WELCOME TO THE NORTHWOODS

Northern Wisconsin is a favorite Midwest vacation choice and tens of thousands of people visit this area throughout the year.

This guide provides a glimpse into what there is to see and do here from spring through summer. Hiking, biking, exploring local museums and nature centers, enjoying water ski shows, cheering on snowshoe baseball teams and of course, tasting the local cuisine – those activities and more are all listed in these pages.

Discover the rich logging history of Rhinelander, Crandon and Laona. Originally named Pelican Rapids, Rhinelander was renamed when the Milwaukee Lake Shore and Western Railroad arrived and transformed the small town into a terminal and supply point for numerous logging camps as far north as the Michigan border. The new town name came from the railroad's president, F.W. Rhinelander.

Crandon and Laona also came into existence as a result of logging operations. The Laona community is an example of a "company town" settled beginning in the late 1980s by William D. Connor. The Connor Lumber and Land Company built a hospital, homes, a store and other buildings for its workers living in the community.

Explore the lakes, rivers and streams in and around the Presque Isle, Mercer, Boulder Junction and Manitowish Waters area. Recreation areas including the Northern Highland-American Legion State Forest offer plenty of wildlife viewing. Biking trails, hiking, canoeing, kayaking, tubing, swimming and fishing opportunities are plentiful.

The Eagle River, Three Lakes, St. Germain, Land O'Lakes, Conover and Sayner-Star Lake area is a premier tourist destination that also boasts a diverse heritage. German, Swedish, Irish, Polish, Norwegian and English settlers came to the region in the early 1900s. Their various cultural influences remain today.

Be sure to check out the Lakeland Area, which includes Minocqua, Lac du Flambeau, Arbor Vitae, Woodruff, Lake Tomahawk and Hazelhurst. These communities all came into existence during the logging industry's heyday. However, the area has long been the vacation spot of choice for generations of families. The main draws here are the abundant sparkling lakes and deep forests surrounding these communities.

Natural beauty, such as the Wisconsin River flowing through town, as well as a wide variety of shops, restaurants, popular parks and trails make Tomahawk a must-visit destination for your northern Wisconsin vacation.

Though we are claiming to showcase 101 Things to do in Northern Wisconsin, as you become more familiar with this area, there is no doubt you'll discover many more.

Enjoy your stay!

Named the Best Mascot in the United States in a 2022 online poll, the Hodag perched outside the Rhineland Area Chamber of Commerce, at 450 W. Kemp Street, remains humble and ready for photos. You'll find Hodag replicas throughout the city and on signage, so be sure to snap a few pics of Rhineland's loveably fierce mascot.
