Tampa Music School's New Movement
The Beat Goes On at a New Location

Tampa, FL: Tampa Music School's success as a source of musical education and inspiration means we have outgrown our current studio and are moving our pianos, guitars, drums and steel pans around the corner to a new location:

3625 S. Manhattan Ave. Suite C, Tampa, FL 33629

We're staying in the same great South Tampa neighborhood, in the heart of Beach Park's culture and commerce district, between W. El Prado Blvd. and W. Euclid Ave. (just down the street from the Jan Kaminis Platt Regional Library), so our new studio is easy to find.

The bigger space makes it easier for families to schedule lessons as we'll be able to teach more students at the same time and we'll be offering lessons on Saturdays from 9-12. We're also planning a nice lobby area for waiting parents and there's plenty of parking space available.

In its two-year history, Tampa Music School® has taught hundreds of students how to enjoy playing instruments ranging from keyboards to steel pans. Besides traditional after-school classes, we are also able to accommodate homeschoolers, college students, retirees and working professionals. Groups and ensembles who want to improve their collective sound are also welcome. Inclusive recitals give our students a chance to experience the joy of entertaining others by performing on stage.

For more information contact 'Maestro' Matthew Maines, Director Tampa Music School®, by calling (813) 837-9245 or emailing to admin@tampamusicshool.com.
