance. The credit amount is based on household size and income. In general, the lower your income, the higher your credit amount.

In order to qualify for the premium credit:

* You must be ineligible for government programs like Medicare, Medicaid and CHIP.

* You cannot have employer-sponsored insurance, or the lowest-priced, self-covered plan meeting minimum essential requirements offered by your employer costs more than 9.5 percent of your annual household income.

* Your annual household income is 100 percent to 400 percent of the federal poverty level. For the 2014 credit, that's $11,490 to $45,960 for an individual (Hawaii and Alaska residents are subject to different amounts.)

* You cannot be claimed as a dependent on someone else's tax return.

* Your filing status generally cannot be married filing separately.

The credit can be received in advance in order to reduce the cost of your monthly premiums, or you can wait to claim it on your tax return to reduce your amount owed or increase your refund.

If your income or family size is different than what you estimated when you applied for marketplace insurance, your taxes may be impacted. If your actual income was less than estimated, you may qualify for a higher credit amount and therefore receive a larger refund. On the other hand, if your actual income was more than the estimated amount, you may need to pay some of the credit back at tax time.

PUBLIC NOTICE
Draft Environmental Impact Statement issued for the Yelm East Gateway Planned Action

The City of Yelm has released the Draft Environmental Impact Statement for the Yelm East Gateway Planned Action and invites the public review and comment.

The purpose of the Yelm East Gateway Planned Action proposal is to provide a framework for the coordinated development of seven parcels, totaling 46 acres, along Yelm Avenue (State Route 507 [SR 507]).

A Planned Action is a tool that the City of Yelm may use to provide regulatory certainty and encourage economic development. Reviewing the properties' impacts all together, as a planned action, provides a coordinated development strategy.

You may view the Draft Environmental Impact Statement on the City of Yelm Website at www.ci.yelm.wa.us, or at Yelm City Hall, 105 Yelm Avenue West.

Comments are due February 5, 2015 and may be submitted on-line at www.ci.yelm.wa.us.

Questions may be directed to Tami Merriman, Community Development Department (360) 458-8496.

What was your new year's resolution for 2015?

If you have spent the past year neglecting your health, especially that of your feet, maybe one of your resolutions needs to involve your foot care! The truth is, you only have one pair of feet, and if they are not treated nicely, they may not be able to carry you where you want to go or help you do what you want to do. When feet are squished into uncomfortable footwear or develop an issue that is not treated properly, small problems can arise that could have been prevented, and minor injuries can turn into major ones. Start the New Year off right by taking charge of your foot health and following these easy tips.

First, create a daily foot care routine if you haven't already. This includes washing, moisturizing, checking toenails and looking for any new symptoms that may need attention. This is extremely important if you have diabetes. Second, boost your foot health with some strengthening exercises. These only take a few minutes and can be done while you are watching the morning news. Pick up some marbles one by one with your toes and drop them in a cup, or sit in a chair with a towel under your toes and scrunch the towel towards you. Last, choose your footwear wisely this year. It may be time for a shoe closet overhaul, including getting some great pairs of shoes that fit your foot structure and support them properly. This is particularly important if you love to run or exercise - Your feet need to stay healthy to keep you going!
